

M'CORMICK SAYS COVENANT GIVES ENGLAND POWER

League Draft Fails to Protect Monroe Doctrine, Claims Illinois Senator.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—That "the proposed constitution of the League of Nations, unless it be materially amended, will establish the British empire in the hegemony of the world," as "it will destroy the Monroe Doctrine," was the assertion of Senator Medill McCormick, of Illinois, in a statement today.

"The apologists for the draft constitution," Senator McCormick said, "although they have denied the truth of some statements, are driven elaborately to explain away the meaning which the critics of the constitution find clearly in it and most notably in Articles 7, 8 and 19, together with the group 12 to 16 inclusive."

"As 'each of the high contracting parties shall have but one vote' (Article 2), we must note (Article 7) that 'admission to the League of States . . . shall be limited to fully self-governing countries, including dominions and colonies.' All the colonies of the world are not half as many as those of the British empire."

Will Have Six Votes.

"Crown colonies and dominions, included in this Western Hemisphere alone, there are ten under the British flag. But at the moment the point which it is important to understand is that there are no 'fully self-governing' colonies or dominions except those of the British empire, and that these number five."

"Thus Britain with her colonies will have six votes when all the other countries, 'from the United States, with a continental population of a hundred million, to Honduras with a population of five hundred thousand, each will have one vote."

"Considering that the United States has a self-governing population twice as great as the self-governing population of the British empire one Englishman in the league will have twelve times the voice of one American."

ROAD PETITIONERS TO BE DISAPPOINTED

Part of the petitioners who ask for twenty-eight miles of new roads to be built this year by the county under the county unit bill are to be disappointed, says County Auditor Howard Brooks.

Estimated cost of the roads, the Hagerstown road to the county line, the Boston pike, and two others, is somewhere near $300,000. Under the new law the county can issue bonds for road-building up to 2 per cent of the county valuation, which at the present figure would be about $500,000.

Under the increased valuation expected next year by the new tax law, the amount which could be used for roads would be far greater, but the county then would run up against the clause of the law saying that no taxes shall be greater than those the year before.

The county commissioners and the county council will decide which of the roads are most needed and build them section by section. Many petitioners really do not believe the county can build the road they ask for this year, but filed the petitions so that the preliminary steps would be taken when the time came when the roads could be built.

In any case, the county commissioners and the county council probably would not consider issuing the limit in county bonds, but would prefer to issue smaller amounts of bonds and build the roads year by year, say county officials.
