

CODDINGTON WILL IS FILED FOR PROBATE IN RANDOLPH COURT

WINCHESTER, Ind., Feb. 14—The will of Benjamin F. Coddington was probated Thursday. Mr. Coddington died recently in Union City, and was one of its most prominent citizens, being in the shoe business there for many years. After the payment of all just debts, he bequeaths to his brother, George Coddington, $1,500; his niece, Edith Greely Scott, $1,500; his niece, Mabel Coddington, $1,500; his niece, Mrs. Maude Whitacre, $5,500; his niece, Hattie Jones, $3,000; his niece, Beattie Anderson, $750; his niece, Florence Anderson, $750; his niece, Mrs. Mary Pierce, $200; his niece, Ada Randolph, $200; his niece, Dora Howland, $100; his niece, Mary Bradley, $100; his niece, Dora Shannon, $500; his nephews, George Anderson, $100, and Harry Anderson, $200; to Edith Anderson, $100. Frank T. Parker is named as executor. The will was written on February 20, 1917. Two codicils are added to the will. In the first he gives to Mrs. Maude Whitacre and Hattie Jones all his china, silverware and household ornaments. In the second he leaves to his nieces, Mrs. Maude Whitacre and Hattie Jones, the property in which he resided, for their care and many kindnesses shown by them in his last sickness.

Randolph County Treasurer Melvin Mull conducted the delinquent tax sale at the court house Wednesday. The number listed for nonpayment of taxes was 39 and the number sold was 17, amounting to $909.75. The number of delinquents is said to be the smallest in many years.

Suit for divorce was filed Wednesday by Margaret Ambler against William H. Ambler. They were married on January 5, 1917, at Greenville, Ohio. The plaintiff charges the defendant with cruel and inhuman treatment and failure to provide for her maintenance. Plaintiff asks the custody of their child, $500 alimony and $5.00 a week for support of the child. Word has been received here of the death of Genevieve, 2 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reed Abel at Bay City, Michigan. The body will be brought here and taken to Buena Vista, where funeral services will be held.

To Talk on Tax Law
Randolph County Assessor James A. White has announced a public meeting to be held in the city council chamber Tuesday morning, February 17, at 10 o'clock, when Philip Zorcher, of the Indiana State Tax Commission, will be present, and make a talk on the new tax law.

Two federal narcotic inspectors were in Winchester Friday, making their regular examination of drug stocks; also of physicians', dentists' and veterinarians' supplies.

Work is progressing rapidly in the old North Ward school building and it will soon be in readiness for the new glove factory, which will be operated by the Culver Manufacturing company. The machinery will be shipped to this city at an early date. The manager, W. E. Culver and family have arrived in Winchester.

A county association of Duroc breeders has been organized with the following officers: Hugh Cheesman, president; Orville Colp, vice-president; Roy Jackson, secretary; Pierre Bragg, treasurer; executive committee: Ernest Spillers, Ridgeville; Luther Pursley, Farmland; C. C. Fisher, Winchester; Seward Wright, Winchester; and Lordon & Son, Union City. The next meeting will be held in this city on March 6.

Ernest Wolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wolf of Maxville, and Miss Edna Hodgkin, a teacher in the public school, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ozro Hodgkin, of Farmland, were married there, Friday, by the Rev. Rachel Brooks. They will make their home there.

Miss Ruth Haynes returned to Muncie Friday, after being called here on account of the death of her little niece, Genevieve Abel.

Through the kindness of Mrs. George E. Leggett, Mrs. George H. Clark, and John C. Leggett, a large portrait of the late George E. Leggett was accepted by the city council and now hangs upon the wall of the council chamber. Mr. Leggett while mayor, over a year ago, met his death in an automobile accident, in the southern part of the state. His widow, daughter and son presented this portrait.

Frances E. Willard memorial day was observed by the W. C. T. U. Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Hitchcock on Greenville avenue. A large crowd was in attendance.

Ask for our new booklet on the "Z" Engine
It tells just what these sturdy little farm hands can do for you.
BUILT IN 1/2, 3 AND 6 HORSE POWER
Here are some of the distinctive features.
1. Economically use kerosene—or distillate, coal oil, tops, etc.—as well as gasoline.
2. Run successfully on these fuels under light or heavy load—you don't have to make readjustments.
3. Bosch high tension oscillating magnetos eliminates batteries and battery troubles—means quick starting.
4. Throttling governor assures constant, reliable power. It makes the engine run smoothly.
5. Suction fuel feed—no pump—simple and reliable.
6. Convenient speed controller gives change of speed, if desired, while engine is running.
7. Removable bushings in bearings.
8. Close speed regulation.
9. Ample positive lubrication.
10. Practically automatic in operation, requiring but little attendance—easily started and stopped. Run smoothly, quietly, cleanly.
11. Fairbanks-Morse Quality throughout.
12. Furthermore, every bit of metal in these engines is effectively used to give greatest strength without excess weight. The crank shaft is of forged steel with extra large bearing surfaces—it is built for long life. The interchangeable die-cast liners in main and crank bearings are easy for you to replace if necessary. Need but little floor space—simple foundation.

History of Zoellners Reads Like Romance

The Zoellner Quartet, which appears at Earlham college, Thursday evening, Feb. 19, has played in practically every city in the United States and Canada during the past six years. Their 50th concert was recently played in Winnipeg, Canada. The Manitoba Free Press, of Winnipeg, Jan. 25, 1919, voiced the opinion of all Americans when saying: "The Zoellners have established themselves as an institution in the musical world of this continent."

A resume of the history of the Zoellner Quartet, which was founded as a serious artistic organization when Amandus, the second violinist and youngest child, was only seven and a half years old, reads like a novel. Like all artists, the Zoellners found their path up Parnassus a narrow one, stony with hard work, and strewn with the sharp bits of disappointment and deprivation. Not for a moment however, did the ambitious father, Joseph Zoellner, Sr., the devoted children, Antoinette, Amandus and Joseph Jr., and the sacrificing mother, Mrs. Joseph Zoellner, Sr., lose sight of their life dream, which was at last realized, when the musical world, both in Europe and America, finally welcomed their organization as one of the greatest string quartets of this or any other day. Small wonder, then, that reference is made to them as "something unique in the annals of chamber music organizations," or that the conservative musical papers rhapsodize in glowing terms their "unparalleled ensemble, exquisite perfection of tone shading and marvelous unity of spirit."

The Zoellners have played in nearly all of the European centers of art, and after many appearances at the royal residence in Brussels, were decorated by the mother of King Albert of Belgium, then Countess of Flanders.

"MOVIE" ACT IS FATAL
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14—While a "movie" camera in another airplane clicked, Mrs. Ethel Broadwick, 39, plunged 2,000 feet to her death here. Mrs. Broadwick, airplane "stunt" woman, was demonstrating a parachute patented by her husband, and it failed to open. Charles Broadwick, her husband, stood watching her.

Although the blows fell like rain on his battered, tired body he did not feel them. Although he crashed to the floor of the squared arena time after time under the blows of an adversary who despised him, he rose again and again to meet his foe. Blinded he rushed unerringly to his mark.
Yes, girl! What else could make a man endure such punishment? But why? What terrible necessity had driven him to use for her sake the mighty arms of steel whose strength he had never suspected?
