WAGNER GRAIN LETTER

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—May corn shows signs of returning to the old high of $1.37. Illinois confident of its small 300 million corn crop and is talking trifling receipts until August. Corn receipts will increase late next week. Grain bears again driven to cover. There may not be any real dip in corn and oats until Tuesday or Wednesday of next week. Foreign exports of the past several days have failed to reveal any large export totals, only nominal sales of late. February corn plays a central part of Hamlet. Dip purchases in corn and oats indicated. The problem is still how to dislocate corn from the $1.50 level.

BOSTON WOOL MARKET.

BOSTON, Feb. 13.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say: "Interest in this market has been centered chiefly upon government wool auctions, where withdrawals have been rather heavy on account of poor selections. Good wool of the finer grades has moved fairly well, while the lower grades of medium and cross bred wools have been little above withdrawal limit, and frequently withdrawn. Private trading has been limited.

"The manufacturer's are opening their goods at prices pretty close to the level established by the American wool company last week."

Superstitious Batchelors,

Will Shiver Tonight; 'Tis Friday, 13th: Leap Year

Bachelors of Richmond are warned to "watch their step" when calling on their ladies Friday night, for this is the most dreful and portentous day of the year, Friday, the thirteenth—and Leap Year!

Tonight also, all unlucky omens will prevail! Owls will "hoot" from bare and leafless trees, and black cats will spend the time "scooting" in front of those who have the nerve to venture forth. The witches of the present and past are to gather from far and near.

Today is not the only time of the present year that Friday falls on the thirteenth of the month, for the calendar discloses that there is a Friday, August 13.
