Governor's Proclamation Urges All Citizens to do Homage to Slain Heroes.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 10.—Governor Goodrich has set apart Sunday, Sept. 22, to be Heroes' day in Indiana.

In a proclamation issued yesterday from his room in St. Vincent's Hospital the Governor pays tribute to Hoosier soldiers who have made the highest sacrifice in the war for preservation of human liberties.

He urges in the statement that citizens forget religious creed in union of glorification of the state's dead and requests that the War Camp Community Service direct arrangements for meetings simultaneously in every hamlet, town and city. It is the Governor's regret that he will not be able to personally attend the Indianapolis observance of the day.

"I could ask no greater honor than to have active and personal part in such a day," he said. "I am told that my stay in the hospital will not be terminated by that date. I am, however, my heart will be with those who gather together to do this fitting homage to our men who have been slain."

A message from the governor will be read at every meeting in Indiana. In all of the demonstrations arranged by the War Camp Community Service in Indiana, the governor will be a participant. In the service flag parade he declined the place of honor in the reviewing party to march in line and carry the flag with a star for his son.

The executive committee for Indiana of the War Camp Community Service will hold its first meeting today at the Hotel Severin at a luncheon at 12:30 p. m. State Chairman Hugh McK. Landon has called the committee together to outline organization plans and to arrange for getting before the people just what the War Camp Community Service is doing to "keep the fighter fit."

The members of the committee are: Mr. Landon, chairman; W. H. McCurdy, Evansville; R. W. Akin, Sullivan; Harry Lovett, New Albany; Thomas E. Davidson, Greensburg; Herman Hulman, Terre Haute; Edward Paul, Cambridge City; Dale J. Crittenden, Anderson; A. M. Rosenthal and J. O. Vanier, Indianapolis; Albert Conradt, Kokomo; Dr. H. E. Sharrer, Hammond; Col. J. L. McCullough, Marion; Byron Sommers, Fort Wayne; and Finley Mount, Laporte.

The Governor's proclamation follows: "It is fitting and right that high honor and praise be accorded Indiana's sons who have fallen while facing the foe in the fight for the world's freedom. Their names will be indelibly inscribed in the glorious history of the Hoosier commonwealth. The memory of their brave deeds will be examples of splendid patriotism in generations yet to come. We stand bowed in common grief before service flags with stars of gold. To the mothers, fathers, wives of these, our friends, who have nobly yielded the supreme sacrifice that the principles of justice and liberty may be perpetuated in all nations of earth, let us give of our tribute and let us share with them the sorrow born of war's inevitable toll."

Therefore, I, James P. Goodrich, governor of the State of Indiana, do hereby set apart and proclaim Sunday, September 22, to be Heroes' day, in honor of our heroic dead.

Let the day be given over to solemn song and service and I urge that our citizens, irrespective of religious creed, join in doing homage to our men who sleep in fields of France and Flanders.

To the War Camp Community Service, in which all denominations are united for splendid purpose, I give charge of this observance, and request that they so arrange that in every hamlet, town and city we may on that day glorify our sons who have so honorably died and whose souls will forever go marching on."

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Fourteen states in the Union have abolished the teaching of the German language in the schools and in sixteen other states a campaign to eliminate German is underway, according to an announcement made today by the American Defense Society. Red Cross Notes

September's quota for the surgical dressing department of the Red Cross has just been received and all workers and especially all cutters are urged to come to work at once. There are no pads in this quota, the entire call being for gauze work, and since the small compresses and rolls do not make as great a showing as the larger pads, and also since the quota is almost a week late in coming, as many women as possible are asked to come.

Fountain City turned in at headquarters last week the last pair of the 109 pairs of its quota. These have all been knit in the last two months.

Compliance with requests for special gifts to soldiers has proved impracticable, and since many disappointments and misunderstandings are caused by over-zealous parents, Dr. L. F. Ross who is chairman of the Wayne county chapter of the Red Cross has given the following statement to the press, for the benefit of the many who have members of their family overseas.

