

LABOR SUPPORT WILL BE GIVEN G. O. P., BELIEF

Statement Issued by Republican Central Committee Points Out Reasons.

The following statement was issued yesterday by the Republican Central Committee:

Republican workers in the various factories of the city have reported that the industrial workers of the city will largely support the Republican ticket again at the election next Tuesday.

Harry Strickland, the Democratic candidate for congress, who has spent a great part of his time in Richmond, during the campaign, and his local campaign manager, William Haberm, former manager of the Oakland Wine company, have been bending every effort to attract the support of the factory employees to Mr. Strickland's candidacy.

Democratic propaganda which has been prepared for working men and which has been industriously circulated in Richmond, makes the bald claim that only the Democratic party can insure the workman that he will continue to receive after peace has been declared the wages which have been paid during the period of the war.

This claim is brazenly made by the Democrats in the face of the fact that the present administration has up to this time, on the eve of world peace, made no effort nor considered any plans for the protection of the business interests of the United States and the interests of the American workman following the war.

No Tariff Barrier.

Should peace come tomorrow American business and American workers would find no tariff barrier to protect home markets from being flooded by cheap-labor made products of devastated, war-torn Europe.

The only tariff law now on the statute books is the notorious Underwood "free trade" act, and the working men of Richmond do not need to be reminded what effect that law had on the country the first year of its operation, 1913, just a year before the outbreak of the European war.

Richmond workers remember how industry became stagnated immediately after the enactment of the Underwood law, and how industrial paralysis continued until its revival through the stimulant of war business.

Remembering what Democratic "free trade" did for the country before the outbreak of the world war in 1914, and bearing in mind the fact that the Underwood act will still be on the statute books when peace comes again, providing a Democratic congress is re-elected, Richmond workers are paying slight heed to the clamor of the Democratic organization workers that the only protection they have is to continue the Democratic party in power.

Prepare for After War.

Richmond workers well remember the prosperous times of Republican protective tariffs, and, being men who keep in touch with events, they know that the Republican leaders in congress are the only ones who have given any consideration to policies to be pursued during the reconstruction period which is to follow the war, for the safeguarding of the interests of American industries and American workers.

These Republican leaders have realized that the country is now as unprepared for peace as it was unprepared for war, eighteen months ago, so they are acting. The majority party in congress, the Democrats, have done nothing to meet the grave problems which are certain to confront the country when peace is declared, although they must realize that continued delay in the consideration of these problems may be fraught with serious consequences to the country following the war.

Republican leaders in congress have well realized that that war today does not mean merely the winning of it. They well realize that unless the war means an improvement in the standard of every life in America, that unless it means better living conditions, inner equalization of opportunities for all and a co-ordinated improvement in the common lives of 110,000,000 people, it will have been fought in vain. It is going to mean commercial depressions, business panics, labor upheavals, wide-spread or justified dissatisfaction among the masses as results that follow it. America will have lost the supreme effort she has made.

JACK W. HARPER

CANDIDATE
TREASURER of Wayne Co.

If elected, I promise the Taxpayers Efficiency, Fair and Courteous treatment.

no matter what her military or diplomatic victory may be.

On September 27 last, Senator John A. W. Weeks in behalf of the Republicans, introduced in the Senate the now celebrated resolution calling for the creation by congress of a committee of Reconstruction. This Republican idea provides that a bi-partisan committee of twelve, three Democrats and three Republicans from the senate, with three Democrats and three Republicans from the house, shall be immediately appointed to undertake an investigation of all the problems that are likely to come under the head of Reconstruction; that all available data shall be collected and that recommendations for legislation—legislation to safeguard our workmen and our business interests—be prepared for submission to congress.

In this way the ground work would be prepared and the underbrush cleared away from such a complicated task which the nation now faces.

But, Mr. Richmond workmen, the Democratic-controlled Senate has done nothing toward putting the admirable Weeks plan into effect, notwithstanding the fact that the Democratic organization in Richmond has become a chorus with shouting that the salvation of the working man rests with the Democratic party and its free trade law.

Representative Richard N. Elliott, the Republican congressional nominee, who has represented this district in congress since an admirable manner during this grave period in our history, is a staunch friend of the working man and he has supported President Wilson's war measures without question, a record quite a number of Democratic members of congress cannot say for themselves.

Since entering congress Mr. Elliott has had an opportunity of voting on three measures directly affecting labor and on each occasion he has voted in the interests of labor, namely:

He supported in the house and before the committee on postal affairs the bill granting increase in pay to members of two postal service organizations, the postoffice clerks and the carriers.

He supported the Nolan bill establishing a minimum wage for government employees, a measure which benefits hundreds of thousands of men and women in the employment of Uncle Sam.

