

SUNDAY SERVICE CLOSES FRIENDS YEARLY MEETING

Decrease in Attendance at Sunday Meeting—Dr. Edwards Urges Support.

The crowd at Indiana Yearly meeting Sunday was smaller than last year probably because of the order restricting use of automobiles. At 7 o'clock Sunday morning B. Willis Beede conducted the missionary service. Bible school was held at 9 o'clock, after which meeting for worship was conducted by Elison R. Purdy. In the afternoon Evangeline M. Reams and Andrew F. Mitchell spoke at the services. John Kitzell spoke at the afternoon 6 o'clock outdoor meeting. Edith Wildman conducted the Young Friends meeting at the North A Street Friends meeting house. In the evening Robert E. Pretlow conducted the meeting for worship, which was followed by the Camp Fire consecration meeting. The yearly meeting closed Sunday evening. Saturday afternoon reports of the Friends colleges were given. Dr. David M. Edwards, president of Earlham college, asked the support of the college in a stirring speech. He criticized the Indiana Yearly meeting for sending their children to other colleges. Not more than fifty percent of the persons who send their children to college send them to Earlham.

Dr. Edwards stated "Our attendance is going to be cut down this year because of our position in regard to military training. We are going to have to meet a depleted enrollment. But I have not one atom of regret. It is the very broadest position the Society of Friends has ever taken."

"We are going to face a shortage of boys. This will affect directly the finance of the college and we are going to ask you to make up the deficit."

"Our attendance of women will be about normal, but the French government is going to help us out. Out of the 130 girls who passed examinations for scholarships in American colleges Earlham gets two. But where are the young people of Indiana and Western meetings? What is the reason they are not attending Earlham? The reason is that the fathers and mothers of those boys and girls are not interested in sending them to their own college and I am going to indict the fathers and mothers of Indiana and Western Yearly meetings."

Dr. Edwards emphasized the point that it is the duty of the parent to see that the child is under his own care and not let him pursue his own inclinations. A short course to education was criticized.

Stacey McCracken, financial secretary, made a talk in which he outlined the plans that have been made to raise the money to meet the $60,000 deficit at Earlham.

Alexander Purdy, head of the Biblical department at Earlham, explained the enlarged program Earlham has undertaken.

The report of the treasurer was given.

Message of Friendship.

Atwood L. Jenkins and Charles M. Woodman have been made trustees in the place of Mary A. Stubbs and Mary L. Bruner, whose terms have expired.

At the proposal of S. Edgar Nicholson a greeting of friendship was sent to all the Friends in the world. Part of the message is as follows:

"Before the war began we were hearing much about the Christianization of the social order, of business, of society, of politics, of industry. May it not be a time when Friends together shall make demand for the Christianization of diplomacy, of internationalism of the social order of the world? Is it too much to expect that the rule of love, of mutual good-will, shall ultimately become the rule of conduct for the nations, that the program of Jesus Christ shall become the program of the world? In what better way can Friends make substantial contribution to this end than by strict adherence to our traditional ideals, by living the things we profess, by practicing the faith in our forebears?"

The greatest issue in the world is the issue of the Kingdom of God. To the consummation of this issue God has set his church, and fidelity to Him requires that through Christian ministrations the kingdoms of this world shall finally become the kingdoms of our Lord."

Inquire Into The Demand For Postum

A few years ago one could safely assume that most every family was drinking either tea or coffee.

Now-a-days it's different. People from every walk of life in increasing numbers are drinking

POSTUM

The first users were impelled by reasons of health, but in the newer form, Instant Postum there are qualities of economy and serviceability in addition to health value and splendid taste which makes it the paramount table beverage for discriminating people.

HEARD FROM OUR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS

Captain John Fouts, who is stationed at Hoboken, N. J., is in the city visiting his wife.

"Well, I hope it will not be very long before we can bring this thing to a close, and sail once more for Blighty, as the Englishman calls home," says Private Elmer Upton in a letter to his parents, dated August 8, which was received recently. "I have already taken part in some very hard fought battles in which we were victorious over the Hun, and I have come through without getting even a scratch."

"We are in the trenches at this time and I suppose we will be for some time," he said.

Mrs. J. W. McDonald, 443 South Ninth Street, has received word from her son, Paul L. Andrews, stating that he has arrived safely abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Kempton left for Chicago Saturday night following a telegram from Great Lakes stating that their son, Whitney was seriously ill with Spanish influenza, pneumonia having set in. Miss Elmina Kempton accompanied her parents to the camp, and friends here have received no word regarding young Kempton's condition since the family left.

Top Sergeant Wilbur Morrell, who is stationed at San Antonio, Tex., is in the city spending a furlough.

Corporal Morris Woodhurst, who is stationed at Camp Hancock, Ga., is spending a ten-days' furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Woodhurst, of North Twelfth street.

Horace Neal has reached overseas safely, according to word received here. Neal is in Co. C, 336 Infantry, 84 Division, American Expeditionary Forces.

Mirel D. Klingman arrived in the city Saturday having been called home by the serious illness of his sister, Miss Hazel Klingman. Klingman is stationed with the 67th Artillery at West Point, Ky.

Fred Freese of Camp Taylor is visiting relatives here.

