Two of the women foresters who are replacing men in this difficult work in England. Women in England are doing almost all sorts of work these days, not stopping at even the heavier kinds of manual labor, as the photograph shows.

Youth, Accused of Impersonating Army Officer, is Nabbed

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 3.—A youth who gave the name of William O. Dixon, 21 years old, of Philadelphia, is under arrest on a charge of impersonating an army officer.

According to the federal authorities Dixon represented himself as a lieutenant in the aviation service sent here by the war department to recuperate from the nervous shock of an accident in which his companion was killed on Long Island, N. Y. In his possession, officers said they found numerous letters from prominent women of eastern cities.

Dixon told the officers, he was the son of Harvey W. Dixon, who, he said, was a publisher of New York and

BANK DEPOSITS GOOD

WILLIAMSBURG, Ind., Sept. 3.—Inquiry at the First National bank today showed that wheat in this section had been of extra quality. Large sales of hogs had also been reported. Deposits of money by farmers were better than a year ago. The outlook for the fall harvest was said to be unusually promising.

ROAD IS GRADED

WILLIAMSBURG, Ind., Sept. 3.—The S. Merton Catey road is being graded and gravelled. Gravel is being taken from the creek for material with an endless chain of buckets and an engine.

Philadelphia. He denied representing himself as an army officer, saying he had been called "Lieutenant" jokingly but admitted he had not tried to correct the error. He said he has a brother in the engineering corps.

Fraternizing Slave Had to Fire on Foe When Officers Came

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 3.—A story of the fraternizing of the German and Russian troops along the east front is told by a Swedish journalist. The usual daily visits were going on, he says, and all was peaceful when the Russians suddenly began firing furiously from one section of their trenches. A German officer ran over and called out indignantly, "What do you mean by shooting with ball cartridges?"

A Russian officer explained apologetically, "The Colonel has just come up for inspection, but he'll be going away in a minute."

was shot through the leg while walking in front of the trenches at a time when, by the custom of that period, neither side was supposed to fire. He made indignant representations about it later to the Russians, and was told that a party of high officers had visited the trenches and the soldiers had to shoot.

"But even at that," said the major, "the fools might have fired high."

TERAUCHI HIT AS BUREAUCRAT

OSAKA, Japan, Sept. 3.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The trend of democracy in Japan is discussed in a leading article by the Osaka Mainichi, which questions the policy of the Terauchi Cabinet because it is "eager for the preservation of clan and bureaucratic influence."

"For our part," the paper says, "we believe in a possibility of the harmonious existence side by side of monarchy and democracy in Japan. The Throne has made clear to the people that democratic principles should be made the basis of administration. In these circumstances there is no need for the surprise which seems to be evinced by Count Terauchi and other bureaucrats at the news of the Russian revolution."

"Great Britain, Japan's ally, the United States, Russia, as well as China, are all countries of democratic sympathies, and so there is no justifiable cause for fear if democratic ideas have caught hold of the Japanese people. Even in Germany—a veritable stronghold of militarists and bureaucrats—democracy appears to be making steady progress."

The newspaper concludes: "Notwithstanding the general tendency in the world in favor of democracy, the Terauchi Cabinet, which is eager for the preservation of clan and bureaucratic influence, seems bent upon checking the growth of democratic ideas, contrary to the general current of thought throughout the world. Even the leaders of political parties professing democratic sympathies do not hesitate to bow their heads of bureaucracy. The position of democracy in Japan, therefore, may well be imagined. The wisdom of the Terauchi government in attempting to stem the rising tide of democracy is open to grave doubt."

E. R. (Bundy) Boxwell of Holington, Kas., had his hair cut for the first time in twenty-one years the other day. When Bryan first tried for the Presidency, Boxwell declared that he would let his hair grow until Bryan became President, but the heat caused him to change his mind.

Popular Purse To Buy Corn for Poor People of Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 3.—The committee of the National Chamber of Commerce which has been considering ways and means for raising money to purchase 1,000,000 bushels of corn in the United States and bring it to Mexico where it will be sold at cost for the benefit of the poor has decided that the most feasible means to raise the money is by popular national subscription.

The National Chamber of Commerce at first asked the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to aid in establishing a credit for this purpose but the American organization was unable to do so. The Commission Regulating the Sale and Price of Sisal of Yucatan, one of the richest organizations in Mexico, then was appealed to, but declined to act.

GERMANS TO MANUFACTURE CORK FROM TOAD STOOLS

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands, Sept. 3.—Cork is at a premium in Germany, as the country does not produce any and the Entente blockade has interrupted all channels of supply. Used corks, especially those of champagne bottles, are eagerly purchased and they bring high prices.

Two chemists of Plauen, Saxony, have applied for a patent for making artificial cork from a tough species of toadstools, which grow in profusion in the Saxon forests.

ITALIANS TO USE FIR TO MAKE THEIR WARPLANES

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 2.—Announcement of a contract for 25,000,000 feet of Douglas fir, to be used by the Italian government as a substitute for spruce in the construction of aircraft, is made today by the West Coast Lumbermen's association. It was pointed out that with successful use of fir for airplane timber, the problem of furnishing sufficient aircraft lumber to the United States and the allies was solved, as there are nearly twenty mills cutting fir to every one cutting spruce.

BOARD TO INVOICE RUSSIA'S PROPERTY

PETROGRAD, Sept. 3.—A commission has been appointed to prepare an inventory and valuation of the properties of the Russian State.

N. Pokrovski, president of the Central War-Industrial Commission will direct the work.

The inventory will comprise lands, forests, railroads, factories, workshops and other profit-yielding State undertakings. The government's aim is to alleviate the burden of taxation by inaugurating a less wasteful and more enterprising system of management.

On The Screen

WASHINGTON
"Wife Number Two," the current William Fox production with Valeska Suratt in the stellar role, finishes its run at the Washington theatre on Tuesday. Its opening day at that theatre has been crowded with success.

"Wife Number Two" is a photoplay well worth seeing. Its story, that of a young girl who marries a man old enough to be her father, is of universal appeal and holds the spectator from beginning to end. Miss Suratt's work as the heroine of the story is unusually good and again proves her ability to play a sympathetic role as well as that of a siren.

Miss Suratt is ably supported throughout the play. Taken all in all "Wife Number Two" is a sterling production, well worthy of the Fox name. Beginning on Friday the Washington theatre will show "Heart and Soul" another William Fox production in which Theda Bara plays the stellar role.
