

Heart and Beauty Problems

By Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married woman 26 years old and have been married nine years. I have no children and my mother and father are both dead. When I was first married I loved my husband and he seemed to care for me, but he started going with other women. I stayed with him and tried to do what was right.

Last year I had a lady friend, or at least I took her for a friend because she was older than I and I thought she would be like a big sister. Instead she has almost broken up my home. She would go out with me one day and the next she would be out with my husband. We fuss about her all the time and he always takes her part. I am at a loss what to do, as I hate to leave my home.

I have a lot of friends, but he does not like any of them. He never takes me anywhere. If I go, I have to go alone or with some one else. We have lived with his people ever since we were married and he seems to take more interest in them than me. I get so lonely and blue sometimes I feel that I can't stand it. I will be glad to take any advice you will give me.

LONELY JACK

Let your heart guide you. If you want to stay with your husband, do so, because you have chosen the way that will make you happiest, assume a cheerful attitude and do not try to change your husband's ways. If you accept your husband as he is and really enjoy his company, he will care more for you. He will enjoy companionship with you more if you are not spent talking about the other woman.

Since you have no children, your heart may yearn for a new start in life. If so, you are justified in loving your husband and his people. Perhaps you would be happier working and living where you can enjoy friends of your own choosing.

It is comforting to know that no good thing is failure and no evil thing success. You may be unhappy now, but if you do what you believe right, contentment will come. The woman who is accepting attentions from your husband is looking for happiness through evil and although she seems to find it, sometimes she will pay the price in suffering.

She Married an Average Man

By ZOE BECKLEY

"Mrs. Pardoe, what kind of a girl is Rose Green?" I asked my visitor to-day.

"Oh, a snitch of a critter, if I do say it, and she the child of my half-brother Nathaniel," answered Agatha. "She's got it into her head that the Corners ain't good enough for her. Wants to go to New York."

"I know. She has asked my husband to give her letters of introduction and advice, and all that. I only wondered if she was—well, perfectly sincere in wanting to go, or whether she was—was only—"

"Boozoozing Salsberry," finished Mrs. Pardoe briskly. "I don't blame you for askin'—Rose is my half-niece, but that don't keep me from seeing she's bent on gettin' what she likes to call 'the full of life'."

"Now, Rose's idea of the full of life is having a string of men traipsing after her. She don't look it—oh, no. She looks just like a picture I got in my kitchen called the Raphael Madonna. Heaven preserve me from matron-faced women. I say! I suspect 'em. No one could be as innocent as Rose looks; it ain't natural. When a girl's got real feelin' it makes little marks in her face—lines and shadows. When a face ain't nothing but a blank, I say watch out; the only feelin' she's got is wanting to grind an axe."

Rose ain't been to my house since she put on long skirts except to get something."

"But, surely she isn't interested in married men?" I remarked.

Mrs. Pardoe shrugged her lean shoulders and bit off her thread with a snap. "There ain't much in Hammonds Corners to choose from," she replied noncommittally. "Some girls just plays the game for the game's sake, not meaning anything in particular, just keepin' their hands in, at the saying goes."

"I think my husband could probably get her a position in New York," I suggested, "if she really wants to go." "Then I'd urge him to," said Agatha Pardoe, looking up earnestly from her sewing. "Every woman in the Corner's be grateful to you! I ain't sayin' anything against Rose Green's character understand. Mrs. Salsberry's in her half-aunt. But there's some girls that's like flies in the kitchen."

Suburban News

JERSEY, Ind.—Miss Carrie Bonn is spending a few days visiting her sister Mrs. Frank Templeton. Miss Ruth Brookbank had for her guest Saturday and Sunday. Miss Williamson of Liberty, Raymond and Harry Pohlar spent Saturday and Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Watson. Miss Ruth Brookbank gave a Valentine party Saturday evening at her home for her high school chums. Clarence Haag and wife, Andy Braudendistel, and Miss Leona Hagg attended the funeral of Miss Rosa Hagg at College Corner Monday afternoon. Miss Lena Pohlar spent the week end with friends in Cincinnati. Charles Gutapsel spent the week end with friends near Sunman. Mrs. J. N. McMahan and Mrs. Fred Brookbank were the dinner guests of Mrs. Frank Craft in Liberty Wednesday. Charles Gutapsel and Frank Templeton attended a big sale Tuesday near Carmel. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Witt and Ray Miles were in MIDDLEBORO, Ind.—Mr. and Mrs. William Putthof and children of Richmond spent Sunday with Mrs. Mary Ann Pemberton. Persons from Richmond, Whitewater, Pleasant Hill, and Chester attended the funeral of Sylvester Cook Friday. Miss Olive Pyle of Knightstown, a niece of Mrs. Pyle also attended the funeral. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Needum and daughter Doris of Richmond spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bogen.