Because of conditions which interfere with the carrying out of the desire, it is urged that persons in the states desist from asking that particular articles be sent to specific soldiers in service abroad. In a letter received at the Washington headquarters on this subject the fact is emphasized that the Red Cross does not desire to avoid any responsibility whatever in looking after the welfare of the American soldiers. But it is pointed out that it would be useless and impracticable to attempt to comply with requests of the kind mentioned, and a great deal of annoyance and possibly disappointment would be prevented by a thorough understanding of the situation on the part of the people at home. It is earnestly desired that parents desist from such appeals. They may rest assured that the Red Cross in its own systematic way, is doing everything imaginable of the practical sort to supply the wants of the soldiers.

Red Cross workers who are not able to come to the rooms during the day are urged to work Tuesday and Thursday evenings, since the rooms will be opened again from now on until further notice. The building will be opened on those evenings at 7 o'clock.

PERSON WHO CASHES IN W. S. S. WORST KIND OF SLACKER

"Too severe condemnation cannot be made of these selfish citizens who, after making a great show of buying thrift stamps and war savings stamps, turn right around and have them cashed again," stated Postmaster Beck Tuesday. Many persons who are in need of the money have been cashing their stamps at the postoffice, and the postmaster believes that a protest should be made.

One Richmond business firm, the postmaster said, took out $4,000 in stamps one week with great ostentation, and the next week privately turned around and cashed them all.

The following is an excerpt from one of the postal magazines, sent out recently.

"The man who converts his War Savings stamps into cash when he can afford to carry them during the five year period is the worst kind of a slacker. He should be in Germany, fighting for the Kaiser. Postoffice statistics are showing that it is not the widows who have sons in France or persons who have suffered illness or financial misfortunes who are cashing in their War Savings stamps, but men who purchased War Savings stamps merely for show or to gain patriotic publicity. Such men think they can secretly sneak around to the postoffice, get the money which they have invested in stamps and use it for some other purpose or pleasure without the public knowing about it. In reality such a person is worse than an open slacker. He is willing to stab Uncle Sam in the back in the dark, while he supports him openly in the light. It has been suggested that postoffices keep a record of all persons cashing in their War Savings Certificates, that the public may know who are not true American citizens."

U. S. Soldiers Show Fondness for Pickles

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—A dill pickle fits in with a soldier's idea of a well topped meal more than a bar of chocolate, in many instances, notwithstanding the opinion held by most people that the latter is the one side product desired by men at the front and in camps at home. The soldier's fondness for pickles was made known today by the war department, which announced that while 230,000 gallons are required for shipment overseas, it had received bids for less than 100,000. There is a shortage in the pickles specified and to meet this, larger pickles will be bought, pending delivery of the new crop.

TODAY'S MATCH MAY BE LAST OF WORLD SERIES

New england Fans Expect Boston to Clean up Series With- out Delay.

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—Cheerful confidence prevailed today in the camp of the Red Sox followers as they prepared to watch what they firmly believed would be the final game of the world series between the Boston Americans and the Chicago Nationals. Yesterday's thrilling contest placed Boston in the lead three games to one and the loyal New England fans expected the team to clean up the series without unnecessary delay.

Among the Chicago players, however, there was no thought that the series would end today. The Cubs lost none of their fighting spirit. The Red Sox although naturally elated over their success thus far, kept in mind a world series when the Boston American league champions found themselves in exactly the same position as was Chicago today and yet won the title, in 1913. The Pittsburgh Nationals won three of their first four games and then Boston went in and took four straight, five games being required to decide the series in that year.

Jones in Box for Boston. Manager Barrow planned to start Jones in the box for Boston today, holding Mays in reserve. Manager Mitchell's decision as to the Chicago pitcher was still held in abeyance early in the day. It was feared by the fans that he would not be likely to send in any of the men who had participated in the previous games, and their best guess was that the Red Sox would be called upon to face Hendrix, a right hander.

