

BLAZE OF COLORS IS ART GALLERY FOR CRAFT SHOW

A gorgeous exhibit in the public art gallery, stood ready at a late hour Tuesday afternoon for the opening night of the arts and crafts exhibit at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

Fifty men and women have notified Mrs. Fred Bates, chairman of the opening committee, that they will come in historically interesting costumes.

The Art association members, members of the women's clubs and all other admirers of art are urged by the committee to come, and if that is not possible, to the "special after-noon," scheduled for the period of the exhibit, when informal dress, dancing or music will be featured.

Francesca De Capedevilla, a young Spanish woman, has a woven smock-vest and runner, in the gallery which will charm visitors as they enter the east room. Mrs. William Dudley Foulke will spin Tuesday night. Mrs. Foulke will wear a rare Icelandic costume. In this corner also there are hanging some beautiful examples of Chinese work, loaned by Mrs. D. M. Dennis. A Chinese Kossu, of intricate design, is attractive.

Ledia Bush-Brown of New York City has loaned some batiks of interest including the "Enchanted Castle," and "The Wise Birds of the Hill of Stars." Louise Zarring has some colorful batiks of nice design. Elsie Varpell, a Michigan girl, has loaned some of the most striking batiks in the exhibit.

Richey Makes Them
Richmondians will admire these batiks loaned from afar, but they will experience a distinct feeling of pride when they see the charming ones which Oakley Richey, a Richmond boy, has made in the art department of the high school. They stand the comparison with others in the exhibit very well. Mr. Richey will exhibit the method of batik-making and Mrs. Elizabeth Overbeck will mold some pottery Tuesday night.

In the pottery exhibit the eye of visitors will immediately find a charming tea set of china and linen made in collaboration by Miss Bertha Whitridge and Miss Elizabeth Jay. A luncheon set by the same women is also delightful.

William Baumgarten and Co. have sent a magnificent pastoral tapestry which hangs at the end of the northwest room. The exhibit of tapestries from the collection of the late Charles Foulke was expected to arrive Tuesday afternoon and be placed for the opening.

Recruiter; Gets Free Meal
A thief, pretending to be a United States army officer, robbed Sergeant Thompson, local recruiting officer, of several valuable articles Friday night. Thompson discovered the loss on his return from Indianapolis Monday afternoon.

The thief gained access to the army station from S. K. Morgan, with whom Thompson had left his key. The man told Morgan he was sent here to relieve Thompson. Thompson had previously told Morgan that headquarters might send a relief officer.

The thief also got Morgan to buy him a $3 meat ticket which he said Thompson would make good.

Among the articles taken was a diamond stud worth about $80; a sheep-lined heavy coat, a high powered rifle and a pistol, with holster and belt. Police were notified.

Thompson will give a liberal reward for any information.
