Bostonia Club; Real Musicians and Real People; Crowd Tent

By EMMA L. FETTA
ENSEMBLE and solo work of the highest type, and attractively arranged programs are the attractions of the nationally known Bostonia Sextette Club has given the chautauqua. Arriving in the city in time for a sunset concert

Thursday afternoon they compelled the complete attention and delight of the large audience which waited for them. Again in the evening they captivated the crowd.

Twenty-two years ago in Boston the Bostonia Sextette Club was organized by its director, C. L. Staats, who himself is perhaps one of the best known clarinet players in the country and the possessor of an enviable career, in America as a member of Sousa's Band and the Boston Symphony orchestra, in Italy, in London, in Paris, and at the great Casino in Ostend.

Staats was playing with the Boston Symphony orchestra at the time of the organization of his little band of musical artists who at present include John Murray, violin; Edwin Biron, violin; E. Erickson, viola; F. W. J. Lewis, cello, and G. G. Sawyer, bass.

The interpretative abilities of the Sextette and their programs are a rare treat to Richmond, which has not had an orchestra of note, large or small since the appearance of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra several years ago, although the French Military Band here last winter did.

Miss Helen Thompson returned to her home in Chicago today after a visit with relatives here. She was accompanied home by her grandmother, Mrs. C. F. Walters.

Miss Stella Knodt went to Economy for a few days visit with relatives there.

As a courtesy to Mrs. Martha Hiss of Earlham, who leaves next week for residence in Springfield, O., members of the Aftermath club gave a delightful picnic this afternoon on the Earlham campus. A picnic supper will be served about 6 o'clock. Covers will be laid for about thirty guests, including club members and their guests.

some work which was worthy of the title orchestra.

Miss Lora May Lampert, vocal soloist of the sextette, possess a beautiful soprano voice. Miss Lampert has had considerable experience and for some time has been appearing in the Jewish Synagogue in Boston.

In the afternoon the overture was from "Tantalusquale" and was followed by "The Last Dream of the Virgin" by Massenet. Both of these charming numbers were received with delight.

A fascinating number, A. Czibulka's "Fly Minuet," preceded the solos of Miss Lampert who sang, "Neath the Autumn Moon," by Frederick M. Vandepool and encored with Densmore's, "The American Girl," and a "darky" number.

Perhaps the most attractive sextette number of the afternoon was the "Vision" particularly suited to the open and the cathedral of trees under which the chautauque tent stands.

Victor Herbert's, "The Fortune Teller," closed the afternoon program.

Evening Program Enjoyed.
The overture from Herold's "Ludovic" opened the evening program and displayed to splendid advantage the technique of the players, and their tone quality. This was followed by two quintette numbers, "La Vierge de la Vierge" (The Watch of the Guardian Angel) by Pierre, and Laney's "Evening Breeze" (The Blue Mediterranean), by F. Volpatti.

"The Winds of the South," by Scott, Miss Lampert.

Staats played the "Cavatina" from "Gilda" by Adam, for his evening's solo and did himself justice. Staats is said to have first introduced the clarinet in America and one can well believe it as he plays for his is a masterful, experienced technique. His encore, given after a clamorous appeal from the audience, was "Conzonetta" by Pierre.

Miss Lampert's solo of the evening was Stern's well loved "Spring Song." Her encore was "Mighty Lak a Rose," by Nevin, and forced back by her audience she responded again with, "A Bowl of Roses," by R. Clark.

Mr. Murray, the violin soloist of the organization appeared in a rippling number, "The Butterfly," by Hubay. Runs, double stops, arpeggios, trills and high positioned workmanship are nothing to Mr. Murray, who plays with skill, ease and soul. He responded with Ordia's "Souvenir," a charming number.

Old Southern Airs.

Every instrument had its time and melody in an arrangement of Southern airs which followed. The number was arranged by the Sextette Club 18 years ago, and according to Staats has met with popularity throughout the country. It is melodious and well handled. It includes Old Black Joe, My Old Kentucky Home, Down on the Swannee River, Dixie, and other of the best known songs which are up in turn by the clarinet, the violin, the cello and the viola, followed by interesting variations.

Mr. Lewis's cello solo was "Serenade Radin" a well known number which he handled with ability and finest of tone. His encore was "To a Wild Rose," by McDowell, which met with more success.

Miss Lampert returned in "Pack Clouds Away," by McFarren, a lighter, but melodious number, to which Mr. Staats played a clarinet obligato. Her encore was "Flower on the Way," by Abt, a charming little number, also obligato by the clarinet.

The last two numbers included, "A Petit Pas Marcietta" by Sudess, and "La Tarantella," by Jakobowski, both well handled.

Friday's Programs

Friday afternoon the Sextette was to present the following program:

Overture—La Pre Aux Clercs," by Herold.

"The Poet's Dream," by Solomonon;

string quintette,

"Minuet," by L. Boccherini.

"Serenade Nocturne," (The Blue Mediterranean), by F. Volpatti.

"The Winds of the South," by Scott, Miss Lampert.

The AEOLIAN VOCALION

The Phonograph Made By Musical Experts For Musical People

AMONG the numbers of the Aeolian Company's staff are the world's masters in the art of musical instrument building. The magnificent Pipe-organs built by this firm—the most pretentious and costliest instruments ever constructed—are installed in hundreds of the palaces of Europe and residences of wealth in this country.

The Steinway and the Weber Duo-Art Pianos and Pianolas are unapproached in the realm of the piano-forte. All the productions of this great house are distinctive, distinguished and supreme, each in its field.

The Aeolian-Vocalion is far more than has hitherto been conveyed by the word "phonograph." It is a true musical instrument, designed for, and appealing to, people of cultured taste and discernment.

Its tone has the richness, depth, purity and beauty that people with such taste demand and appreciate. Its cases exhibit the simplicity of true art, the appropriateness to their surroundings, that only knowledge and experience in fine instrument designing can produce.

Its many important and exclusive features, such as the Graduola, giving personal control of tone effects; the Universal Tone-Arm, giving access to all the different standard makes of records, and the Automatic Stop, providing a simple and precise means for starting the music and stopping it at desired points; all add their value to the sum of its completeness.

The three instruments illustrated above exemplify the tastefulness and distinction of Vocalion cases. That in the center is Period Model No. 1497 in William & Mary design. Its price is $340. The instrument on the left is Conventional Model No. 600, Price $225. The one on the right is No. 800, Price $350.

Conventional models of the Vocalion cost, with the Graduola, from $115 upwards; without Graduola from $50. There are many beautiful Period Models from $240 upwards. All prices subject to change.
