

PATRIOTISM IN TIME OF PEACE URGED BY HAYES

Consider Only Country's Welfare, He Appeals—Predicts G. O. P. Victory.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 28.—A ringing call for patriotism during the trials of the early area of peace, the same whole-souled, magnificent patriotism shown during time of war, was made by Chairman Will H. Hays of the Republican national committee, speaking at a big rally of Republicans at Norumbega park today. Mr. Hays declared that at present there is no time for petty carping and criticism, and he urged his hearers to face the problems of the country fearlessly and patriotically, with only the country's welfare at heart.

The speaker predicted a sweeping victory by the Republican party at the coming election and expressed the conviction that the people everywhere are looking to the Republican party as the country's only means of salvation for the meeting of the intricate problems now confronting the nation.

An incessant downpour of rain did not dampen the ardor of 4,000 of the faithful who gathered at the park to hear Mr. Hays and other noted Republican speakers. When Mr. Hays arrived at the park he was greeted with applause, and this applause was renewed when he mounted the speaker's rostrum.

Pleads for Patriotism

After lauding Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts and urging his re-election, Mr. Hays said in part:

"I plead for the patriotism in peace as well as in war. I insist that we as Americans haven't merely that patriotism born of extremities, which burns in the souls of men only when their country is in danger, but the patriotism of good citizenship, at a fireside, the plow, the mart, in low places and in high places, in season and out of season let us have the patriotism, which moves men to make their country's welfare their own business and in prosaic times of peace interest themselves intelligently in the practical politics of their community. Good government is possible in no other way."

"I have an abiding faith that there will be an awakened sense of civic duty as one of the by-products of this war. Hundreds of thousands of men and women, who had no inclination, and thought they had not time, to take the slightest interest in their government, arose in the most splendid spirit and unselfishly carried the burden of the war work."

Wants Interest Kept Up

"If some small part of the same interest in their country can be maintained, some small part of the time they have been giving is still given by them in thought and action to the business of their country, it will bring the situation an impetus for untold good."

"Most earnestly I urge that this great new value, this big national asset, which has lately been developed, shall not be lost. I urge that this army of men and women who have been the splendid war workers in every corner of the country, now realize that they have a duty in peace, as well as in war; that their country needs their continuing interest, and this continuing interest they owe to their country's welfare."

Miss Penick Scores Hits in Appearance

Miss Margaret Penick, known as "the youngest teacher in the oldest school" was a decided success in her appearance on the Richmond chautauqua stage. Miss Penick possesses high ability as a reader, versatility, and a well-trained voice.

On Wednesday morning Miss Penick appeared before the teachers' institute the wooing scene from the "Taming of the Shrew" and the court scene from "The Merchant of Venice."

A total success was "Peg O' My Heart," that charming play of the past few seasons, which the reader gave Wednesday afternoon.

GLEN SCHOOLS ASKS CLEMENCY OF BOARD

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 28—Among applications for clemency filed with the state board of pardons, for consideration at its next meeting which begins September 22, is that of George Schools, of Wayne county, who was sentenced to the state prison for life for murder September 11, 1913.

The last day for filing petitions for hearing at the next meeting of the board is September 12.

Self and Environment, Subjects of Bryan's Talk

"There are just two classes of people in this world, those who are temperamentally constructed to feel that the will to do will accomplish anything in this world, and those who feel that their success in life is largely determined by the circumstances with which they are associated," said President Elmer Bryan of Colgate university in his morning lecture before the Wayne County Teachers' institute.

"These two classes of people practically take these innate theories to be their philosophies of life," said Bryan.

"The inheritance of a baby influences the general direction and the limits to which the man to be will go; while the environment of the growing child influences the specific direction in which the man will go," said the institute Thursday morning.

He said all teachers cannot be ideal, but that it is the duty of every teacher to make himself successful and when he is successful he has become as near ideal as any teacher since the greatest of all, Jesus Christ.

"Often I find that some teachers find it embarrassing to be teachers. People have a way of saying that they can always tell a teacher when they see them. I feel that it would be a honor to be a successful teacher."

Howard Brooks, county auditor, known who was hardest hit by the ruling of the state tax board increasing tax valuations in Wayne county.

The county auditor is the real goat, according to Brooks. With the tax board's order, is the ruling that in the increase of personal property, that part of personal property of taxpayers, which is represented by actual cash or by securities of a stated value, are not to be considered in the raise.

In order to make the change, therefore, the auditor and his assistants have to go over every tax assessment sheet and deduct the amount of cash and other securities noted on page one of the assessment sheet from the personal property valuations, before the 20 per cent increase is added.

Four deputies are assisting the auditor in making the change in the tax books.

QUALITIES OF GOOD TEACHER NAMED BY JAMES L. M'BRIEN

"The essential qualities of a successful teacher are appreciation of work, character, prudent conduct, scholarship, professional training, inspiration, patience, self control, common sense and faith in boys and girls," said James L. McBrien of Washington, D. C., a member of the special bureau on education, in discussing his subject, "The Ideal Teacher," before the Wayne County Teachers' institute Thursday.

"These two classes of people practically take these innate theories to be their philosophies of life," said Bryan.

"The inheritance of a baby influences the general direction and the limits to which the man to be will go; while the environment of the growing child influences the specific direction in which the man will go," said the institute Thursday morning.

SERVICE MEN MAY HUNT AND FISH; NO LICENSE IS NEEDED

Ex-service men, who were in either the army, navy or marine corps during the recent war with Germany, may hunt and fish in Indiana without a state license, according to an interpretation of a law passed by the 1919 legislature, made yesterday by State Attorney General Ele Stansbury.

The new law provided that all men who were in the service during the war with Germany shall have and enjoy all the privileges accorded to veterans of any of the former wars, and all privileges enjoyed by the widows and orphans of other war veterans shall be accorded to widows and or
