

SETS FORTH HIS PHILOSOPHY OF LIFE AND ACTION

Professor, in Statement, Tells His Views on Social Traditions.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 22.—Prof. W. J. Thomas, dismissed from the University of Chicago and acquitted in the Municipal court of disorderly conduct, today gave out a statement in which he sets forth his philosophy of life and action, and for the first time gives his explanation of the Brevort Hotel incident, where he registered himself and Mrs. Granger as husband and wife. The hotel incident is described as follows:

"As to Mrs. Granger, she is a mature and ambitious young woman. Her life is mainly centered in her child and in a self-development which would lead to the development of the child. In her association with me she was, consciously or unconsciously, seeking a means which would assist her to that end. She is incapable of any of the sentimentalities, which she did not say, but which the reporters wished her to say.

"She has also literary ambitions. She has read a number of my 'life histories' in manuscript, and she stated that when she had previously lived in Chicago she had known a girl who had a remarkable history. On her own account she saw this girl and arranged to get her history for possible literary uses. She was to bring the girl to my office, but it developed that the girl could not come so far on that day, and it was agreed to meet in the city.

Not Guilty as Understood.

"I registered at the hotel and Mrs. Granger had such confidence in me that it did not occur to her to question whether the proceeding was discreet or not. We entered the room and were apprehended before the appearance of her friend.

"I am, therefore, not guilty of this charge as it is understood, but I am guilty of the whole general charge, in the sense that I hold views and am capable of practices not approved by our social traditions."

"The Bohemian spends his life in trying to escape from conformity instead of building up a positive organization of his life. In contrast with these two types the Philistine, tending to accept everything and the Bohemian, tending to reject everything, the creative man reconciles his desire for new experience with the desire of society for stability by providing the elements for the creation of a new stability."

"I am primarily interested in problems of crime, juvenile delinquency, racial assimilation, individual and social efficiency and happiness, etc. I have published volumes in a method of this study.

"This method may be called the case method. It involves the study

MANY ANIMALS IN ROBINSON CIRCUS

One of the surest signs of summer is here:

Yes, sir! Richmond is going to have a real big circus; one of those hustling, bustling institutions that rolls into town when all good folks are fast asleep in bed, remaining long enough to raise a tented city, give a parade and two performances, then pack up the canvas municipality and like the traditional Arab, fade away in the still darkness.

The famous John Robinson Shows will pitch tents in Richmond on May 1. This is the ninety-third annual tour of this organization and it is certainly no exaggeration to state that the Robinson Circus is the pioneer of circus entertainment.

From the opening of the mighty melange of novel and extraordinary aerial acts, equestrian feats, acrobatic stunts, animal acts, bicycle, unicycle, of the life history of individuals, and its pursuit constitutes a dangerous occupation. It involves association with normal and moral persons, indeed, but also association with immoral women, thieves and bums. It involves the possibility of being seen in places and with persons in which and with whom you are not supposed to belong.

The explorer in this field knows that he has a chance of perishing, just as the geographical explorer knows he has that chance. I have committed not one, but many indiscretions in this connection, but I have done no injury to society nor to individuals, according to my standards, except in this case where the state has invaded the domain of private life and has itself done the injury."

roller skating and other notable specialties and features, presented on elevated stages, together with all the other deeds of agility and daring which go to make up a big circus, acts follow acts with a precision and skill that is astounding to say the least.

An important department of the big show is a large and diversified menagerie of rare and costly specimens of animal life from all quarters of the globe.

Boxing Bouts to Be Stayed Here May 13

Jack Leslie of Indianapolis, heavyweight colored battler, will enter the ring here again on Monday night, May 13, his opponent yet to be selected, according to Joe Fox, promoter, who is arranging the bout.

Fox has just returned from a trip to Detroit and Cleveland where he made final arrangements for the events, and announces that probably within the next six months Richmond fight fans will have an opportunity to witness a bout for the colored heavy or middle-weight championship.

The Langford-Leslie bout still hangs fire. Fox is trying to arrange the bout, but as yet has been unable to get in touch with Langford or his manager. The colored scrapper is in Panam.

Fox is also trying to get Harry Willis or New Orleans, the man who knocked out Langford in Panama last week, to come here for a bout. Willis is a comer, and if Leslie can make a good showing in his next bout here he may get a chance to go against Willis.

Out For Tanlac With Statement

This Woman Says Health Is a Lot Better Since She Gave Tanlac Trial.

"My stomach used to be so out of order that everything I ate turned to gas and it filled me up so much sometimes that I thought I'd burst," said Mrs. Mary Frye, 321 New Jersey street, Indianapolis, Ind.

"I'd have a smothered feeling when my stomach would fill up with gas like that, and sometimes I had pains in my stomach, too."

"The trouble with my stomach made me restless at night. Sometimes I couldn't sleep at all until I got up and took a big dose of soda to settle my stomach and even then the rest I got wasn't what it should have been."

"My appetite was poor, too, and I felt weak all the time."

"I read in the papers of quite a few people who had been benefited by taking Tanlac and so I finally tried it."

"Well, I just seemed to get better right away. My appetite improved a lot and I soon noticed that the gas in the stomach wasn't bothering me so much. My stomach is in good shape now and I never have to take soda or anything like that."

To The Men Who "Roll Their Own"

TAKE a good look at your little white sack of the makings—
"BULL DURHAM" tobacco. For we are going to ask you to part with good old "Bull" for a time. He has enlisted. He has gone to the front to help win the fight over there—every single sack of him.

The Government has asked for the entire output of our "BULL DURHAM" factories, and what the Government asks we all give cheerfully.

The millions of sacks of "Bull" we have been sending abroad have not been enough. We must give ALL to our men at the front—36,000,000 sacks—2,000,000 pounds—100 car loads every month.

So, with your own hands, roll yourself a cigarette of "Bull"—carefully, thoughtfully, just the best cigarette you ever rolled; and while you smoke it, THINK.

There is only one thought you can think—it is this: "If the boys over there need my 'makings' they're sure welcome. Here's to them and good luck. And may every little bag carry its inspiration of hope and courage."

And if you have sentiment, just save the round white tag of your last sack and hang it up in memory of good old "Bull". For you will be proud to know him when he comes back—as he must come soon—covered with medals of honor for service.
