

LIVE STOCK PRICES JUMP DURING WEEK, BUT ENDS ON LOW

BY WILLIAM R. SANBORN

The high spot on the hog map on Saturday was East Buffalo, N. Y., where the peak price, $16.25, topped Indianapolis an even $1. Pittsburgh was a close second at $16.10 for top, these being the only two markets this side of the seaboard where hogs brought $16 or better at the week-end.

Indianapolis buyers considered that Friday prices on hogs were too high for parity with other markets, and so they jumped on the market on Saturday, right at the opening. Good choice light hogs, which brought up to $15.75 on Thursday and Friday quit at $15.25 on Saturday, while choice heavies lost 35c at $15.15 for high, compared with $15.50 on Friday.

The receipts at Indianapolis were heavy at 15,000, against but 6,562 on the previous Saturday, but at that, heavy and medium weights were but 10c under, and lights at exactly the same figure as on Saturday, Jan. 10. The Cincinnati market ruled on a parity with Indianapolis prices, while the receipts at Cincinnati were but 6,000 head.

Hogs opened weak at Chicago on Saturday, but closed firm with a part of the loss regained. The top on the day was $15.15, or 35c under the high spot of the week, but also 15c above the top on Saturday, Jan. 10. The week's average price at $14.85, was the highest in three months. Large shipping orders cleaned up the pens at Chicago on Saturday and some of the packers were unable to supply their needs.

Large receipts at Chicago. Including 9,000 carried over, there were 13,000 hogs in the Chicago pens on Monday, whereat prices tumbled. These were the second largest Monday receipts in more than a year, and 17,000 hogs were unsold at the close of the market, many arriving late. The average price, $14.47, was 66c below that of the previous Monday, but it will be noted that the average climbed up later in the week.

The average price of lambs in Chicago last week, $19.25, were $3 per hundred over the range for the same week last year, while cattle, at $14, were $1.75 below last year's average price in same week, and hogs ruled $2.50 per hundred below same week in 1919.

Cattle worked unevenly lower in all markets. Steers showed a net loss of from 50c to $1, at Indianapolis, while cows and heifers showed declines of 25c to 50c on the week. A handful of top veals sold at $21 while the bulk of the good to choice ranged at $19 to $20 on Saturday. Good to best lambs sold on a level with good veals, the top on Saturday being $20. Prime steers at Chicago on Saturday ranged at from $17.25 to $18.25, a considerable drop from recent outside prices. Top cattle sold at $18.50 and best lambs at $19.75 on the high day, in Chicago last week.

RECEIPTS AT GLEN MILLER.
The receipts at Glen Miller were on an increasing scale last week, and in spite of considerable seasawing of prices at the various live stock centers prices ruled steady, locally.

With reference to the decline in hogs, generally, Rome Shurley said on Monday: "As predicted last week, it was found that there were still too many hogs back in the country to maintain last week's prices, after the roads were broken. Hogs arrived in large numbers at all points and prices softened accordingly, each day from Thursday on."

"The 633 head we took in during the week sold practically at the same price, $14.50 per hundred, which proved to be but 50 cents under the range at Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Chicago. Corn fed cattle steady and lower on other grades; calves, firm at from $10 to $15; lambs scarce and very high, ranging up to 15 cents over our scales."

Sample Hog Sales.
Of the hogs delivered during last half of the week 96 head delivered on Thursday cost $2,426; and 61 head weighing 17,440 pounds cost $2,458. On Friday two lots weighed in at 16,330 and 18,970 pounds, respectively. Total, 61 and 114 head. The 61 head brought $2,347 and the 114 sold for $2,748, including a lot of lights and pigs. Two lots of 96 head, one of 31 and one of 74 head were weighed in on Saturday, the two lots of 95 head bringing $2,322 and $2,330, respectively. The latter amount being paid for a lot weighing 19,650 pounds. Thirty-one head, weighing 16,220 pounds, a tidy bunch, netted the seller $2,330, and 74 head brought $2,524.

Elmer Reid, of New Paris, made the largest delivery of hogs at the Glen last week. He trucked in 70 hogs on Monday and took away a check for $2,589.75. Milt Pence, Edward Midgley, Charles Dunn and Hawley Lawrence of New Paris, divided $2,802 between them on a total of 96 hogs.

Thirty-four sows sold well, bringing $1,397 and 57 head of the heaviest $920. Hogs sold at $15.00 on Monday and a few at $14.00 during the low time.

List of Shippers.
Among those shipping to the Glen last week were: E. M. Reid, W. C. Baird, W. A. Moody, Frank Puthoff, W. D. Rich, Everett Reid, D. W. Foster, Edward Eubank, O. E. Fudge, Harry Osborn, Omar Harrison, Lee Parks, G. W. Bennett, S. S. Burkett, O. Cranor, Charles Showalter, Frank Southern, Elmer Wade, Elmer Harrison, J. D. Snedeker, Homer Bell, W. Payne, W. A. Morrow, W. F. Reid, J. A. Cator, Fred Anderson, Oscar White, J. L. Stevens, Fred Brown, Elmer Font, Harry Varnau, W. O. Seane, E. A. Petty, T. L. Branson, George Weller, Ivan Moore, Abner Bulla, Grant Larsh, Frank Hodgins, Thomas Kenworthy, Harold Ryan, Warner Sheffer, Miles Shute, Wm. Flatley, Henry Puthoff, William Lipscomb, C. W. Crawford, Ray Chenoweth, Paul Hunt.

TO PLAY PRACTICE GAME.

The Reds have not scheduled any games so far this season, and the workout tomorrow night will be their first attempt against any organized five. The Tigers have been playing all season, and are developing a fast aggregation.

