

HEAVIER TAXES ON WAR PROFITS TO BE IMPOSED

Senate Adopts Resolution to Place Wire Control in Wilson's Hands.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 15.—Complete information regarding war profiteering was asked of the treasury today by the house ways and means committee in preparation for drafting the new eight billion dollar revenue bill. Heavier taxes on war profits will be one of the important features of the new bill.

After a brief session today the committee adjourned until Wednesday, when actual work of framing the bill will begin.

By 46 to 16, the senate Saturday night adopted without amendment, the house resolution giving President Wilson power to take over and operate, for the period of the war, the telegraph, telephone, cable and radio lines of the country. Arrangements were made for the resolution to be signed by presiding officers of the senate and house and transmitted to the president Monday.

All attempts to amend or modify the administration measure which passed the house July 5, by a vote of 221 to 4, were defeated at a session lasting until 9 o'clock. Amendments by Senator Watson of Indiana, to except telephones and press wires from the resolution were defeated, respectively, 41 to 20 and 39 to 21. An amendment by Senator Gore of Oklahoma, Democrat, to limit action regarding telegraphs to long-distance wires was voted down, while an amendment by Senator Reed of Missouri, designed to insure unrestricted public use of facilities was twice rejected.

FRENCH PREMIER VISITS U. S. TROOPS; REVIEWS THEM WITH GEN. PERSHING

Premier Clemenceau and General Pershing inspecting troops.

Premier Clemenceau recently paid a visit to the American headquarters in France. Accompanied by General Pershing he reviewed the American fighters. The premier as well as the entire French populace, is highly proud of the showing made by the American lads and the most exclusive homes and chateaus of the wealthy folk have thrown open to the boys. Thirty-four heroes of the battle of Belleau Wood recently were decorated with the American distinguished service order.

On The Screen

WASHINGTON
Engineering her own love affair to a triumphant close as well as stage-managing several others, is the task that falls to Vivian Martin in her newest Hodgson Burnett's famous story by Edith Kennedy and directed by Robert Thornby. "The Fair Barbarian" will be shown at the Washington theatre on today and Tuesday. A series of illustrations, most of which consist of photographed views of actual happenings in connection with Germany's Zeppelin raids on England, are contained in the two-reel picture, being presented at the Washington tonight and Tuesday. The picture is naturally of interest at the present time, and has been substituted in a way which helps to make it an acceptable patriotic offering.

MURRETTE
Talk about your cub reporters' newspaper scoops. None of these cubs you read about has anything on Franklyn Farum, as the cub reporter in "The Empty Cab," at the Murrette Tuesday only, his latest Bluebird production. The story was written by F. McGrew Willis, and produced under the direction of Douglas Gerrard. Eleven Percy, whom you will remember for her work opposite Douglas Fairbanks in several of his most successful productions, has the chief supporting role. Others in the cast are: Harry De More, Frank Brownlee, Harry Lindsey and Fred Kelsey.

MURRAY
Miss Theda Bara seemed to out-vampire herself yesterday when she appeared in William Fox's 1918 version of "A Fool There Was," at the Murray theatre. She gave a splendid, thrilling, com-peiling portrayal of the destroyer of human hearts and rounds of applause greeted the finish of every showing at the Murray theatre yesterday. "Destiny or The Soul of a Woman," starring the celebrated dramatic actress, Emily Stevens, at the Murray tomorrow, is one of the few motion picture plays to attain the realm of permanency in the picture world. It is picture literature of the highest quality, and will be as big, if not bigger, an attraction ten years hence than it is now. This is due to the genuine as well as to the superb acting of its great star, Miss Stevens, who regards it as the finest thing she has ever done on the stage or screen.

How to Grow a Diamond

By FRANK S. CHANCE
SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING INSTALLMENTS: A traveler on a Pullman sleeper hears a man make the assertion that he knows how to grow diamonds. A skeptical friend does not believe it and accuses him of joking.

Jim laughed and, loosening a safe-guard, took the discussed pin from his scarf and handed it to his friend. "Billy," said he "I'm not joking. I'm a real, sure-for-certain diamond grower. The stone you have in your fist is a flawless blue-white that weighs a carat and a half. It was grown from the little mustard seed diamond about which you were kidding me a moment ago. If you meet me a month hence the stone which you are now admiring so lovingly will have grown an eighth of a carat."

"Go on, tell it all. You're either a real genius or the biggest liar that ever toted a grip."

"I won't admit that I'm either; but I do claim to have run across a little plan that enables me to own a diamond that I never could have got any other way and kept out of jail at the same time."

"How? That's what I want to know. How?" (To Be Continued)
