FIRE DESTROYS
MARION BLOCK

MARION, Ind., Feb. 16.—One of the most disastrous fires in the history of Marion's business district, occurred Sunday morning shortly after 6 o'clock when the Marion Block, a four-story business structure on the west side of the square, was found to be on fire. The fire department made a game fight against heavy odds, and succeeded in preventing further spread of the flames, but the Marion Block and the First National bank building adjoining on the north were virtually destroyed, entailing a loss of more than $500,000.

The First National bank, and the Woolworth 5 and 10 cents store, occupied the ground floors. The other stories were occupied by offices and family homes. Nothing was saved from any of them. The people were rescued by the firemen by means of ladders. More than 20 family were removed to places of safety, among the number being three sick persons.

Woman in Open, Says
Dr. Rae in Sermon

"Woman's place may be exclusively in the home in some cases, she does have primary reign there, but the power the false authority of man in attempting to appoint her place is just as the dump heap, the better," said Dr. J. J. Rae, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in a sermon on "Women" Sunday morning.

The pastor pointed out that women have had a purifying influence on business into which they have thronged during the last few years. They have like influence at the polls, he said. Women have successfully entered every field formerly exclusively occupied by man, he ended.

The Farm and The Farmer

BY WILLIAM R. SANBORN

J. EDWIN CHARLES—I am not in favor of the country daylight saving plan, as it would be a hindrance to the farmer who must attend to his feeding after his day's work, and then go to the bank and stores in town, which would be closed.

ELI CATES—I am sure against changing the time. I say let it alone, as it always has been. Now it comes nearer suiting everybody so let us have the good old time.

J. B. FAUCETT, I do not favor this plan, as I can not see any advantage whatever, especially to the farmer. If more is to be accomplished, commence earlier. I can't see that anything is to be gained to close the day's work an hour earlier.

V. R. BROOKHUS—Give us prices for our products so that we can compete with manufacturers for labor, and I don't care a darn what they do with the daylight saving plan.

JOHN N. BOYD—I am not in favor of the daylight saving plan. We lose one hour each day, and you can not get a hired man to get out that early in the morning, and yet they want to quit at 6.

F. A. HILL—Farmers work from daylight to dark, so there is no sense in changing the time. Let the workers in town begin and quit work an hour earlier, but let the clocks alone. The sun is ruler of time, not Wilson.

RICHARD CONWAY—I am not in favor of the daylight saving plan. It is too great an inconvenience to the farmers. Let the shopmen get up an hour earlier and let the sun alone.

L. T. HIAIT—It may be very convenient for city labor to work by the daylight saving plan, but it is far from being beneficial to the farmers, for his time as from sunrise to sunset. From June 1 to Dec. 1 is a very busy time with us farmers and the farm hand of today wants his time the same as the city hand, 8 hours a day, which handicaps us at harvest time, two to three hours a day. I would suggest that everybody be satisfied with old Sol's time. If the city adopts the new time.

BRITON FLAYS DRY
LONDON, Feb. 16.—The New Witness, of which Gilbert K. Chesterton is editor, says:

"Yankee millionaires announce that they are ready to spend 10,000,000 pounds sterling to make England dry, or rather those in England who are not rich enough to obtain liquor from stock in secret cellars, but they refuse to pay out a farthing for the help of starved children of Central Europe, through whose miseries America waxed fat."

EIGHT PLANKS OUTLINED

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 16.—William Jennings Bryan, Sunday outlined the planks he hoped to see incorporated in the Democratic national platform at the San Francisco convention.

He places what he believes to be the most important planks in the following order: Indorsement of the administration of President Wilson; national prohibition; woman suffrage; opposition to enforce military training; opposition to profiteering; taxation; labor problems; political ownership.

ture from the Ince studio, "The Egg Crate Wallon," which is showing at the Washington Theatre today and tomorrow. That goes for the whole picture, as well as the big scene where Charlie knocks a crooked puglist cold in the roped arena.

Mr. Ray starts out as helper for the express agent in his town, who also happens to be his girl's father. A packet of money is stolen, and suspicion points toward the agent. Charlie skips out of town to mystify the folks a little and lands a job in Chicago as sparring partner for a noted puglist. In the meantime, a cheap sport from the city is trying to win Charlie's girl back in the home town. Charlie wins a big battle in the ring just in time to discover that the city chap is really the thief, and all is serene in Pitt's Junction.

"LISTEN LESTER."

No musical comedy of the Broadway season has achieved the popularity that has been won by "Listen Lester" which comes to the Murray next Monday, matinee and night. Produced under the direction of John Cort, "Listen Lester" was welcomed into New York and was soon classified as the smartest dancing musical comedy of the year. The work of Harry L. Cort, George E. Stoddard and Harold Orlow, in "Listen Lester" soon brought fame to these three young men from the west. Its plot concerns the tribulations of a flirtatious colonel who only eludes one pursuing damsel to fall into the clutches of a more sophisticated widow. Pretty girls who crowd the southern winter resorts surround the colonel in Florida, and a pert hotel clerk, a week but willing porter, the Lester who listens much but not well, furnish the story with laughter and jokes that have become classics.
