Obeying the Health Board

The quickest way to check an epidemic is by observing the regulations laid down by the health authorities. Intelligent persons take for granted that medical men are acquainted with the best means to combat a malady, and so they acquiesce in their requests without murmuring.

The influenza epidemic will be conquered if all the citizens of Wayne county co-operate in spirit and deed with the health department. In the former epidemic citizens showed a commendable spirit of helpfulness with good results. In this siege the community will not stand back but again demonstrate that it is willing to observe whatever restrictions the health authorities impose.

Influenza is a treacherous disease. No precaution can be great enough in fighting its malignant attacks. Wise citizens will exercise every precaution and obey every injunction.

Preserving War Records

Before the patriotic organizations that have been called into existence by the great war disband, an effort will be made to collect data and photographs telling of Wayne county's part in the strife. The Wayne County Defense Council has named a committee to take charge of this work.

Every American community has an interest in this work. Wayne county has not stood back in patriotic endeavor and achievement. It ranks among the highest in Indiana for Liberty Loan subscriptions, War Savings Stamp purchases, and donations for the Red Cross and other war auxiliaries. Hundreds of persons in Wayne county have given freely of their time and money for propaganda. Hundreds of women have worked diligently for the Red Cross and kindred enterprises. Their names and work should be preserved. Pictures of patriotic parades, organizations, military companies, relief societies, and of scores of events in the last two years are well worth a place in the county's archives.

If this work is left to private enterprises, it will not be done. Pictures will soon be lost or forgotten. Names of leaders will be blotted out of memory and in a few years, the great work accomplished in Wayne county will be as traditional as the patriotic effort of the community during the Civil war when it distinguished itself above every county in Hoosierdom.

The time for action in this particular is now while the events are still fresh in memory and the data can be collected with little trouble. Wayne county citizens are asked to co-operate with the committee.

Help the United War Work Campaign

It will be to the everlasting shame and disgrace of Wayne county if it does not raise its quota of $100,000 in the United War Work campaign.

Wayne township, which includes the city of Richmond, has not raised its quota. Other townships are in the same slacker class. It will be a warm reception Wayne county will give its fighters upon their return if it must be said of us that we were too stingy to provide them with the comforts which the organizations affiliated with the United War Work campaign will give them.

How can Wayne county, including all its townships, look the boys in the face if we do not raise the $100,000? Will not the fighters look upon us stay-at-homes as simon pure slackers? Will they not be justified in poking fun at our so-called patriotism—a brand that would not give a few dollars for their recreation?

The boys overseas have kept many a young man in this county from risking his skin. These young men could not bring a more appropriate thank offering than by giving generously to this cause. Their parents, and the men and women who have no sons in the army or navy, should not let this opportunity of serving their country go by unheeded.

Wayne county is in the slacker list today. Until this campaign she has been one of the most generous counties of the state. Why sully the record in the eleventh hour? Why not come across the line going strong and fast? Why not put the climax on our efforts with a generous response?

Books

William Ellery Channing.

GOD be thankful for books. They are the voices of the distant and the dead, and make us heirs of the spiritual life of past ages. Books are the true levelers. They give to all, who will faithfully use them, the society, the spiritual presence, of the best and greatest of our race. No matter how poor I am, no matter though the prosperous of my own time will not enter my obscure dwelling, if the sacred writers will enter and take up their abode under my roof . . . I shall not pine for want of intellectual companionship, and I may become a cultivated man, though excluded from what is called the best society, in the place where I live.

Dinner Stories

The landlady of a well-known boarding house always made it a point to ask each departing guest to write something in her visitors' book. She was very proud of it and of some of the people whose names were in the volume and the nice things they said.

"But there is one thing I can't understand," the lady confided to a friend, "and that is what an American gentleman wrote in the book after stopping here. People always smile when they read it."

"What was it?" asked the friend. "He only wrote the words, 'Quoth the raven'."

When George Reid, the high commissioner for the Australian commonwealth, was knighted, his democratic associates balked at calling him "Sir."

A heckler at a meeting called out, "Say, Sir George, what does K. C. M. G. after your name mean?"

Without a moment's hesitation the new knight commander of the order of St. Michael and St. George answered, "Keep Calling Me George."

An Alabama soldier had troubles of his own with a mule.

"I just couldn't take no interest in dat mule. De others was all right."

"Diss one, first crack out de box, done bite me in de finger."

"While I was 'zammin' mah finger it up 'n' kicked me in de pants."

"Den dose Bush Germans started a gas attack."

"I was supposed to put de masks on de mules and den on me."

"I put masks on two of 'em."

"Den I led dia one round in de gas foh two hours, and dog my cat's nuffin' ever happened to dat orner my mule at all."

In the year ending in April there was an increase of nearly 1,100,000 sheep in New Zealand, notwithstanding exports of almost 4,000,000 carcasses.

IS RICHMOND SATISFIED?

The Evidence is Convincing. The Testimony Open to Investigation.

Before a statement can be accepted here, it must be supported by local testimony—by the evidence of someone residing in Richmond. Statements from unknown people in remote places may be true, but we cannot prove them. Here is a statement by a Richmond resident:

R. T. Cooper, carpenter, 229 N. Twelfth St., says: "My work as a carpenter is hard on the back and kidneys. I suffered from dull backaches with soreness through my loins. I could hardly stoop to pick up my tools and I was also annoyed by my kidneys acting irregularly. I got Doan's Kidney Pills from Quigley's Drug Store and they soon straightened me out and put my kidneys in good shape."

THE FOOD CARD.

Food cards will be next in our intrinsic scheme of existence, if present plans hit on all twelve cylinders in perfect rotation and rhythm, which will,

in manner of speaking, put a crimp in the old nose bag.

Food cards are in use in England,

and they cause distress to only one class of people—those who read the comic jokes about them in "Punch"

and "Tilt-Bits."

It seems when food

cards came out several persons tried to eat them, don't you know, thinking from the name that was what they were for (haw-haw) and all that tom-myrot.

A food card really should be taken seriously, for it is a serious institution.

A man learns this when he goes on a trip without one and has nothing to eat but his words. But certain family arrangements may be made which relieve the difficulties. If you are fond of meat, have a mother-in-law who is a vegetarian and use her meat card.

Take good care of this mother-in-law and don't let her go and live with anybody else.

It is also a wise precaution to raise

all the children to be vegetarians.

Their meat cards will help keep father going. Summing up the entire situation,

if people stick to the food cards,

they will not eat more than twice as much as is good for them, and a lot of indigestion and gout specialists will have to go out of business.

The food card, long may it wave.
