

Heart and Beauty Problems

By Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson

Dear Mrs. Thompson. I am a married woman thirty years old. I have two children. I am in business and am trying to make my own living, as my husband won't work and spends all his money on other women.

He doesn't seem to take an interest in my business or to try to help me along.

He wants me to have nice things to keep house with and is always doing things around the house to make things look nice. Sometimes he takes spells of buying me nice clothes and anything else he thinks I could want. Then he takes a spell he won't do a thing.

What do you think of such a man, and what shall I do? We hardly ever have any cross words.

WIFE AND MOTHER

I think you had better stop working. Your husband is ambitious for the home, but lazy. The money he spends on other women should be used for you and the children, and nine chances out of ten he will use it that way if he feels responsible.

It will not be easy for you to give up your business life, because doubtless it furnishes a great deal of interest for you. For the sake of happiness in your home, however, give your husband a chance to do his duty.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My husband and I are furnishing our new home. Are china cabinets in good style?

A YOUNG WIFE

China cabinets are not being used very much now.

She Married an Average Man

By ZOE BECKLEY

Over the kitchen fireplace in our house here is painted a German motto, "Der Mann ist nie ganz so schlecht und nie ganz so gut wie das Weib."

It has puzzled me ever since we came. Today when Mrs. Pardoe dropped in I asked if she could explain who put it there and why.

"Yes, my dear," she answered, briskly, delighted with the chance to talk personalities. "Old man Meyers, who lived in this house when the Corners was a good sized, bustling town, about a century ago, painted it up there sort of in memory of his wife, though I should call it a pretty left-handed compliment under the circumstances."

"Old Meyers was a skinflint. He was so pizen mean to poor Johanna (that was his wife) that they say he had to beg the butcher to put an extra dollar on the meat bill. Then when Meyers paid the butcher'd give the dollar to Johanna. That was the only dollar to Johanna. That was the only coin."

"They went to Germany one summer to collect a fortune that somebody left old Adolf—just as if he hadn't enough; ain't it funny how they use has, gits?—and they say he used to ride in first class compartments on the train while poor Johanna rode third class! Ain't that the limit?"

"Well, it was the limit for Johanna. It shamed her worse because it was in her own country, and all her friends and relations saw how low down he treated her."

"And what do you souse Johanna up and done? Why, she woke up! She did what the worm did. She turned. Only it was herself got the worst of it."

"She took a good look at herself in the glass and saw she wasn't harm on the eyes if she had some decent clothes. Then one night she stooped to that which many a wife has done since—she snaked some real money out of her husband's trousers while he was sleeping. Only Johanna made off with it. She left a note saying simply 'You sleep, but I have wakened. I'll go no more to America.'"

"And Meyers never laid eyes on her or his money again. There was rumors that Johan went to some of those swell gambling places on the Revere or whatever you call it and made out she was a widow, a countess or something and cut a big dash."

"Old Adolph came home alone and put that motto over the fireplace: 'The husband is neither so good nor so bad as his wife.' That's what it is, isn't it, Miss Salsbery?"

"Yes," I smiled. "Do you think it's true?"

"Lor' sakes, yes!" emphasized Agatha Pardoe. "When women do take the bit in their teeth they sure get somewhere. Men just muddle along, neither one thing nor the other. It takes a good woman to go to the limit of badness, once she starts. And did you ever know anythin' human hat could be as good as a bad woman reformed? Sufferin' cats—she'd sniff at the parson!"

I laughed aloud, wiping my eyes, all unconsciously, on the bit of sewing in my lap.

"What's that you're workin' on?" cried Agatha Pardoe, alive with inost husbands and wives are like "Home"—delightful to get away from occasionally; but not unless you are sure that you have a latchkey and a return ticket in your pocket.

In these days of H. C. L., a girl's most dazzling castle-in-the-air resolves itself into four-rooms-and-kitchenette, three flights up—with the right man in it and the rent paid.

When a man starts out with the determination to be a cynic on the subject of women, he is suddenly bitterly embarrassed to discover how many loveable ones there are.

A man's love for a woman is all that which slopes over from the exuberant self-love, with which she manages to inspire him.

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name, its history, its meaning, whence it was derived; its significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel.

Rosalie and Rose appear to be of the same general root, the more euphonious name of Rosalie being a French extraction. A curious point is that the color rose is irrevocably associated with the name Rosalie, as well as Rose.

