

NEXT WEEK AT THE THEATERS

WASHINGTON.

If you were the cast off bride of a youth whose millionaire parents had sworn to destroy you would you admit an "affair" of which you were innocent to spare the mother of your husband the humiliation of an exposure. Annie Sands (Alice Joyce) faces this problem and how she meets it is one of the great dramatic successes in "The Third Degree." Vitagraph's picturization of the famous Charles Klein stage success which will be seen in the Washington theatre on Wednesday and Thursday.

Annie already has saved the youth who married her when she was a waitress in a popular restaurant, of a murder of which he was innocent but to which he was forced to plead guilty through the torture of the police third degree.

Miss Joyce has one of her strongest roles as star in the great drama which was directed by Tom Terriss. The supporting cast is made up of Gladys James, Anders Randolph, Miss Hilda Hoppe, Herbert Evans, George Backus, J. T. Wade, L. Rogers Lytton and Edward McGuire.

MURRAY.

John Philip Sousa has traveled farther and given more concerts than any other musician in the course of his career during the past twenty-two years. He has visited twenty-five countries, given 10,000 concerts, traveled 650,000 miles, and delighted millions of people. His audiences have often been vast in numbers, at times reaching the almost incredible figure of 100,000 persons in one day. The soloists will be heard with the band here at Murray theatre on October 4.

WASHINGTON.

Dorothy Phillips' first Jewel picture, since the memorable "Heart of Humanity," will be seen Sunday, Monday and Tuesday next at the Washington theatre. It is called "Destiny," and it is based on a widely-read novel by Charles Neville Buck, the noted author. "Destiny" presents several novelties. In the first place, the leading man, William Stowell, is Miss Phillips' brother instead of the customary sweetheart, the latter part being played by Harry Hilliard, once Theda Bara's leading man.

In the second place, the picture presents parallel lines of action, starting from the same point and arriving at widely separated conclusions, as in the stage technique of such present-day playwrights as Max Marcin, Samuel Shipman and Channing Pollock.

"Destiny," in its main line of progress, shows the results of Stowell's overweening lust for power and determination to conquer the world. This ambition, presented in a laudable light at first, is gradually transformed into an evil thing which wrecks the lives of those dearest to him and his own. Then the alternative development of the theme is shown.

The picture is presented with an admirable cast, including beside those already named, Gertrude Astor, Sophie Wheatcroft, Walt Whitman, Sam Shore, Tom Ashton, Naomie Wright, Allen Sears and Lidae Sheldon. It was directed by Rollin Sturgeon from a scenario by Elliott J. Clawson.

MURRAY.

When a big novelty act, like Chief Little Elk and Company, a trio of talented Sioux Indians are booked at the Murray, it is to be regretted they cannot play the full three days but owing to the bookings of Nell O'Brien's Minstrels this act will only play two days, Monday and Tuesday. This act consists of two women and one man presenting an interesting offering consisting of an instrumental music, singing and characteristic Indian costumes. Chief Little Elk received his education at the Carlisle School and is recognized as a master cellist and an excellent vocalist. It requires an act of merit and ability to play Churchill's Cabaret on Broadway, New York, for one whole season but this is the record held by Hanlon and Clifton, who will be seen in their act "The Unexpected." Van and Pearce "Two Dainty Delights" are also on the bill.

On the screen will appear Albert Ray, the youthful Fox star who is fast gaining in popularity in his comedy, "Love is Love." Headlining the bill opening Thursday for the last half will be the big time Kleth feature act Jack Kennedy and Company, one of the best comedy acts playing the larger Kleth houses. This act fills in some open time coming direct from the Hippodrome, Cleveland, Ohio, to the Murray, and opening the following Monday, after their engagement here, at the Majestic Theatre Chicago. Special settings are carried, and this act is the highest type of vaudeville and is the best obtainable.

There will be no advance in prices.

Appearing with them will be Whelton and Potter in their comedy skit "A Phonie Episode," and the Monroe Brothers, "Bouncing Comedians."

For the last half the show feature will be Lila Lee in her latest Paramount production "The Heart of Youth" a five reel feature. Seats are now selling for Nell O'Brien's Minstrels, next Wednesday, matinee and evening, and Sousa's Band, Saturday, matinee only.

MURRAY.

Feuds between neighbors are fairly common and usually abound in ludicrous comedy, though the feuds frequently refuse to see the joke.

One of these "spite fence" quarrels forms the basis for Lee's new Paramount pictures, "The Heart of Youth" which is to be the attraction at the Murray theatre next Thursday. A farmer and a city man on the adjoining plot have a standing argument over the title of a spring, which provides the latter with his water supply. Lila Lee is the pretty granddaughter of the farmer who complicates matters by falling in love with his enemy's son. However, their another one of Mr. O'Brien's original ideas, a song and dance composed of song and dances, which is said to be quite out of the ordinary and very unique in character, there being a vein of humor throughout the entire number.

Bert Swor, who is without a doubt, America's premier monologuist, will again make his appearance in new songs and jokes. "The Potato Peeler," another new sketch written by Nell O'Brien, and said to be screamingly funny, dealing with a negro just out of the service who cannot be convinced that the truth is best in all cases. A finale called "The League of Explanations," and which enlists the strength of the entire company, is said to be Mr. O'Brien's best effort in writing black-face comedy acts.

MURRAY.

One of the most thrilling screen stories of the current season is that told in "The Lady of Red Butte," Dorothy Dalton's latest Thomas H. Ince Paramount photoplay, which will be shown at the Murray theatre tonight and Sunday.

An intolerant preacher, almost overcome by thirst, staggers into a town almost forsaken, that nestles in the desert. He receives a glass of water from Faro Fan, a girl owner of a dance hall—she is played by Miss Dalton, which awakens pleasant memories of her remarkable interpretation in "The Flame of the Yonkton."

Later, learning her social position, this preacher denounces her and calls upon God to visit his wrath upon the town, and especially the dance hall. Faro Fan is cured from over-worked little children in her home above the dance hall, and as they are crippled and ill, she pits her soul power against his, and in her crude way prays God to save her children.

A fire breaks out in the village and the minister believes his prayer has been answered by a sudden change of wind turns the course of the flames and the dance hall is the only building in the town that is saved from destruction. A blow on the head restores the evangelist to reason, and in the struggle against the ravages of thirst and hunger he becomes a common sufferer with Faro Fan. While she watches the fever stricken little children he crosses the desert and brings food and medicine that restores all to health and happiness and all new features.

The company is said to be particularly strong this year in its singing contingent, and the very latest song hits are included in their repertoire. There will be a host of singers, comedians and dancers, and many new and novel features; among these is

Camp Knox Probably Will Be Abandoned, Is Claim

(By Associated Press)
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 27.—Whether Camp Knox, St.ithion, Ky., is to be abandoned by the War Department as an artillery center will be decided by Congress and the war department when a report is submitted to the house military affairs committee by a sub-committee which made a tour of inspection of the cantonment yesterday.

Fourteen army officers who accompanied the committee favored retention of the cantonment as did a number of the representatives. It is thought however, that Camp Knox will be abandoned as construction work ceased last June and at least $2,000,000 is said to be needed for its completion.