Otto P. Hiatt writes from France that they are having very hot weather in the district in which he is stationed. He says, "I guess you are well up on the latest war dope. I had the pleasure of being in on the big drive."

"Yesterday morning an American aviator brought down a Boche double engine right at my camp. One of the Germans was dead and the other had his arm broken. It was some sight to see them in the air battling, but the Americans were far too clever for the Boche, and the German machine came down first, Yanks following. When they approached, the wounded man held out his one arm and called 'Comrade' as they always do when they get in a tight place."

Aloysius Otten is spending a short furlough with his parents on South

Twelfth street preceding a trip to New Mexico where he will be stationed for some time. Otten has been at Camp Taylor.

Father Duffy, formerly of the St. Mary's church, who has been at Camp Taylor since August, will officially receive his appointment as chaplain next Thursday, according to word which has been received by Father Cronin.

Sergeant Ray Schutte is spending a ten days' furlough with his sisters and father at their home in Spring Grove. He is stationed at Camp Shelby, Miss.

John Livingston is in the base hospital at Great Lakes, suffering from broken arches. He has been found unfit for active service but will be detailed on special work.

Private William M. Moss, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Moss, 800 North Eighth street, has arrived overseas with an artillery company.

Mrs. Lulu Chamness has received a card from her son, Prentice P. Chamness, who is at the U. S. Naval Training School at Puget Sound, Wash. He says, "I am feeling fine and am ready for any Hun." Chamness states that he should like to hear from anyone who cares to write to him. His address is Battalion D, U. S. Naval Training Camp, Naval Yards, Puget Sound, Wash.

HARLAN NAMED AS WAR CAMP CHAIRMAN

War Camp Community Service chairman, of which Denver C. Harlan, an attorney of this city, has been named for the Sixth District of the state, have been called to meet at Indianapolis, Wednesday, September 25 to from definite plans for activities in the state.

The appointments only have been made in the past week and Harlan stated that entire outlines of the work have not yet been made clear, by the Community Service probably will conduct a campaign in November, and work in connection with the Y. M. C. A., the Knights of Columbus, the Y. W. C. A. and other organizations which are interested in the welfare of soldiers.

Eight counties are in the Sixth District, and of these sub-chairman, Howard Brooks, has been named for Wayne county.

"Have Made My First Trip to Front" Writes Ernest Lehman

"I have made my first trip to the front," writes Ernest C. Lehman, serving with an ambulance company, in a letter to his mother, Mrs. W. Frank Lehman, 228 North Eighth street.

The letter follows:

"At last I have made my first trip to the front. Came up to our dressing station last night."

"We are in a small, deserted French village. Have our station in an old French house. Sleep in a bed. The only trouble is getting used to the springs, as our mattress is a little thin. But no kick coming, as the idea of sleeping in a bed is great."

"We have plenty of company in the rats. One used the post right by my side for a runway, but I finally got used to him. Today some of the boys are busy making rat traps. Their success so far is a weasel."

"Last night shortly after we went to bed we heard the whistle of the big shells. They were from the Boche, who was giving it to someone behind us. They call them street cars passing overhead."

A raiding party came up near here early this morning but I am a good sleeper. Even the noise from the machine guns failed to awaken me. We can see the mountains around us which the Boches hold."

"The only thing we are short to make our place American is a bath. Have a large table to eat on. The ends are the original table while parts of cupboard doors enlarge it so we can all eat."

"The closer to the front you get, the easier it is for us to get any kind of tobacco, cigars, cigarettes and chocolate. Every place we go we find the Y. M. C. A. there to supply the soldiers. Of course the army serves us Bull Durham, but when circumstances permit, I still favor the tailor-made cigarettes."

"It is lots better over here than at any of the camps in the states."

More Applicants Wanted for Government Positions

A letter from the U. S. Civil Service to the local board of examiners which came this morning urged that all efforts be made to secure more applicants for the typewriting and stenographer's examination, as the supply is less by far than the needs call for. Clerks of this department do not need to take dictation, but should have knowledge of both typewriting and stenography so that the stenographic signs could be transcribed into long hand or written on the typewriter.

There is No Substitute for the Diamond

Ever since the art of cutting and polishing diamonds was discovered in 1456, there has been a constant search for a substitute for this gem. Scientists have failed to manufacture them artificially. Mineralogists have searched the world for a stone to take its place without success. Nothing has been discovered that equals the diamond for brilliancy, beauty and value.

It is the hardest of all known substances. It can only be ground in its own dust. The diamond is insoluble in all liquids, and is infusible at all temperatures. There is nothing in the world that has the same qualities as the diamond.

The value of good stones depend on their weight, color and perfection. The latter term has been subject to wide abuse but "perfect" actually means perfectly cut, of pure color, and without flaws. Because a minute flaw invisible to the naked eye, often spoils an otherwise perfect stone, the purchaser of a diamond must rely on the judgment of an expert.

The House of Dickinson with a wide and varied experience in judging diamond values, and a reputation for truthful representation of the facts, fitted for providing you with the best values in diamonds. You can buy from The House of Dickinson with confidence. There is no ornament like the diamond, and no place like this store to buy a good stone, with the assurance of a perfect gem at reasonable price.
