

NEXT WEEK AT THE THEATERS

WASHINGTON.

David Wark Griffith's new picture production, "Scarlet Days," which will be the attraction at the Washington theatre, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, is a story of California in the gold rush days of '49. It is based largely upon historical facts, as the central figure called Alvarez in the film, is really Joaquin Murieta, a sort of Robin Hood of the west, who used to roam the highways robbing the rich to give to the poor. Around this chivalrous desperado, Mr. Griffith has woven a story said to furnish plenty of thrills and heart interest. The locale is an old-time mining town, where Rosy Nell is queen of the dance hall. She has a daughter in an eastern seminary, ignorant of her mother's past. On the very day the girl returns Rosy becomes involved in a fight with another woman in the hall. Her opponent dies suddenly from heart failure, and Rosy, accused of killing her, is about to be lynched when Alvarez appears and rescues her temporarily. The rest of the story portrays the successful efforts of the bandit and a blue-blood from Virginia to save the girl from the clutches of a bully named Bagley, ending in a desperate fight and the sacrifice of Alvarez.

Richard Barthelmess, who plays the part of Alvarez, has appeared in several big productions. He was the one character so well liked by everyone, in "Broken Blossoms."

Folks, here's an opportunity for you to see a picture that will bring forth the laughs in great abundance. Everyone knows Avery Hopwood's stage success, "Fair and Warmer." Whether you ever saw it or not, you can not afford to miss the screen version, which is showing at the Washington theatre, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

May Allison, who plays the part of Blanny Wheeler, and Eugene Pallette as Billy Barlett, decide that their better halves are stepping out too much. They can't help but worry over their loneliness.

Then comes the night of nights, when Blanny's husband attends a meeting of the "Mystic Shrine," and Blanny's wife goes to the opera with another man.

Blanny, who is to spend the evening with Billy, discovers some choice alcoholics, and which was purchased by Billy's wife for her own use. The two proceed to spend the evening in "rude" fashion. After finishing several bottles of champagne, they are ready to "hit the high spots."

Naturally Jack and Laura can't see the situation the same as the two innocents do, and proceedings for a double divorce are in order. But love is a funny thing in this world. Just when everything is the blackest, the silver lining shows up in the dark cloud, and mutual explanations bring about a happy ending.

PALACE.
"The Rider of the Law," featuring Harry Carey, Universal's premier western star, will be seen at the Palace theatre commencing Sunday. As Jim Kyneton, a member of the famous Texas rangers, one the only organization making for law and order that the old Lone Star state knew, Carey has many opportunities for a display of his well known horsemanship. He is forced to arrest his brother, half of the stage surface. This act is called as "A Musical and Bathing Fantasy", as the girls offer a dancing number before entering the tank for their aquatic feats. This act has been prominently featured in all the leading theatres of New York, Chicago and all the larger cities, and is considered one of the best novelty acts in vaudeville.

The Indianapolis Star has the following to say regarding their offering:

Also on the same bill will be Morin in "A Ventriolquist Oddity"; The Stanleys in "Silhouette Fun in Shadowland" and Beatrice Michelena in a stirring picture of the Western dance halls entitled "The Heart of Juanita." In order to offset the immense cost of playing the Little Mayer act, the management will increase the evening admission price to the lower floor five cents, making the total forty cents including war tax, commencing Thursday for this engagement only. Prices for matinees and balconies remain as usual.

MURRAY.

David Belasco himself once played a part in "La Belle Russe," the drama from his own pen which William Fox will present in motion picture form at the Richmond Theatre today with the title "The Heart of Juanita."

The play was playing at the time in Utica, on tour under the management of Frank L. Goodwin with Jeffreys Lewis in the title role. Mr. Belasco, who was stage manager at a theatre in New York, had taken a week off to accompany "La Belle Russe."

When Mr. Belasco arrived in Utica he found Goodwin, the manager, in a panic. Robert Hudson, who played the family lawyer, was ill and there was no one to replace him. Mr. Belasco volunteered to play the part, and was seen that night in his own play for the first, last and only time.

MURRAY.

Lovers of the terpsichorean art and are legion in this city, will have an opportunity of witnessing all the latest dances presented in an artistic by The Terpsichorean Four, composed of Stone and Manning, two young men, and The Kashner Sisters who will headline the new bill opening at The Murray next Monday for the first half. Elaborate stage settings are carried, and from all advance reports this act gives evidence of being the class dance act of the season. Quite a little should be expected from them as they come here direct from the larger circuits.

Vying with the above act for headline honors will be the team of Hamilton and Barnes, a young man and girl who are winning stellar notices in vaudeville this season. Both carry that indefinable air of "class" which appeals to refined audiences, and their offering "The Honeymoon" affords them an opportunity to exploit their wardrobe and talents. Elia Vall, a comely young girl will be seen in a "Novel Aerial and Loop The Loop" act, consisting of wonderful feats upon the trapeze, while Gladys Brockwell will be the screen feature in her latest five-reel Fox production entitled "Thieves." Headlining the bill opening Thursday matinee will be the vaudeville sensation of the season i.e., Lotta Mayer and Her Four Bathing Beauties. In order to present this act it will be necessary to strengthen the stage, install extra plumbing to heat and supply the twelve tons of water, and put on an extra stage force to erect the tank which will cover would come from the same source and the extra tax for the high school pupils would be very little more. As it is often works a hardship for parents as well as pupils.

It means extra work and expense. The expense is much more to the parents of high school pupils than it would be if the township furnished the way. Consequently the law discriminates.

Charles Watkins, district governor for Indiana, of the International Rotary Club, spoke at a banquet of local Rotarians, Friday evening in the Y. M. C. A.

He gave an account of the work of Indiana clubs and told of the value to be derived from Rotary membership.

Will Keller and Harry Doan were in charge of the program.

ECONOMY, IND. JAN. 29.
Editor, the Palladium:
Should the parents or the township furnish transportation for the high school children?

We are inclined to believe the man who wrote the present law for hauling school children was not a farmer and the father of six or more children. We think the law unfair and unjust for more reasons than one.

It is neither fair nor just to the pupil or parents for the back to pick up children in the common school and then for the parents to be compelled to furnish a way for the high school pupils. The taxes for hauling both
