

PROMINENT YOUNG PEOPLE MARRIED AT WINCHESTER

WINCHESTER, Ind., Feb. 7.—At 8 o'clock, Wednesday morning occurred the marriage of Miss Arline Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Browne and John I. Cheney, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Cheney at the home of the bride's parents, the Rev. Perry C. Hopper, of Toledo, O. Miss Browne is a musician and member of several prominent clubs of the city. Mr. Cheney is connected with the building and loan.

The marriage of Miss Hannah Ethel Smith and Dr. E. W. Rine took place Wednesday afternoon, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Carl A. Study, in the presence of the immediate family. They left immediately on a short wedding trip. Mrs. Rine is well known in the city, while Dr. Rine is a prominent physician.

A team of horses belonging to Dick Jessup, was struck last evening by an interurban car, at the corner of Meridian and Washington streets. The buggy to which the horses were hitched, was damaged, but Mr. Jessup and the horses escaped uninjured.

Howard Roy and Ollie King, of Richmond, pleaded guilty Tuesday afternoon, to a charge of trespass in Squire Court's court. Each man was fined $1 and costs amounting to $9. The young men were arrested by Sheriff U. N. Davidson, for stealing a parcel post package which was too large for the box and was lying against a post, in front of the country home of Jacob Welch, east of the city. The men were driving a Ford truck and were seen to stop and pick up the package and drive on. The package contained a lad's suit and waist, valued at $41, which had been sent from a local dry goods store. The men were placed in jail.

Joseph Brown, 57, died at home in South Main street, Tuesday evening. He is survived by the widow, three sons, and a daughter, Mrs. Elsie Cummings. Funeral services at the Mount Zion church, Thursday afternoon, with burial at Mount Zion Cemetery.

The will of Luther Wasson was admitted for probate, Thursday. After all his just debts are paid, he bequeaths to his wife, Talliah Wasson, his entire estate so long as she remains his widow and on the following terms. That she give to his son, Ralph R. Wasson and to his daughter, Martha E. Wasson, $500 each, when they become 21 years of age, or if they should marry before they reach that age. In case she remarries she is to have one-third of the estate and the residue is to go to his three children. He appoints her as administratrix of the estate. The will was written December 11, 1919.

The Hawk bridge, near Windsor, west of the city, the contract for which was awarded to Herman S. Fox, of Brooklyn, O., whose claim was rejected some time ago because a sample of the creosote used was sent by Surveyor Walter Batchelor to a chemist in Pittsburgh and was found not to be according to specifications. It has been completed and has been completed and has been passed by the commission.

Dr. and Mrs. Carl R. Study are in Indianapolis for a short stay.

Mrs. Harry Magee has returned from a pleasant visit with Dr. and Mrs. Rider, of Greenville, Ohio.

The Rev. Perry Hopper has returned to Toledo, O. Mrs. Hopper and son Robert, will remain a few days as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Browne.

A marriage license was issued Thursday to Isaac Smith, 70, Winchester and Mary E. Sunday, 61, Farmland.

The three churches of Farmland will unite and hold revival services, beginning at the Christian church, next Sunday night. The pastors, Rev. Lusk, the Rev. Mr. Shaw and the Rev. Mr. Sweet will conduct the services.

Civil War Veterans Not Exempt From Taxes This Year; No Emergency Clause

County officials asks that notice of Civil war soldiers be directed to the fact that, because the act granting them exemption from taxation on $5,000 worth of property did not carry an emergency clause, it will not serve to exempt them from paying taxes until next year.

Those who want to claim exemption from taxation in 1921, must call at the county treasurer's office and file their claims some time between March 1 and May 1, this year.

The treasurer says that there is much confusion in the minds of the old soldiers in regard to this measure and he wants them to be set right on it, to the end that all may claim exemption from 1921 taxes.

Stop this!
At first signs of a cold or grippe take
JANE'S GOLD TABLETS
GUARANTEED

CHIROPRACTORS
G. C. WILCOXEN, D. C.
C. H. GROCE, D. C.
Phone 1603 35 S. 11th St.

FEHR'S
STYLE SHOP
903 Main
Change of ownership sale
"The greatest bargain feast of the season."

