Who Can Make Living Cheaper?

All of us perhaps are pretty thoroughly convinced of one fact by this time; namely, that if there is a considerable decline in the price of commodities in 1920, it will not be attributable to the efforts of any one person.

Individuals in all stations of life and in all parts of the country have come forward with solutions, but none of them has succeeded in reducing the price of clothing or food. We have become confused by the multiplicity of their alleged cures and confounded by their manifold solutions until most of us have lost sight of the old maxim, "You can't eat unless you work."

Credit for a reduction in prices, when this happy day does arrive, will be given in a large measure, we believe, to a new appreciation of the principle of work, the practice of economy and thrift, and the effective pressure of public opinion against unholly profiteering. The decrease in exports, throwing back on our own markets vast quantities of goods, may also come in for a share of the honor.

Many students of the problem have concluded that the enactment of laws will not reduce prices, neither will elaborate programs by public officials, nor the promises of political parties. These may be couched in fine language and be filled with smooth phrases, but they are as ineffective as a blade of grass stemming a mountain torrent.

The Spokane Spokesman-Review, commenting on an effective cure, says: "There are two ways of keeping well. One is by means of small and tasty pills, and the other is by sawing wood and walking to work. Everybody would like to get cured of our national ailments by the pleasant pill method, but in the end we will have to come around to the sawbuck."

The Spokane-Review does not amplify the "sawbuck method," but few of us are intellectually so dull that we cannot interpret the "sawbuck" to mean the old-fashioned word, WORK. Of many methods prescribed for our national ailment none is so unpopular and yet so effective as plain, ordinary, commonplace, every-day work.

The many communications which the farmers of this and adjacent counties have addressed to The Palladium, in their last analysis, fall back on the necessity of work to speed up production so that we may have the foodstuffs and commodities we need. The farmer is a hard worker. Let him lose his faith in the principle of work, and those of us who live in the cities presently will not be complaining of high prices but be begging for enough to eat.

Dr. Wiley proposes to establish food at the standard of value instead of money, but it is difficult to make us believe that the round steak we pay a dollar for at the butcher shop is really worth more than 98 cents.

Health expert says that eating garlic is a preventative of the "flu." With all its disagreeable features, many would prefer the "flu." The "flu" does not cause one to lose all his friends.

FARMERS GIVE

wheat crop as I always do and am as usual, in spite of the high price of seed, which will take in the neighborhood of five bushels.

JOSEPH B. MARSHALL—Farm land will not stand the intense farming that has been done in the last few years, so farmers are going to put much land down in grass. If they don't do this, the land will cease to produce a normal crop. The unrest of ignorant people that want something for nothing; don't want to work much and yet want to have plenty; that is why it takes the farmer from sun up till after sun down to produce.

SAMUEL JOBE—I have given up a farm of 255 acres for one of 96 acres, on account of the high priced help and farm machinery. The prices on products the farmer must buy have increased rapidly and may be higher, while, if farm productions do not decrease in value, the government sets a standard price to make it cheaper. It may be relieved if the farmers organize, agree to grow less, and charge higher prices for the grains.

Resigns From Cornell

DR. JACOB G. SCHURMAN, president of Cornell University for nearly 23 years, will leave that institution June 23. He recently resigned, after having been elected to the position of a great institution should not retain his post more than 25 or 30 years.

He added that his resignation, delayed because of postwar problems, was not a resignation from Cornell but a resignation from his duties as president of Cornell. Dr. Schurman was elected to the presidency of Cornell in 1892, succeeding the late Charles Kendall Adams. He is descended from a Dutch family of colonial New York, and was born at Freetown, Prince Edward Island, on May 22, 1854.

In 1875 he received the Canadian Gilchrist scholarship in connection with the University of London and during the next five years he studied abroad. Returning to Canada in 1880, Dr. Schurman taught in Acadia college and Dalhousie college. In 1886 the Sage professorship of ethics and philosophy was established at Cornell and the chair was offered to him. He held this professorship until his election to the presidency.

President Schurman was head of the first United States commission to the Philippines and spent the years 1899 to 1902 in those islands. In 1912-13, during the second Balkan war, he was United States minister to Greece and Montenegro. He is the author of a number of books.