SOME HOGS--The Grand Champion Hampshires

THE above picture represents a drove of 609 head of 350-pound Hampshire hogs at ten months old, bred and fed by J. M. Ballard, Marion, Ind., from which Mr. Ballard intended to select two carloads of 500-pound perfectly belted Hampshires for the Chicago International, 1919. His plans were destroyed by an order that no car of hogs could weigh over 350 pounds each at the Chicago show in 1919.

Therefore these hogs found their way to the packers at ten months old instead of going to the International at thirteen months old, while they were gaining two pounds per day.

The winner of the 1919 car was

Gus Meyers of Elwood, Ind. After considerable difficulty in picking his smallest instead of his largest hogs, he made the grade and won the first prize.

"It is a fact that it was impossible to keep the Hampshire hogs down to the weight for the same age that the other breeds had a good deal of trouble in attaining," says Mr. E. C. Stone, secretary American Hampshire Swine Record association. "In the first place the managers of the breeds insisted that the weights should be only 350 pounds at one year old. This, of course, ruled out eight cars of Hampshire hogs that would have been about fourteen months old at the time of the show because every hog weighed 500 pounds or more. Mr. Meyers in order to get his hogs small enough was compelled to take on some December and January pigs in order to bring his car down to the standard set by other breeds.

"This is considered one of the best advertisements ever pulled off for the benefit of the Hampshire breed. While others were doing their best to get as close to the 350-pound limit as they possibly could the Hampshire breeders were all doing their level best to keep their hogs under the 350-pound limit, if possible. This is because the Hampshires grow so very rapidly and are so thrifty and healthy.

"One of the sensational features of the 1919 Chicago International was the Hampshire hog exhibit. Hog men will remember in 1918 that everybody said: 'Have you seen that big car of Hampshire hogs? It's the best car that ever came to the International.' This year they all said: 'Have you seen that car of hogs that they had to sort back three times in order to get them down to 350 pounds, which was the maximum weight?'

"If the minimum were 350 pounds instead of the maximum the Hampshires would take all the heavy car prizes as well."

Boxing Tourney Here Promises to Be Best Ever

Next Monday night's boxing tourney promises to be the best pugilistic exhibition pulled off in Richmond for a number of seasons. Local fans have grown disgusted, but the coming scrap is expected to restore confidence in the fight game.

The 10 round bout between Frankie Nessler and Jimmie Dalton promises to be replete with thrills. Both boys are top notch scrappers and carry a knock out punch. A knock out will be hard for either to land as both are extremely clever.

The Druley-Walters scrap will be Fayette against Wayne county. Druley is a product of Centerville and that town will send a delegation to the scrap. Cornersville is enthusiastic over Walters and will be on hand to "talk turkey" to the Centerville contingent.

Bud Wallace may not be listed in Monday night's bill, unless he can make 130 pounds. Wallace has accumulated considerable beef and will take strenuous workouts to scale 130. McCarron, opponent of Wallace, will be on the job. In case Wallace is not able to scrap, another good 130 pounder will be obtained.

Oxford Professor to Head "Teachers Week" Committee

OXFORD, O., Jan. 19.—Dr. Harvey C. Minnich, Dean of Teachers' College, Miami University, has been appointed by Governor Cox chairman of a committee of six prominent educators of the state whose duty shall be to bring about a general observance of the governor's recent proclamation setting aside the week of February 15-22 as "Teachers' Week" throughout the state. The other members of the committee are: John W. Moore, superintendent of schools of Columbiana county; Mrs. Kent Hughes of Lima; Wilson Hawkins, superintendent of the Canton schools, also president of the Ohio State Teachers' association; B. O. Skinner, superintendent of the Marietta schools, and F. C. Landis of Ohio State University, Columbus.

In his proclamation Governor Cox deplores the fact that, owing to disturbed economic conditions, educational progress in Ohio is impeded, and the teaching staff of the public schools is greatly depleted. "Teachers' Week" is for the purpose of generating, by serious thought, consideration and discussion, a deeper sympathy for school work to the end that it be placed upon a higher plane so that it will attract to the work of teaching the very best young people in the state.

The committee will urge all men's and women's organizations in the state, as well as clubs, societies, the pulpit and the press, to observe "Teachers' Week."

Church Missionary Work Expanding, Say Hadley

"Plans for intensive missionary work in every denomination of the country are the outstanding results of the various missionary conferences recently held in the east," said Ross A. Hadley, general secretary of the Foreign Mission board of the Five Years Meeting, upon his return Monday. Although the unanimous conviction of the New Haven Missionary conference advising individual budget enlargements to four times their present status, is not incumbent upon the denomination boards, Mr. Hadley thinks that the new fields opening and maintenance of work in the present fields will probably make such action advisable throughout the churches.

Publicity work for the Inter-Church World Movement is to be managed on a highly efficient basis, said Hadley. He explained that denominational headquarters will be visited regularly by district publicity men.

LABOR WILL FIGHT RED LAW—COMPERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Formal announcement that the American Federation of Labor would oppose "with whatever power it may possess" the enactment of the anti-sedition bills now pending in Congress was made Sunday in a statement issued by Samuel Compers, president of the federation.

The attack of organized labor, its chief aim indicated, will be directed impartially against the Sterling bill, recently passed by the Senate, and against the Graham measure, based on suggestions of Attorney General Palmer and awaiting action by the House rules committee for a special rule to expedite consideration.

Referring to the two measures as one big President Compers declared its enactment "would violate the constitution and rob the whole American people of their most cherished and basic guarantees of free government."

He appeared before the committee in connection with a proposed ordinance to license and regulate sale of wood and denatured alcohol. Only wholesalers who use wood alcohol in their business would be supplied, Mr. Pfeffer said. Denatured alcohol will be put up in a new form and will contain such ingredients and such an odor as to make its use as a drink impossible, he said.
