

COUNTY TEACHERS ELECT RICE HEAD; PASS RESOLUTIONS

In the absence of Miss Belle O'Hair, of Indianapolis, president of the state teachers' association, who is ill, Dr. Charles S. Pendleton, head of the teachers' training school of the University of Wisconsin, spoke at the joint session of city teachers' institute and county teachers' association, last Saturday afternoon.

Dr. Pendleton followed his address of the morning on "Teaching the Individual Pupils Within the Class," with "The Growing Teacher," an equally eloquent appeal for teachers to put their best efforts, and highest efficiency into their profession.

Officers of the county association were elected as follows: President, E. E. Rice, of Gardfield; first vice-president, Miss Katherine Kniese; second vice-president, J. C. Starr, of Wayne township, school No. 10; secretary, Miss Grace Pitts, of Fountain City; treasurer, C. O. Williams, county superintendent.

A resolution submitted by a committee composed of F. O. Medsker, chairman; J. C. Starr, Miss Elizabeth Smelser, Eleanor Newman, and Anna Bishop was adopted as follows:

Whereas, public interest in public education, in child welfare, in school systems, in the efficiency of school teachers and in the teaching morale has been aroused to the point of demanding better schools and better instruction and training to secure a more lasting and trusted Americanism and personal worth.

For Yearly Salary.

We, the members of the Wayne County Teachers' Association, hereby offer the following considerations toward that end.

First, That school teachers shall be paid an annual salary.

Second, That the minimum salary be not less than $1,000 a year.

Third, That school teachers be employed upon merits of efficiency after the first year of apprenticeship.

Fourth, That equal salary be paid for equal work, regardless of sex.

Fifth, That successful school teachers shall not be dismissed at the end of a school year, unless for sufficient cause.

Sixth, We recommend that the committee on resolutions be appointed one month in advance of the meeting of this association.

Seventh, In appreciation of the efforts of the officers of the Wayne county teachers' association in securing the excellent talent that has been brought here for our instruction and inspiration, we extend a vote of thanks.

Farmers Up To Date in Work, Says State Report of the state. Country roads are generally quite poor, but the main highways are fair.

The semi-monthly crop report of George C. Bryant, field agent of the co-operative crop reporting service, follows:

"Corn continues to move to market very slowly—farmers generally holding for $1.50 at loading stations. The car shortage continues quite serious, which also has a tendency to keep corn on the farm. But little damage was done by the ice storm during the latter part of January. In the southern part of the state it was probably beneficial to some of the late sown wheat. There is some feeling that there will be a large abandoned acreage this year.

"The rye crop is looking exceptionally good at this time. Marketing of the better grades of tobacco is falling off to some extent, while most of the houses are filled with the poorer qualities. The four houses at Madison will sell in the neighborhood of 7,000,000 pounds this year.

Pastor Shows Slides on Centenary at First M. E.

Slides taken at the Centenary Conference of Methodism at Columbus, O., last summer were shown in the First M. E. church of Richmond Sunday night, in connection with a sermon by the pastor, the Rev. Semans, on the future plans of the church.

The Richmond church is now engaged in clearing its part of $23,000 pledged to the centenary movement, which preceded other denominational movements now engaged in after-war church reconstruction under the general alliance of the Inter-Church World Movement, in its official organization last summer.

They couldn't be built now for twice $71,000

When the talk turns from politics to railroads, and the traveler with the cocksure air breaks in with, "There's an awful lot of 'water' in the railroads," here are some hard-pan facts to give him:

American railroads have cost $80,900 a mile—roadbed, structures, stations, yards, terminals, freight and passenger trains—everything from the great city terminals to the last spike.

A good concrete- and -asphalt highway costs $36,000 a mile—just a bare road, not counting the cost of culverts, bridges, etc.

Our railroads couldn't be duplicated today for $150,000 a mile.

They are capitalized for only $71,000 a mile—much less than their actual value. Seventy-one thousand dollars today will buy one locomotive.

English railways are capitalized at $274,000 a mile; the French at $155,000; German, $132,000; even in Canada (still in pioneer development) they are capitalized at $67,000 a mile. The average for all foreign countries is $100,000.

Low capitalization and high operating efficiency have enabled American railroads to pay the highest wages while charging the lowest rates.

What Lincoln said

(From an address by Abraham Lincoln to the Workmen's Association in 1864.)

"Property is the fruit of labor; property is desirable; is a positive good in the world. . . . Let not him who is houseless pull down the house of another, but let him work diligently and build one for himself, thus by example assuring that his own shall be safe from violence when built."