He is an honorary doctor of laws of Columbia, Yale, Edinburgh, Williams, Dartmouth, Harvard, Brown, and the University of Pennsylvania, and an officer of the French legion of honor.

Senator Hitchcock could probably tell an interesting story some day about his troubles with President Wilson, which would perhaps throw light on why Mr. Lansing was summarily dismissed.

Internationally, the departure of Mr. Lansing will cause much uncertainty for our ambassadors and ministers abroad have long felt that they were unable to execute their tasks because of the lack of knowledge of what the department of state had in mind. There will be even more perplexity because it will take the new secretary of state some time to get his bearings. Mr. Lansing's going will be regretted by newspaper men generally, who regarded him as not necessarily the best secretary of state we have ever had, but as one of the highest types of public official—an honest, Christian gentleman who gave more to the president than he ever received.

Can Catarrh Be Cured

Does It Cause Tuberculosis, Pneumonia, Influenza to Be Contracted?

Free Examination and Lecture by Catarrh Specialist.

The medical director of the Indiana Catarrh Institute, 1436 North Illinois street, Indianapolis, Ind., is going to be in this city for one day. He will give privately, a free examination and consultation to everybody that goes to see him, as well as a very interesting and instructive lecture on just what catarrh is what it will do to a person afflicted with it and give proof that catarrh has been cured and is now being cured every day right in this city.

This expert Specialist has spent seventeen years in the special study and treatment of chronic Catarrh, has seen thousands of cases and positively pays no attention to any other disease than Catarrh. He is at the head of a large institution in Indianapolis, which is devoted exclusively to the treatment of this one disease. He has an entirely new and different system of successfully treating this disease, and he will be glad to demonstrate to all who call on him.

This pleasant and successful system can be used at home, at a very small expense, without the loss of time or inconvenience. It works successfully on the worst old cases of catarrh, throat, bronchial tube, chronic cough and bronchitis, dropping mucus in the throat, pains in the chest, shortness of breath, clogged up head and nostrils, hawking and spitting, frequent, severe colds, Asthma, Hay Fever, Chronic Catarrh of the Stomach and Bowels, and all old "run down" conditions due to catarrh.

Chronic Catarrh is often the forerunner of Tuberculosis, Influenza, Pneumonia and other fatal diseases. Stop wasting time and money on sprays, douches, salves, appliances and the methods of ordinary doctors. Go and consult a real specialist on this disease. It does not put you under any obligation in any way. He is glad to advise you freely.

He will be at the Arlington Hotel, on Monday, February 23, from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. and every twenty-eight days thereafter.

If it is impossible for you to call on him in person, you should write to find out all about his new system that is curing people. Just address a card or letter to the Indiana Catarrh Institute, 1436 North Illinois street, Indianapolis, Ind.—Advertisement.

REAL ESTATE MAN IS ENTHUSIASTIC OVER THE CHANGE

Frank J. Anderson, a prominent real estate man and a member of the South Bend Real Estate Board, with offices at 663 Farmers Trust Building, South Bend, Indiana, gives the public the benefit of his experience with Tanlac, the medicine that proved so effective in building up his system following an attack of influenza, a year ago.

"In the spring of 1919," said Mr. Anderson, "when the 'flu' epidemic was at its worst, I was an easy victim, for I was already in a run-down condition. Well, it took hard work to pull me through and when I did get out of bed I was too weak to do anything except sit around. My appetite was gone and my stomach, which had been in bad shape for six or seven years, troubled me worse than ever. During all those years my stomach was in such a condition that if I ventured to eat such things as fried potatoes, soup and beans, or any of the more substantial and nourishing foods, I would bloat up with sour gas, get short of breath and just feel miserable. I had neglected the importance of keeping my system built up and I said when the 'flu' came along I had a case that came near costing me my life.