In the whole series up to today, a right hander has appeared for Chicago in only one inning. That was the eighth of yesterday's game when Douglas relieved Tyler. The Red Sox scored the winning run in that inning on a hit and Douglas' wild throw to first, and Douglas had to bear the stigma of losing the game.

The weather was ideal for this afternoon's clash. Although there was an autumn chill in the air this morning, the bright sunshine bade fair to bring back summerlike conditions later in the day.

The probable batting order:
Chicago Nationals Boston Americans
Flack, rf. Hooper, rf.
Hollocher, ss. Shean, 2b.
Mann, lf. Strung, cf.
Paskert, c. Ruth or Whitman, 1b.
Pick, 2b. McInnis, 1b.

Baker Praises Men of Torpedoed Ship for Fine Morale

PARIS, Monday, Sept. 9.—The American transport Mt. Vernon, formerly the German steamer Kronprinzessin Cecilie, which, though torpedoed by a German submarine last Thursday off the coast of France, was able to make port, was carrying sick and wounded soldiers back to the United States.

Senator James H. Lewis, of Chicago, who was among the passengers, all of whom were saved, is suffering from a chill resulting from exposure while carrying wounded men from their bunks. Thirty-five engineer-room hands lost their lives when the torpedo struck the vessel.

The officers and crew of the Mt. Vernon showed perfect discipline and efficiency. Most of the seamen were young and for many it was their first trip, but they acted like old hands. In a short space of time they had all the bulkheads closed and the steam cocks shut off. Sometimes they were compelled to swim through rising water in order to get at the valves.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Warm congratulations to the navy upon the conduct of the crew of the transport Mt. Vernon, which returned safely to a French port after being torpedoed 200 miles at sea, came to Secretary Daniels today by cable from Secretary Baker, whose arrival in France was announced Monday night by the War Department.

Secretary Baker's message said: "I have just visited and viewed the Mt. Vernon. The high-spirited morale of its men and the masterful seamanship of its captain and officers makes such a stirring story of heroism that I wish all the nation might know the splendid way in which that huge transport met and foiled the attempt to destroy it at sea. The traditions of your service are enriched by the conduct in this emergency."

Captain Douglas E. Dismukes, U. S. N., commands the Mt. Vernon.

U. S. PEACE PROGRAM IS APPROVED BY HUNGARIAN PARTY

BASEL, Monday, Sept. 9.—President Wilson's program for the negotiations for peace are endorsed by Count Michael Karolyi, president of the Hungarian independent party. A dispatch from Budapest quoting from an open letter written by Count Karolyi to his electors in whom he recommends an early peace, says:

"A decisive military victory, despite its successes, is a dream for which it is useless to pursue. The prime condition of peace negotiations is the democratization of nations and the abandonment of imperialistic theories. A second condition is that we should not become slaves to the idea of a middle Europe, either military, economically or politically, and that we should not strengthen our alliance with Germany which would form the first step toward the realization of this central Europe."

"We ought to accept as a basis for negotiations, President Wilson's program."

GASOLINE PRICE MAY BE LOWER GARFIELD SAYS

Awaiting Further Reports Before Taking Definite Action, States Fuel Head.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Fuel Administrator Garfield announced today that he expects soon to fix a price for gasoline for domestic consumers, as well as a figure lower than the present market price. He is awaiting further reports on the situation before taking definite action.

No information was made as to what the fixed price will be. Dr. Garfield's announcement disclosed that for some time consideration has been given the problem of bringing the price of gasoline to a lower level. Several reports already have been made to Mark L. Requa, director of the Oil Division of the fuel administration, and it was intimated that upon completion of the investigation now being conducted immediate action would be taken.

The disclosure of Dr. Garfield's purpose came during an informal talk with newspaper correspondents in which the stocks of gasoline in the country and the stated shortage east of the Mississippi river, which caused the purpose of maintaining the present price of gasoline in the face of a reported large supply in the country.

The senate today displayed its interest in the autless Sunday request by adopting a resolution offered by Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, asking the administration for information as to the country's production, consumption and exportation of gasoline, with separate figures on the amount used by passenger cars.
