H.S. FIGHTS GAMELY, BUT LOSS OF STAR LOSES GAME, 26-10

Defer 've play that has not been equalled on the Coliseum floor this season, featured the defeat of Richmond high school's basketball quintet by Technical high, of Indianapolis, Friday night.

The final score was 26 to 10, but Technical's victory was due chiefly to the loss of Dollins, who was removed from the game on fouls with 12 minutes to play in the second half.

Except for five points, two by Technical and three by the Quakers, the first 15 minutes of the game failed to bring out any scoring. Both teams played a strictly defensive game, and covered the ball at all times. After Richmond had called time out, Reid broke through the Technical defense and scored the first marker from the field. Dollins followed with a long shot, and before the half ended, Black and Drayer, Technical's star point, had added four points to their column. The half ended 7 to 6, Richmond.

Defense is Shattered. The second half started the same as the first, and after 10 minutes of play Dollins was taken out and Leohr was put in his place. With this change Richmond's defense was shattered, and Drayer and Black tore through the Quakers repeatedly, adding 17 points to Tech's total while the Quakers counted three. Motley replaced Leohr, but he was unable to stop the Drayer-Black combination, and the Quakers soon were hopelessly beaten.

In the curtain raiser, the high school seconds defeated the New Paris seconds, 17 to 13. This game was featured by the clever work of Walls, the Richmond forward. Walls made 11 of his team's 17 points, in spite of the fact that he was closely guarded.

The Quakers lost their game with Rose Poly here by a close score, and since that time the Quaker machine has been tuned up. The game here was exceptionally close, and some question was made to the final score, which was determined by five minutes overtime play.

Many a man has traveled all over the world and become acquainted with many strange races without becoming acquainted with the woman he married.

George Kelly.

The sport critics and fans who have been watching Muggsy McGraw's Giant clan closely the last few seasons are of the opinion that one George Kelly, long lean Californian, is about ripe to make a bid for first basing honors in the National league—which still holds Hal Chase and a couple of other fifty first sackers.

Kelly has been under McGraw's wing for several seasons. The lad is a native of San Francisco and is a nephew of the famous old star, Bill Lange.

George played on the Pacific coast in the early days of his career, the Giants obtaining him in the middle of 1915 season from the Victoria, B. C. club of the Northwestern league. Kelly had the rep of breaking all the outlying fences with terrific base hits.

McGraw kept hold of Kelly, farming him out to Rochester and allowing Pittsburgh to use him for a few weeks in an emergency. In 1917 Kelly was a hero of the summer when the Giants copied the pennant. After the world's series he was called for war duty and he was in service during the next major league season. A year ago McGraw gave Kelly and four other players to Rochester for Catcher Earl Smith. Kelly had been playing the outfield mostly in the district. The Rochester leader stuck him on first and boys, how sweet he looked. He batted at a .200 clip, too, and placed out several of the long hits which gained him his rep.

McGraw has brought him back to the Giants to fill the report this spring. He's built just right for the job an first. He stands six feet four, has long arms and a husky pair of shoulders that enable him to snap the ball around fast—and lean on the old wild tree, too.

Representatives of Eleven Basketball Teams to Talk Over Plans for Tourney

Final arrangements for the independent district basketball tournament, planned for March, at the Coliseum, will be made at a meeting of team managers and captains at George Brehm's store Sunday afternoon. The schedule will be arranged.

Eleven teams have signified their intention to enter, including some of the fastest younger independent teams in the district. The tournament is being planned by a committee of Richmond men.

PREPARATIONS TO BEGIN FOR WILDE-MASON CONTEST

(By Associated Press)

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 31.—When Ad Thacher returns from Milwaukee late today or tonight he will begin immediate preparations for the 12-round world flyweight championship bout between Jimmy Wilde and Frankie Mason.

It is understood that Wilde's share of the purse will be $10,000, that amount being Thacher's offer to the Briton. It is expected that Mason's end will be near that figure.

It will be necessary to stage the bout in the Terminal auditorium, it is believed, because of the large crowd the match is expected to draw.
