

"GOVERNOR ANNE" OF NEVADA SEEKS SENATE PLACE

Time Ripe for Women to Show Strength, Miss Martin Says.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Miss Anne Martin of Reno, Nev.—they call her "Gov. Anne"—in her home state—announced tonight that she would be a candidate for the United States senate to complete the term of the late Senator Newlands, which expires in 1921. The vacancy has been temporarily filled by Gov. Boyle's appointment of Charles B. Henderson, a Democrat, pending the election of Senator Newlands's successor.

From her office in the headquarters of the National Woman's party, of which she is vice chairman, Miss Martin issued this statement tonight: "I am announcing my candidacy for the United States senate because I believe that the time has come when the nation should attest its faith in government of all its people by the election of a woman to its highest legislative body.

New Sphere for Women
"The war we are waging is one in which social and industrial reorganization is the first essential to success. The peace which will follow this war will bring with it the social and industrial reorganization of the world. This readjustment for war, this reorganization for peace, cannot be made successfully without the constructive cooperation of women.

"These in general are my reasons for seeking a seat in the senate. "Concretely, there are among others four problems which I have long studied in Nevada, and through which I believe I could at this time serve my state and nation.

"They are the development of the land in the interests of the people, the conservation of water, the elimination of the long established railway discrimination against Nevada in freight rates, and protection by federal agencies of seasonal farm labor and its transfer from region to region in the interest of both the farmer and the laborer.

A Slip of a Woman.
"In spite of these reasons I should not have undertaken this campaign were I not convinced that the passage of the federal suffrage amendment is assured. The women of the nation must not relax their urgent demand, for if the measure is not passed in the senate at this session it must be re-passed in the house next session."

Miss Martin is a slip of a woman, barely over 5 feet in height, and weighing 120 pounds. Her hair is dark and curly and flecked with gray. She is 42 years old. She has a hard fight ahead, as she readily admits, but she knows by experience a few things about campaigning in Nevada.

Father Born in Wisconsin.
Her family history is a part of the history of the state. Her father, William O'Hara Martin, born in Wisconsin of north of Ireland stock, went to Nevada in 1868 and was successively a gold miner, business man, state senator, and bank president.

Miss Martin is a graduate of the University of Nevada and Leland Stanford and a student of Columbia, Cambridge, England, and the University of Leipzig. For three years she was professor of history at the University of Nevada.

A posse, made up of police, detectives and citizens, is now on the trail of the murderers.

The shooting occurred when Farrell was about to arrest the two men as suspicious persons. As the officer stepped up to take his prisoners, both men drew revolvers and began firing. The first volley brought the patrolman down with two shots in his body. Farrell, despite his wounds, drew his gun and fired four times at the fleeing assailants before he fell back to the ground and died. The officer's shots went wild and the murderers escaped.
