HOW WEAK WOMEN ARE MADE STRONG

Mrs. Westmoreland Tells in the Following Letter.

Harrison, N. Y.—"When my first child was born I did not know about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and had a very hard time. I read in the newspaper about the Vegetable Compound and when my second child came I took it and was well during the whole time, and childbirth was a hundred times easier. Ever since then I have used it for any weakness and would not be without it for the world. I do all my work and am strong and healthy. I am nursing my baby, and I still take the Vegetable Compound as it keeps a woman in good health. You may publish my testimonial for the good of other women, if you choose to do so."—Mrs. C. WESTMORELAND, Harrison, N. Y.

Women who suffer from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, headaches and nervousness should lose no time in giving this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pears which are ripe but not yet soft are best for canning. Peel, and with large pears, halve and remove core. Small ones can be packed whole with stem on. Blanch by lowering for 15 seconds in boiling water and then put for an instant in cold bath. Drain and place one layer with stems up and the second layer with stems down in jars which have been boiled for 15 minutes. Space is saved by this method of packing.

When the jars have been packed with fruit, fill to overflowing with a syrup made to suit the individual taste. An excellent one is made of 7 cups of sugar to 4 quarts of water. Boil and skim. Put in place rubber which has been cleansed in a hot soda solution (1 teaspoon baking soda in one quart of water), and boiled cover. Tighten cover about half way.

Place jars on false bottom in water bath canner with water sufficient to cover them. Process for 25 minutes after the water starts to boil vigorously. Remove, tighten top, test for leaks, and store in a cool, dry place.—United States Department of Agriculture.

Make Your Candied Fruit

Fruit which is to be candied should be washed, peeled or pared if necessary, and then cut or sliced. Drop fruit into boiling water for two or three minutes, drain well and cover with a syrup made by boiling together one pound of sugar for each pound of fruit, with one cup of water. Boil fruit rapidly in this syrup for 15 minutes. Remove from the fire and allow to stand overnight. The next morning boil for 10 or 15 minutes again. Repeat the heating and cooling for 4 to 6 days according to how rapidly the water is drawn out and the syrup absorbed. When the fruit is transparent and bright lift it from the syrup and dry in the sun or in cool oven.

It is estimated that the number of new dwelling houses required in the United Kingdom will be 300,000.