"After being up for sometime and seeing no sign of returning strength I decided it was high time for me to do something, if possible, to bring back my strength and keep from taking a back set. So one day I was talking to one of my friends about my condition and he advised me to get Tanlac, saying he believed it was the only medicine that would actually do the work in such cases, as he had tried it himself. So, I took his advice, got me some Tanlac and will always bless the day I began taking it. It was almost no time, you might say, after I began taking Tanlac until I was able to walk all about the house. About the first thing Tanlac did for me was to give me the best appetite I ever had. I soon began to eat heartily and, as everything agreed with me, I commenced to get my strength and natural feeling back. Then I noticed my stomach was in better shape than it had been even in years before I had the 'flu' for I can now eat the foods that used to hurt me and never feel a sign of indigestion afterwards. Well, as I took Tanlac I kept on improving and in a short time I was working at first one thing and another that had been neglected about the house while I was sick. In two or three weeks after I began taking Tanlac I was absolutely free of any bad feeling and have been ever since, although it has been almost a year since I took Tanlac until now. I am taking it now as a preventative against the 'flu' epidemic which is almost as bad as it was last year, and if being in good physical condition counts I certainly ought to escape for I am feeling just splendid. I can now sit down to the table and eat a square meal with as much pleasure as I ever could in my life, and I'm always feeling too good to complain. I certainly feel thankful to the Tanlac company for making such a splendid medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Richmond by Clem Thistlethwaite and by the leading druggists in every town.—A diversion.

Memories of Old Days

In This Paper Ten Years Ago Today

Henry C. Fox, Judge of the circuit court, threw the first bomb among the supporters of the plan to establish the county insane hospital at the county infirmary, in a communication to the county commissioners in which he expressed the opinion that a mistake would be made in locating the hospital outside of Richmond.

An early morning temperature of 15 degrees below zero broke all records for a number of years. The Wayne County Boys' Corn Club was organized by County Superintendent Charles W. Jordan.

The Wayne County Teacher's association went on record as being in favor of a county school of agriculture.

Could Not Eat or Sleep

Vinol, our Cod Liver and Iron Tonic, gave him appetite and felt like different man.

Ruston, La. — "I am a working man and got all run down so I could not eat, sleep or work. Vinol was recommended for my condition. It built me up so I eat well, sleep well, can work all day long and not feel tired. In fact, I feel like a different man since I took it."

JOHN H. WILSON.

"Men fret and worry." That's why they overwork, get nervous, all run down, have no appetite, and can "hardly drag around." Vinol creates a hearty appetite, induces sound sleep, invigorates the nerves, creates strength and quiets the nerves.

It is the beef and cod liver peptones contained in Vinol aided by iron and glycerophosphates which makes it such a famous blood maker, nerve builder and strength creator.

"What's in a Name?"

BY MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name; its history; its meaning; whence it was derived; its significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel.

Syndicate, Inc.
(Copyright, 1919, By The Wheeler ADELE.

Derived from the Teutonic Adilo, which also is the root of Adeline, the name Adele is one of the most ancient known to students. The significance of the name is the most heroic character and it was a favorite with the ruling houses of the various German principalities as far back as the tenth and eleventh centuries. The name in its earliest beginnings was very much the same in form and even spelling as it is today. Adela is probably the widest variation in the course of centuries.

The name was widely adopted in France, as well as in England and Italy, under different forms from Adalaida to Adeline.

The jewel associated with persons bearing the name Adele is the turquoise. The turquoise is held to have peculiar properties of protecting the person wearing it from evil influences, and warning them of approaching danger by breaking. Friday is Adele's most fortunate day and her lucky number is six.

Dinner Stories

"John," said a loving wife, "I wish you would sing me two or three lines of a song for me."

"What on earth do you want me to do that for?"

"There is something I want you to bring home, and I've forgotten what it is, but I think I'll remember it if you sing."

The good-natured husband complied, and the charming wife said:

"I remember now. It's a file I want."

The literary society was meeting in Odd Fellows' hall. The Rev. Josiah Dodson presided. James Bulver McHenry, the noted orator from the adjoining county, was speaking on "The Peace Table," and the audience was rapt in respectful attention.

"And that was what they conceded," he concluded. "I ask you, fellow-citizens, what does this nation need? What is her necessity, as she leaves the far western shore and steps proudly across the Pacific and in the eyes of the world lays the hand of democracy upon the brow of the Orient? What, I repeat, does she need?"

"Rubber boots!" hiccoughed the town souse.

Never contrive to make it easy for your concern to get along without you.

DON'T NEGLECT THE LITTLE ONES

A snuffling, sneezing, coughing child certainly is a reflection upon the parents. To permit a child to suffer from a cold is more than negligence