He worked with Representative Nolan, labor's great friend, to kill a section of a senate bill, known as the "work or fight" amendment, which, if it had not been killed, would have made it unlawful for employees in government contract factories to strike. He regarded such a provision as an insult to the working men and women of the United States who have so nobly done their bit for Uncle Sam during the war.

Mr. Elliott, incidentally, has received the endorsement of the editor of the oldest labor paper in the United States, The Union, published in Indianapolis. This endorsement was given in the issue of the Union of Oct. 25, last. The article urges Mr. Elliott's re-election.

First Motion Picture in U. S. Witnessed by Richmond Audience

Richmond now has the spot-light turned on it in the motion picture industry as being the home of the motion picture. In a new book just published "How Motion Pictures Are Made," a former resident of this city is given credit with being the inventor of motion pictures. He is C. Francis Jenkins, well known in this city.

Mr. Jenkins now lives in Washington, D. C., where he is the inventor and manufacturer of the Graphoscope projecting machine for use in motion picture theatres.

The first picture in the history of the world was projected in Richmond in June, 1894, according to the book. The witnessing of it is still remembered by a number of Wayne county people. Among those present on that occasion were the parents of Mr. Jenkins. It was shown in the jewelry store.

The book is a large ambitious volume and will no doubt be regarded as an authority on the subject. It is written by Homer Croly, well known to the motion picture industry, and also to readers of current fiction as the author of the humorous novel, "Boone Stop."

Mr. Croly is now in France as a motion picture expert for the Y. M. C. A.

The honor of having produced the first motion picture has always gone to England, but now it is established that America is the home of the motion picture and that the place is America where it was first produced in Richmond. As a result Richmond is now very much in the eyes of the picture world.

New Election Commissioners Are Appointed by Board

The county commissioners met yesterday afternoon to appoint election inspectors to take the place of those recently resigned. E. S. Martindale was appointed to succeed Thomas B. Gunchel, Clay township precinct 2.

Saunder C. Davis was appointed to succeed J. L. Hutchins, Clay township 18. John B. Smelser was appointed to succeed William E. Pickett, Clay township, precinct 32.

Your Country is Calling for 100% Men

In this world crisis the life of civilization literally depends on how much physical and mental efficiency the individual defenders of civilization can develop and maintain.

Are you a 100 per cent man? Are you developing your full rated mental and physical horse power? Are you giving to your country thoughts and deeds measuring up to the best of which you are capable?

It is your patriotic duty to keep full of vim, vigor and vitality and it is my duty to see that you do this —if you permit me to bring to bear on your case my almost 20 years of highly specialized experience in manhood and maintenance.

Keep Your Machinery oiled and in Perfect Adjustment

The human body is the finest and most delicate of machines. It functions perfectly only when properly inspected and cared for. It will not stand abuse without eventually rebelling.

The slam bang way of living which we, in this country, have fallen into can not be kept up indefinitely without something snapping. We violate the sanctity of these bodies of ours in a thousand ways—and what a price we pay.

Nerves! Nerves! Nerves! This war will go to the side with the strongest nerves.

—and the purest blood. Our blood has been violated by excesses. It must be purified.

The tender, vital organs of our bodies must be revitalized—almost remade, if we are to go on—if you are to win your own personal fight, for instance.

I am a Physical Inspector—a Physical Rebuilder. You may need me more than you know.

For almost 20 years I have served manly men who refuse to be denied their heritage of health. I am as permanent in Indianapolis as the monument. Do not trust the most priceless asset—your health—to the unknown and irresponsible. Know to whom you are confiding. Know the ABILITY of the man whom you ask to make you 100 per cent efficient.

I may or may not be able to cure you.

But I can and will, after making the most searching study of your case, tell you what you may reasonably expect, and I will hold out no false promises. If absolute sincerity, the broadest possible experience, and one of the best equipped offices in the country will help—I can help—perhaps entirely remedy any physical irregularity to which you may be a victim.

Let me see you. Talk to me frankly and give me your complete confidence and I will deal with you honestly. This complete co-ordination of confidence and highly specialized training can not but help resulting in the betterment or complete correction of any trouble you may have of a pelvic, rectal, blood or nervous nature.

EXPRESS PACKAGES MUST GO EARLY

Christmas packages should not be sent after December 5 and no bulky articles should be sent under any circumstances, says a letter written by H. B. Calkins, superintendent of the American Express company.

The National Council of Defense has directed the State Council of Defense in many states to make resolution to this effect.

The express companies are already overburdened with war packages that must be sent and there must be no congestion this winter, the superintendent points out.
