

AIR SERVICE TO BE MADE FOURTH ARM OF DEFENSE

1,700 Airplanes to be Placed in Commission With Reserve of 3,400.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 3.—Army reorganization plans upon which the War Department is now working, it was learned today, provide for an air service with approximately 1,700 airplanes in actual commission and a minimum available reserve of 3,400 additional planes. This is based upon the proposed military establishment of 500,000 men, in which total the air service personnel will be 1,923 officers and 21,853 men.

The organization tables show that the air forces on a peace basis will be comprised of eighty-seven service squadrons, of which forty-two will be assigned to coast defense work in the United States and insular possessions; twenty will be pursuit squadrons and twenty-five observation and bombing squadrons. The typical army airplane squadron includes eighteen planes in service and their personnel.

The tables also call for the maintenance of forty-two balloon companies, divided into three wings of four-teen companies each.

General Army Plan.
The general plan of the army reorganization calls for twenty-one divisions, including one cavalry unit of nine regiments, to be formed into fire army corps, each to be commanded by a lieutenant general. To each corps will be attached five observation and bombing squadrons of airplanes and four pursuit squadrons, representing a wing formation for each type of machine.

The effect of this will be to give the air service definite recognition as the fourth arm of the line, or combat forces of the army, the others being the old trio of artillery, cavalry and infantry. All other units are supplemental forces, generally known as auxiliary or staff corps troops.

U. S. FLAG RAISED OVER GERMAN FORTRESS FOR FIRST TIME

Stars and Stripes being raised over Ehrenbreitstein, German fortress, by Colonel McCabe of Seventeenth U. S. artillery, army of occupation, below, and part of Seventeenth drilling before fortress.

Another interesting chapter in the closing pages of the world war history was written when the American flag was raised over a German fortress. This is the first time in history that the Stars and Stripes has flown above a German stronghold. The flag was raised over Ehrenbreitstein, fortress on the historic Rhine. A part of the U. S. army of occupation now occupies the fortress and drills daily around it. Colonel McCabe of the Seventeenth U. S. artillery, which is quartered there, raised the flag the first time.

DRYS AND COX CLASH OVER CRABBE BILL

COLUMBUS, April 3.—Efforts to pass the Crabbe prohibition enforcement bill as an emergency measure so that it will be effective May 27, the date on which the prohibition amendment becomes operative, developed Wednesday into a fight between dry Republican leaders of the assembly and Governor Cox.

The net developments of the day are: A conference of dry house members with the governor at which the governor is said to have refused to interfere in the passage of the emergency clause; withdrawal of the motion to reconsider the vote on the emergency clause in the house; statements issued by Representative Crabbe and Governor Cox in which each criticized the other; announcement by dry leaders that an attempt will be made to attach the emergency clause in the senate when the Crabbe bill comes up for a vote at 2 o'clock Tuesday; introduction in the senate of a substitute prohibition enforcement administrative bill taking the appointment of the prohibition commissioner from the governor and lodging it with the attorney general.

Small Boys' Worm Farm Does Thriving Business

(By Associated Press)
INDIANAPOLIS, April 3.—This is a worm story and it concerns fishermen, angle worms, three boys and the unusual but profitable business in which the lads are engaged. All the facts scrambled together and the result—The Worm Farm Company, of Indianapolis; Mike Cain, aged 12, president. Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Cain of this city.
Three years ago the boys who were playmates, were offered a dime by a local merchant to get him a quart of angle worms. That was their start, their suggestion of the present business, and during the seasons for angle worms since then they have built up a trade, which last year called for them to supply about ten gallons of worms a week to fishermen. At the close of the 1918 season they decided to form a company and announcements were sent to customers last week that the company would supply the worms to the trade this year.

A "worm farm" has been developed into a highly organized institution. It is located in the back yard of the president. The worms are fed at regular intervals and cared for as a farmer would his livestock or a poultry fancier his chickens. Almost every day the boys add to the stock on hand by digging in places where experience has taught them worms are certain to be found. After a rain, before the worms have had time to get off the cement walks, the boys gather them by the bucketful. Saturdays are devoted to getting out the Sunday orders of fishermen.

If one wants ordinary worms he can get them cheaper than he can "the big stripped, fat ones," which the company advertises as choice and the ones fish in nearby creeks and rivers like best. The "choice" stock is retailed at ten cents a quart more than the ordinary worms.

The company pays no taxes, no rent, has bought only an occasional spade or bucket, and has no financial losses. However, the president said he is not certain some of the worms have not crawled away.

"Come to Indiana to fish," is the company's motto.

As his contribution to the war cause, a barber of Brighton, England, gave 70,000 free shaves and haircuts to soldiers in the local hospitals.

Watterson Leaves Paper as Result of League Difference

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 3.—The Louisville Courier-Journal last night announced that Henry Watterson, the newspaper's editor since 1868, and editor emeritus since last August, had requested his retirement. Mr. Watterson recently passed his seventy-ninth birthday.

The newspaper said that the editor's action was partly due to his variance with the Courier-Journal officials on the proposed league of nations, he, the paper says, being against the proposal, while the officials favor the issue.
