

DRY COMPROMISE IS ADOPTED BY SENATE MEMBERS

National Prohibition to Become Effective July, 1919 in United States.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—National prohibition moved a considerable step forward Thursday in Congress.

Without a record vote being taken or requested, the senate late Thursday adopted the leaders' compromise on "bone dry" prohibition, effective July 1, 1919, and continuing during the war, and until the American troops are brought home and demobilized.

The compromise, an amendment by Senator Sheppard of Texas, prohibition leader, to the $11,000,000 emergency agricultural appropriation bill, is expected to remain in the measure under the harmony agreement of wet and dry factions, although technically subject to another vote. Passage of the bill itself was planned today, and the measure will be returned to the house, which is expected by prohibition advocates to accept the senate provision.

Adoption of the compromise legislation came after today's debate, spirited between champions and opponents of prohibition, but with many marks of lack of interest, including vacant seats both on the floor and in the galleries because the compromise was regarded as insuring approval by the senate.

Opposition is Defeated.
Efforts to materially change the Sheppard substitute were futile. Amendments to advance and defer the effective date, and to extend the time for its operation against beer and wine, were overwhelmingly defeated, record roll calls.

That there was any agreement among the leaders against having record votes was denied by Senator Sheppard and other advocates and also opponents of prohibitory legislation. The general understanding, it was declared, extended only to support of the compromise amendment and to avoid obstructive debate or parliamentary tactics.

Senator Phelan of California made a vigorous fight for a longer lease of life for the wine and beer industries. He offered amendments making the effective date for the prohibition June 30, 1920, instead of a year previous, as the amendment provides, and also applying the later date to wines alone. Both were rejected overwhelmingly by viva voce votes and sufficient senators did not support Senator Phelan's request for a roll call. Another Phelan amendment, drowned in a roar of "noes," would have extended the effective date for wines six months longer, or until Dec. 31, 1919.

With "wet" and "dry" members evidently observing their agreement to unite on the Sheppard draft, the senate also voted down without a roll call an amendment by Senator Trammell, of Florida, to move the effective date ahead of Jan. 1, 1919, as provided in the bill before the compromise agreement was reached.
