Ambassador to Italy

The announcement that Robert Underwood Johnson is to be appointed ambassador to Italy was received with the warmest interest in Richmond. Although Mr. Johnson was never a resident of this city, the people of this city and of Wayne county have always felt a native pride in his achievements and by adoption have acclaimed him one of their sons.

Mr. Johnson was born in Washington, but his early education was received in Centerville and his academic training in Earlham College. His father was one of the noted jurists of Indiana and made his home in Centerville. And so after all it is not a far stretch of the imagination to include him among the men who have shed luster on Wayne county.

Naturally we are elated to know that he has been selected to fill a diplomatic post as the climax of a long career in literature. Happily, his selection has met with favor by many of the leading journals of the country. "It would have been difficult for Mr. Wilson to select a man better fitted for the place or so sure of a cordial welcome from the Italian court and the Italian people," says the New York Times.

"He has admirable qualifications for the important post, now doubly important on account of certain international questions in controversy. Mr. Johnson has wide and accurate knowledge of public affairs. His sympathies are broad. He is at once a man of force and of tact. To the Italians he has long been eminently 'sympathetic.'"

The Indianapolis News believes the appointment should be pleasing both to the government and people of that country. "It is fortunate," says the News, "that Mr. Johnson is a man of ability, fine character, trained mind and knowledge of public affairs—and a friend and admirer of Italy and her people. He is also intensely American, and was strongly on the side of the allies even before this nation went to war. He will worthily represent the American republic at the Italian court."

The committee appointed to investigate the alleged mismanagement of the Young Men's Business Club, which was handed in their report which exonerated officials of the institution. The Young Men's Business Club went on record as being in favor of an annual fall festival for Richmond.

CAR THROUGH BRIDGE
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 13.—A street car fell through the Fourteenth street viaduct here when the engine of a train on the track beneath went off the track, hit a viaduct pier and so weakened it that the weight of the street car forced the viaduct floor down on top of the train.

Dinner Stories
A little boy who had to be on the train over night, slept in an upper berth in the sleeping car. In the night he awoke and sat up. "Do you know where you are, Bobby?" asked his mother. "Course I do," answered Bobby. "I'm in the top drawer."

Some students at Princeton were discussing the need and the probable effectiveness of a new student organization, says Everybody's Magazine, when Tom, who had just returned from his summer vacation, related the following experience on his father's plantation:

Now Rastus was a good driver, expert with the whip, and somewhat of a philosopher. On the way to town a large horsefly lit on the ear of one of the leaders of the four-mule team. Rastus cracked his whip and killed it.

As they rode along he killed a bee in the petals of a rose in the same manner. Tom, surprised, saw a tree growing over the road, on a branch of which was a hornet's nest. "As we go by, Rastus, hit that," said Tom, pointing to the nest.

Rastus paid no attention to the request nor the hornet's nest. "Why didn't you hit it, Rastus?" asked Tom.

ARE YOU LOSING "PEP"?
Do you feel tired all the time? Does your back ache? Do you feel you are not so spry as you used to be? Middle-aged men and women often blame on coming old age for loss of ambition and energy when it is overworked or disordered kidneys that cause them to feel old before their time. Foley Kidney Pills tone up and invigorate the kidneys, banish backache, rid the blood of poisons. Rev. W. F. M. Synodite, Marion, Ga., writes: "I am ready any time to speak for Foley Kidney Pills." into usage through the Latin word for lamb which is agnus. The lamb was the symbol of the Roman maiden whose place of martyrdom named the church of Saint Agnese. Pilgrimages are made there and it is said that the gentle saint has appeared to suppliants, in human guise with a lamb of purest whiteness by her side. Each year, two lambs are brought to the pope and blessed in the church of Saint Agnese; then they are shorn and the wool is spun and woven by the nuns into palls presented by the pope to each pilgrim.

Agnes or Agnese, is in popular usage as a proper name in England, France and Germany. Portugal is responsible for Inez. Soft as Agnese is, it did not please the Portuguese, who changed it first to Inez, indicating the liquid sound of 'gn' by the cedilla. Later it became Inez de Castro, whose doom made it famous above all Portuguese feminine names.

