

MAYOR WILL CALL SPECIAL MEETING TO DISCUSS CONTRACT

Introduction of the prepared contract of the Wayne Light and Power company to council was made at its session Monday night by City Attorney Robbins.

The city attorney took a decided stand against the contract, making the point that the light plant might be made liable to serve other companies, who might wish to purchase current from the Wayne company.

He also opposed it from the legal side, saying that the contract, as now written, would give the contracting party a chance to get unlimited current. No official action was taken by council.

However, Mayor Zimmerman announced that he would call a special meeting of council as a committee of the whole, with the board of works, and other city officials, to discuss the contract from all angles.

At this meeting the question of whether or not an expert engineer should be called into consultation will be decided. The meeting date will be announced later.

K. of P. Committee Reports.

The committee, appointed by council, to investigate the condition of the Knights of Pythias Temple on South Eighth street, submitted its report, pronouncing the building safe, with the exception of a portion of the facing near the top of the front wall, which was still unfinished. Rain and ice caused the bricks to dislodge from the face, said the report.

Fire Chief Ed Miller and John E. Pinnick, building inspector, also were on the council committee that examined the building. Chief Miller, when called in for his report said that the one submitted by the committee was correct in its opinion.

Engineer Gets Pay Boost.

An ordinance to increase the salary of the chief engineer of the city light plant from $175 to $200 a month was introduced into council and following suspension of the rules was passed. The ordinance became effective Feb. 16th.

One additional appropriation ordinance for $1,000, with which to purchase wire for the city light plant, and two transfer ordinances for the light plant, were introduced and passed on suspension of rules.

Marshall Petition Freely Signed at Newcastle

NEWCASTLE, Ind., Feb. 17.—A petition asking that the name of Thomas R. Marshall, vice president of the United States, be placed on the Democratic primary ballot as a candidate for President has been received here and has been freely signed.

A report that the petition was sent here by Mark Thistlethwaite, secretary to the vice president, was emphatically denied by Walter S. Chambers, editor of the Newcastle Times and Democrat, chairman of the Sixth District. Mr. Chambers said that the petition came from Indianapolis, but would not state who sent it. "I had as much to do with it as any one else," he said.

Barnard and Warfel Start Hoover Boom in State

Associated with H. E. Barnard, former federal food controller for the state and former state food and drug commissioner, in his effort to line up Indiana for Herbert Hoover for president, is Edward Warfel, former local man, and chief of the state oil inspection department.

Barnard and Warfel have sent out a circular letter in regard to Hoover as a possible presidential candidate. The trend of the letter would indicate that it has been addressed to persons connected with the food administration of Indiana in war time.

Neighbors Ask Mrs. Struck
What She Has Been Doing to Herself, Gives Credit to Trutona.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 17.—"The friends I'm meeting on the street nowadays hardly know me and they invariably inquire what I have been doing to myself," Mrs. Maud Struck, a well known Indianapolis woman of 936 Woodlawn Avenue, said a few days ago. "Of course," she added, "I always tell them that Trutona is solely responsible for the remarkable change in my health."

"I had been subject to spells of nervousness," Mrs. Struck continued. "I'd almost collapse at times and on one occasion I bit my tongue so badly that I still have the scar. Why, I'd almost go into fits when this nervousness would come over me. I had a lot of trouble with my bowels too. I tried a lot of laxatives but none of them seemed to be able to regulate them. I was operated upon for my nervousness but even this did not put an end to the terrible nervous spells. Finally, after I had gotten pale and sallow and had no life about me at all, I decided to begin trying different medicines and to keep on taking them until I found the right ones."

"Just about then a neighbor asked me if I had ever tried Trutona saying that she had used it and that it had helped her wonderfully. Then I began taking Trutona and, would you believe it, I haven't had one of these nervous spells to this day. My bowels act regularly every day now. I've gotten my natural color back again too. In fact, I'm looking healthy and I feel like a different person. Trutona is the only thing that relieved me from my terrible condition and I am glad to recommend it."

Trutona is now being introduced and explained in Richmond at Clem Thistlethwaite's drug store.—Advertisement.

Lansing's Record

Secretary of state, and through him President Wilson addressed the foreign powers.

When delegates of the warring powers met in Paris following the armistice, President Wilson designated Mr. Lansing as one of the American representatives.

The first intimation to reach the American people that Mr. Lansing might retire from the cabinet came in September, when William C. Bullitt of Philadelphia, an attaché of the peace commission, made the statement that Mr. Lansing was opposed to the ratification of the peace treaty and did not approve of the league of nations. This statement was made in testimony before the foreign relations committee in the senate.

During his long career as a diplomat and statesman Mr. Lansing has enjoyed the distinction of being the foremost authority on intricate legal problems affecting the extra-territoriality of the United States.

The problem of disseminating the principles of international law appealed to Mr. Lansing in 1906, and was followed a few months later by the formation of the American Society of International Law.

Upon the foundation of the American Journal of International Law, a year later, he became an editor, and has from time to time, as his professional career permitted, been a contributor.

It was through the agency of this publication that his fame as an international law authority spread to foreign countries.

Mr. Lansing was born in Watertown, New York, on Oct. 17, 1864, of very distinguished parentage. He entered Amherst college and was awarded his degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1886, and was admitted to the bar of New York in 1889.

In 1890 he married Miss Eleanor Foster, daughter of John W. Foster, a former secretary of state in the cabinet of President Harrison in 1892-3.

During the period leading up to and following the declaration of war against the German government, Mr. Lansing retained the portfolio of sec-

The Farm and the Farmer

BY WILLIAM R. SANBORN

D. W. HARRIS—Am not in favor of the daylight saving plan. Why do people insist upon doing just what has brought about loss, discontent, and H. C. L. and then complain about the times. We can not reduce the H. C. L. by reducing production. We used to work more and produce more. Think the time should be changed in city or country. It causes dissatisfaction and loss to farmers and no gain.

DAVID HAILEY—If we had daylight saving in the country we would have to get up at 3 o'clock in the morning. We have to work 16 hours anyway.

Are You All Run Down?

Vinol is What You Need

Because it is a famous blood maker, nerve builder and general tonic. By its use appetite increases, color improves, and the body is filled with renewed energy and strength and vigor.

These Letters Prove It

Cleveland, Ohio.—"I was weak and all run-down—no strength, languid and no ambition, so I could hardly keep up and around. Vinol built me up and strengthened my whole system after all other medicines had failed to help me."—MRS. W. D. BURDETT, N. Y.—"I live on a farm and raise chickens in addition to my housework. As a result I overworked and broke down so I had to give up. Nothing helped me until I tried Vinol. It gave me a good appetite and built me up so now I feel as strong and well as ever."—MRS. LOYAL PALMER.

For all run-down, nervous, anemic conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children, there is no remedy like Vinol.

Your money will be returned if Vinol fails.

Four Hundred Years Ago

It was discovered by builders of fine musical instruments that Spruce wood was the best material to use in the construction of sounding boards, such as were used in musical instruments.

NO SUBSTITUTE HAS EVER BEEN FOUND

which would produce the same fine quality of tone as the spruce—

Therefore we have used our knowledge of this important feature, in the construction of the "Singing Throat" of the Starr Phonographs and that is one big reason why these instruments produce a superior quality of tone.