EXCELSIOR
BICYCLES
ELMER S. SMITH
The Wheel Man
426 Main Phone 1806

Nine Boys, Four Girls, Are Added to County

Birth reports from county and city show 9 boys and 4 girls born during the week. Several belated reports were sent in to the office of County Health Officer, Dr. J. M. Bulla, from county physicians. Names of birth follow: Mr. and Mrs. William Backmeyer, Wayne township, a boy; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wambo, Abington township, a girl; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alexander, Hagerstown, a boy; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Starr, Williamsburg, a boy; Mr. and Mrs. Roy O. Zwissler, Wayne township, a boy; Mr. and Mrs. George Necessary, 410 North West Eighth street, a boy; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Knoleberg, 309 South B street, a boy; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Stimmel, 1302 Main street, a girl; Mr. and Mrs. Forrest J. Gartside, 305 North Seventeenth street, a boy; Mr. and Mrs. William Hollsinger, 1106 North F street, a girl; Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Melling, 443 South Fourth street, a girl; Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Camp, 1012 Boyer street, a boy; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnson, 625 South Thirteenth street, a boy; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Greter, 523 South Ninth street, a girl.

Indiana News Briefs

SEYMORE — Community meetings to arouse interest in rural schools in Jackson county are being held under direction of county Superintendent Henderson, who declares that the country school system is below the state standard. The farmers' federation is co-operating in the campaign.

ALEXANDRIA — Leo Kinney, owner of the Kinney Candy shop here, published a notice inviting the robbers who stole $65 from the cash register a few nights ago to come back and get the $2.50 in pennies they overlooked.

COLUMBUS — The Rev. W. H. Book, pastor of the Tabernacle Christian church here, has received word that the Rev. T. J. Shelton, a medical missionary in Tibet, and well known throughout Indiana and the United States, who was captured a few weeks ago by Tibet brigands, has been located in that country, but is still a prisoner.

SOUTH BEND — The lifeless body of Mrs. Ralph Thomas, of this city, was found by her six-year-old daughter returning from school, suspended from the upper hinge of the kitchen door.

MARENGO — Mrs. Rebecca Key, 76 years old, widow of Abram Key, well known in this section of the state, is dead at her home here.

The lazy person lets things slide. And when things are left to slide, they slide downhill.

The Theatres

WASHINGTON.

Physical force and huge stature is not simply a necessity in the lumber camp; it is required in Wall street.

Literature and real life present many examples of the domination of the big framed man in all divisions of effort.

An example of physical domination in matters dealing purely with minds and wits, is offered by Vitagraph's new picture, "The Gamblers," in which Harry T. Morey is star. The picture will be shown at the Washington theater on Wednesday and Thursday.

Mr. Morey, a player whose fine physique and rugged pose have made him famous in many superman roles, plays the character of Wilbur Emerson, the young man who tackles the money trust. Wilbur's strong physical makeup seems to provide a big influence toward bringing his associates and foes under his sway.

It is a screen demonstration of how physical force operates in the non-physical affairs of life. The spectator

A REAL FORD STARTER!

The "Modern" is different from all others. A complete engine auxiliary with Fan, Vaporizing Dash Primer, etc.

The only competitor of electric starters, at one-fourth the cost. Write at once for description, approval and introductory price. Modern Specialty Co., Racine, Wis.

unconsciously recalls many examples of the big men who dominate others in real life.

"The Gamblers" is the third of Vitagraph's translations of stage plays by Charles Klein into film productions. The previous ones were "The Lion and the Mouse" and "The Third Degree."

WASHINGTON.

Maddie Irwin had lived her short, uneventful life in the country. Ben Withers, a farm hand, represented the utmost in romance to this young girl—until Fred Worthington, a city man came a-visiting his mother, who lived near Maddie, and thereafter Maddie had no dreams except of Fred, his wealth and social position, and the gay life he could give her.

Fred Worthington, sick of the city, loved Maddie because she was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a

millionaire. Maddie, however, was different from the girls he knew—different from the mercenary Leona who had broken her engagement when she believed he was about to become a millionaire