The history of the name Rosalie is most interesting. It first was given to fair women of France and it was there that St. Dominic arranged a series of devotions by means of telling beads upon a string. These formed the rosarium, or rose garden, or freely translated, delights of devotion. The Rosarium has a day to itself in the Roman calendar and may possibly have named the transatlantic sailor, Rosa di Laina, which gave rise to Rosita. Switzerland calls her Rosel and France Rosine or Rosette. In England she is Rosanne, sometimes Rosabella, meaning "beautiful rose." From Italy comes Rosina and Rosetta. A more rare, but no less charming interpretation, is Rosalba, signifying "white rose."

There are red roses and white roses and yellow roses in nature, yet the real rose is the deep pink and the bearer of the name or any of its derivatives should surround herself with the flowers if she would wish the psychic atmosphere which their quality insures. Her jewel is that rare beautiful gem, the flame-colored ruby. It denotes pride and haughtiness and appoints Tuesday as the fortunate day for its wearer and 3 the lucky number.

Says corns stop hurting, then lift right off without one bit of pain

Hospital records show that every time you cut a corn you invite lockjaw or blood poison, which is needless, says a Cincinnati authority, who tells you that a quarter ounce of a drug called freezezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus without even one little twinge of pain.

You simply apply a few drops of this freezezone on a tender, aching corn and the soreness is instantly relieved. Shortly the entire corn can be lifted out, root and all, with your fingers. This drug is sticky, but dries at once and is claimed to just shrivel up any corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. If your wife wears high heels she will be glad to know of this. —Advertisement.

Botulinus, Mysterious Germ, Has Caused Many Deaths; Warning Issued

What is botulinus? This is the question that is being asked following the recent death of many persons eating olives supposed to have been infected.

Scientists seem to know little about it outside of the fact that it is caused by a germ of decay in spoiled vegetables and fruits. So far there have been 40 recognized outbreaks of botulinus in the United States, with 150 cases and 97 deaths. The first case was reported at Canton, O., and ripe olives were blamed. Scientists say that the germ is amazingly resistant to measures that kill most germs; boiling does not destroy it, unless continued for several hours and that steam, under 15 pounds pressure for 10 minutes will not destroy it.

Health organizations, along with numerous other associations have issued warnings that canning of vegetables and fruits should be made with the utmost care and that the fruit and vegetables should be perfect and sound condition. Richmond housewives should exercise great care in their canning this year.

BOWELS SO BAD HE TOOK QUART OF MINERAL WATER A DAY

Mr. Whitesides was in a bad way. Tells how he got over it.

"I suffered for years with stomach trouble and constipation. I got so I could eat nothing but soft food and had to take a quart of mineral water a day for my bowels. I decided to try Milks Emulsion and have used 2 bottles. The results have been wonderful. The soreness left my stomach. I can eat solid food, my bowels have improved and I feel like a new man. Anyone suffering as I did should lose no time in starting on Milks Emulsion."—M. F. Whitesides, 2142 S. 6th St., Springfield, Ill.

The more physics you take the more you'll need. Break away from them. Milks Emulsion costs nothing to try. Milks Emulsion is a pleasant nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickens the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whose sickness has weakened, and is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day. This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Truly wonderful for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee: Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price six and $1.25 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere. —Advertisement.

NOISE OF THE CHILDREN HURT WOMAN'S NERVES

But She is Feeling Like New Person Since Taking Volatonic.

Although Mrs. Fred Claus, 1913 Ohio avenue, Cincinnati, had been ailing and run-down for two years, she said recently that she is feeling like a new person since she took Volatonic, "Builder Of Strength."

"About two years ago my husband was seriously injured and for three months thereafter I was under a severe nervous strain," Mrs. Claus said. "I really never got over it but have been nervous and run-down ever since."

"I have two children and I was so nervous that their noise almost drove me insane. I could hardly wait for them to eat their meals and go out of doors."

"I felt weak and dizzy all the time and I actually was afraid to go on the street by myself for fear of falling. I suffered often with severe headaches, too. Why, almost every day my head ached so badly I'd have to wrap it in bandages."

"Of course, in such a condition of health the housework was just drudgery."

"Volatonic was recommended to me so highly that I decided to try it and have taken seven bottles. I am getting better all the time."

"Those severe headaches I used to have are almost gone now and the dizziness has left entirely. Volatonic also helped my nerves so much that the noise of the children doesn't disturb me at all and it made me stronger so that the housework is easier."

"In short, I'm almost like a new person since taking Volatonic." Why don't YOU get back strength and health like many other Richmond people are doing. Get Volatonic, "Builder Of Strength"—TODAY! Volatonic is being specially introduced in Richmond by the five Quigley drug stores.—Advertisement.
