

JOHN E. FRIES TO BE H. S. COACH, IS BADE ANNOUNCEMENT

John E. Fries has been added to the local high school faculty as mathematics instructor and basketball coach, Principal Bade, announced Saturday morning.

Fries, who has been connected with Carroll College, Waukesha, Wis., for the last five years as mathematics instructor and basketball and football coach, comes to Richmond with a very high record as an athlete and instructor in mathematics.

He received a bachelor's degree from Carroll in 1910, and is a student graduate of the University of Illinois. He was teacher of mathematics and coach of athletics in the Marshfield, Wis., high school, 1910 and '11. Head of the mathematics department and athletic coach at the Kankakee, Ill., high school, 1911 to 1914.

The local high school feels very fortunate in securing Fries in the capacity of basketball coach, and the heads of the school believe that with his services, R. H. S. will be put back on the map in basketball this year. Fries' basketball team at Marshfield, Wis., won the championship one year and were runners-up the second year.

He turned out high class football and basketball teams each year at Kankakee. As a college coach he was tied two years for the state basketball title, won it one year and was always near the top. In foot ball he led the college team to the championship in 1914, and landed them in second place in 1915.

Japanese to Reform Hawaii School System

(By Associated Press)
HONOLULU, T. H., August 23.—Reforms in the Japanese language school system of Hawaii were decided upon here at a conference of forty-five teachers. The Japanese educators plan to Americanize the schools and to stress the work of inculcating American ideals in their pupils while retaining the privilege of studying their own language and culture.

The establishment of a normal school for Japanese teachers, with at least part of the staff to be composed of Americans, is to be taken up immediately. It was unanimously agreed that more attention must be paid in the Japanese schools to the teaching of American history, ideals and customs, and the English language.

The issue was clearly presented to the teachers by R. Morol, Japanese consul general, who declared that if the Japanese are to retain their privileges of teaching the Japanese language, they will have to do it in such a way as to satisfy Americans in Hawaii. He said the Japanese schools could be so maintained that there could be no fear of disloyalty to the United States, and that the schools must be so conducted.

In the last territorial legislature two measures were introduced for the regulation of foreign language schools in Hawaii; both bills were killed. The Japanese claimed their enacting would force them to close their schools and promised, if given time, to work out a system that would meet any objections.