Inez and Inez flourished for centuries there, before they were brought to England and without being anglicized, were used as British names unreservedly. The diminutive which the Portuguese had evolved, Inesilla, was left in its native land as being too Latin for English adoption. Italy, too, rejected it, preferring Agnese, but also adding its own Agnete and Agnesca. Thomas Hood wrote a charming lyric to "Fair Inez."

"Oh saw ye not fair Inez?
She's gone into the West,
To dazle when the sun is down,
And rob the world of rest;
She took our daylight with her,
The smiles that we love best,
With morning blushes on her cheek,
And pearls upon her breast."

Chrysolite is Inez' talismanic stone, the "chrysolite of sunrise" wrote Shelley. If worn upon the left arm and set in gold, it will drive away all evil and protect its wearer from contagion. Thursday is Inez' lucky day and 7 her lucky number. The chrysanthemum, signifying cheerfulness, is her flower.

THE GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS DAILY TALK

THE DIGGER

There is no inspiration in droll inactivity. To the alert alone does the thrill of contest come.

The digger is the happy man! He gets a lame back, his muscles get pulled and tired, his eyes ache from the strain—but he likes the job. For he is always in an expectant mood—knowing that any moment something is going to be revealed that will compensate for all. And what is so compensating as work itself?

Caryle once said that the hero is the great man. But who ever heard of a hero who didn't have to dig long and hard?

The digger is rarely a hoarder. He likes the game too intensely not to keep giving the world the benefit of his findings. Watch him as he delves into the rock with his pick; as he burns his eyes into his favorite books, seeking for the truths that others have found; or as he works long hours at his chemicals, hoping to lesson the pain of the world.

If there is ever to be placed high value on him who toils, whether with brain or brawn, let the digger be given his great due!

And what diggers mothers are! Veritable heroines as they train and teach and toil, just credit coming to them all too little and late. If you would have a taste of the cherished things of the earth, you must learn the art of digging—and you must dig both early and late. I recently looked upon an island off a beautiful mainland—a veritable garden spot, covering acres and acres of ground, most of which had been dug up from the sea at the cost of millions of dollars. But as I looked upon it, I said that the greatest digging had been done in the mind of a courageous man.

If you want to get rich things out of life—dig for them!

CONSTANT BRONCHIAL COUGH FOR 16 YEARS
Then Mrs. Crawshaw stopped her cough so quickly it alarmed her.

"I suffered with bronchial trouble and asthma for 16 years. In January, 1914, I had an unusually severe spell, resulting in pneumonia and was confined to bed for a month. I began to mend, but my cough never left. The following October, I tried Milks Emulsion. After a few days my cough gave way, and ceased entirely after another bottle—so suddenly that I became alarmed. Getting over my fear, I took 8 bottles more. For 3 months previous I had coughed night and day, but my cough ceased entirely. For 16 years I used all kinds of medicines until I became skeptical. But the results from Milks Emulsion were nothing short of marvelous."—Mrs. J. B. Crawshaw, 1408 Grand Ave., Des Moines, Iowa.

For bronchial or other severe coughs, or hard colds, Milks Emulsion is really remarkable. The system is built up and strengthened to throw off the trouble. Milks Emulsion is a pleasant nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to those, whom sickness has weakened, and is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day. This is the only solid emulsion made, as so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Truly wonderful for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it and send to doctors and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere. Advertisement

The Twentieth Century Idea of a Bank

The earliest idea of a bank was merely "a place where a man's money might be kept safely until he wanted it."

That limited conception has long since been replaced by the modern idea. The complex aspect of business in this twentieth century demands banks which shall not only be custodian of funds, but which shall render adequate service in every phase of financial transactions.

Customers of this institution profit and benefit by the broad-gauged service which is our "religion"—a service which includes advice, credit information, help in extending a business enterprise, in building a home, the handling of estates, investment problems, etc.

If you will stop in for a talk, so we can get better acquainted, we will probably both profit.
