HOUSTON OPTIMIST
ON WORLD OUTLOOK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Confidence that Europe's monetary problems will be settled satisfactorily was expressed Thursday by the secretary of the treasury, D. W. Houston, in a review of the international financial situation.

The country constantly is providing for Europe capital with which to reconstruct the economic life of nations there, Mr. Houston said, explaining that advances are being made in the same way in which Europe aided this country in times of depression in the past—not by government loans so much as by indirect methods, such as private loans, sale of surplus army equipment and the absorption of high grade investment securities offered in American markets by European holders.

The secretary estimated that Europe had received approximately $4,000,000,000 from this country since the armistice was signed. The position of the United States was said to be strong.

Monday the last issue of "loan" certificates of indebtedness, $60,000,000, will be redeemed, leaving no outstanding floating loan in the sense of short-term certificates requiring refunding at maturity, he said.

Tax certificates outstanding amount to $2,935,949,500, all of which will be paid by forthcoming income and profits taxes, the secretary added.

Secretary Houston declined to agree with the pessimistic view of a number of public men who forecast a financial crash and asserted that, while there were numerous difficulties still to be overcome, there was nothing in the situation to be regarded as being extremely grave.

Adventists' Notice

Prayer meeting Friday 7:30 p. m.; Sabbath school, Saturday 9:30 a. m.; preaching services following, 10:45 a. m.; Tuesday evening meeting, Feb. 17, 7:30 p. m., subject, "The Two Foundations." There are only two foundations upon which to build. We must make sure of building on the right one, lest we be likened unto the foolish man who built his house upon the sand, Matt. 7:26. Come and learn from the Bible about the only sure foundation. Everybody welcome.

KINDERGARTEN UNION MEETS
Members of the Richmond Kindergarten union were entertained at the home of Mrs. J. F. Hornaday Thursday evening. A social session was in commemoration of the birthday of Abraham Lincoln and St. Valentine's day.

The Theatres

WASHINGTON.
Los Angeles' cryptic Chinatown was used as a location for an entire week by the Lois Weber company in the production of "Forbidden," the latest Universal Jewel release, which will be seen at the Washington theatre today and tomorrow with Mrs. Charlie Chaplin (Mildred Harris) in her first superproduction since "Home."

Lois Weber believes she has never cast Mildred Harris in a better part. This star, hailed as the actress who "puts her soul into every role," is seen as a soulful country maid. What finally happens when the husband plays his trump card to cure her of high life, and how fate takes a hand in the game, makes one of the most enthralling denouements Lois Weber has yet screened.

A certain rich man's daughter saw her father's valet reading a book. "Is it interesting?" she asked. "Quite," he replied, offering her the volume. "It was given to me by the best servant in the city." On the fly-leaf she had read an inscription from her father. "But my father is not a 'servant,'" she objected. "We are all servants," answered the valet. "Your father may be a millionaire, but he is a servant—as I have said, a good one."

Excellent for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, all pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frozen feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). 30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

SPEAKING OF TROUBLE

By Probasco

Events testified the truth. The millionaire, in a desire to give the city better services in public utilities, became mayor. He was the instrument by which a great strike was settled. And did the valet marry the rich man's daughter? He—well, see Frank Keenan in the new Pathe picture, "The World Aflame," which comes to the Richmond theatre today.

MURRETTE.

Not a little has been written of the care with which modern photoplay productions are made. When one sees reproduced before him a series of incidents which combine to tell a dramatic story it is easy enough to forget the myriads of little things which the producer, his staff and the star have had to think about in order that the representation may be true to life. This is especially true in Miss Brady's latest photodrama, "The Fear Market." Frank Loose, known everywhere for his delineation of villainous types, has a good opportunity to display his talents in the part of Major Stone, the scheming newspaper owner, in Alice Brady's Realart Picture, "The Fear Market," at the Murette Theatre.

MURRAY VAUDEVILLE

His Latest Exploit

RECENT REPORTS from abroad place Enver Pasha, the notorious Turk, once more in the foreground as a wonderful adventurer. Enver has been in Turkestan for some time, it is said, organizing an army of 100,000 Turks for the liberation of Bagdad. His headquarters are at Ashkent, in Turkestan.

Since the downfall of Admiral Kolchak, Enver Pasha seems to have had a free hand in collecting Turkish war prisoners and recruiting men among the Turkish population. He has proclaimed his purpose as being a great confederation of Musselman countries, such as Turkestan, Daghestan, Azerbaijan, Mesopotamia and Bagdad, with the hope of finally penetrating as far as Afghanistan in the east, Arabia in the south, and Syria and Egypt in the west.

For twelve years Enver Pasha has been the most commanding figure in Turkey. He is only thirty-eight today and looks younger. In 1908, when an attaché of the Berlin embassy, he hurried from Germany and joined the movement of the Committee of Union and progress. He led the constitutional revolution which deposed Abdul Hamid, the supposedly invincible despot. Enver was the hero of the Tripoli war which followed.

He overthrew the Kiamil ministry when an attempt was made to cede Adrianople to Greece, and distinguished himself by capturing the city from the Bulgarians at the close of the Balkan war. Since that time he has been the hero of the Turkish nationalists.

From the close of the Balkan war until almost the end of the world war, Enver Pasha was Turkish minister of war. As such he enjoyed almost despotic power. It is said that Enver Pasha, more than any other individual

ITCHING ECZEMA
DRIES RIGHT UP WITH ECZEMA

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good drug store, and use it like a cold cream. —Advertisement.