GRATIS, O.—Miss Eva Wearnor of Germantown, visited her grandparents this week. The Gratis Comedy company presented "Hickory Farm" for the farmers' institute at West Elkhorn Saturday night. Margaret Bookwalters was sick with la grippe last week. Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Smith attended the farmers' institute at West Elkhorn Saturday. Robert Marquet and Elizabeth Karicofe, Miss Opal Stubbs and Fay Apple made a trip to Camden Thursday. The high school will present "The Dutch Detective" at the Community hall, Feb. 20. William Elkenberry moved Liberty Tuesday. Mrs. Fred Brookbank pleasantly entertained the Highland Economics Club, at her home Saturday afternoon, February 14, the rooms were decorated with Valentines. The program consisted of February birthday responses, songs, readings and Valentine verses. Mrs. Clarabelle Hodge of Quakertown, gave several readings. Mrs. Laura Scott read a paper on "The Beloved Physician." Mrs. Brookbank entertained the ladies with music, contests, and served a dainty luncheon of ice cream, and heart shaped cakes. Those present were: Mrs. Ola Doty, Mrs. Mary Miles, Mrs. Emma Lackey, Mrs. Iva Hagg, Mrs. Laura Baudendistel, Miss Leona Hagg, Mrs. Laura Scott, Mrs. Lucy Schuster, Mrs. Budd Johns, Miss Ida Witt, Mrs. J. N. Zatha McMahan, Mrs. Bertha LaMar, and Miss Clarabelle Hodge, the guest.

ANTIOCH, O.—Mr. and Mrs. John Benneman were Wednesday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Atgar. Virgil Toney of near Arcanum, was a visitor Friday, at the Cliff Huffman home. Mrs. Orval Foster and sons, Lewisburg, are spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Wysong. Mrs. Luther Brown is caring for Mr. and Mrs. Ross Brown, who are flu victims. Mrs. George Swope spent Wednesday with Mrs. Bolyer Dixon. Mr. and Mrs. Chester Miller are the parents of a boy, born last Tuesday.

CHESTER, Ind.—In celebration of her birthday, Miss Bonnie Carman entertained the following friends at dinner at her home here, Sunday evening: Misses Carrie Boerner, Marjorie Pickett, and Blanche Carman, and Maurice Hinshaw and Herman Sheffer. Misses Nellie Morrow, Marjorie Pickett, and Bonnie Carman attended the Teachers' Institute at Richmond Saturday. Miss Maggie Kendall has returned from an extended visit with relatives and is now at home at the house of her brother, Michael Kendall. The funeral of Mrs. Roy Kettinger, who died at her home north of here last Thursday night, from pneumonia, was held at Arba, Sunday afternoon. Burial was at Arba cemetery. Mrs. Bert Carman spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hiatt at Centerville. Mr. Hiatt is in poor health. Miss Adelaide and Alfred Kemp visited their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Rossor, Saturday. Mrs. Frank McDonald spent several days last week with her daughter, Mrs. John Rothermel, near Hollensburg who has been seriously sick with influenza and pneumonia. Mrs. Mary Smith is sick. The Ladies Aid Society served lunch at E. W. Hensley's sale last Thursday. Mrs. Hall, of Indianapolis is visiting Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Martin.

HAGERSTOWN—A valentine party was given at the home of Miss Dorothy Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Porter, on Perry street, Saturday afternoon. Those present were the Misses Esther Porter, Louise Burross, Hilda Jones, Edna Bernhardt, Mary June Ramsey, Bernice Thompson, Virginia White, and Winogene Leavelle. Refreshments of cake, chocolate and heart-shaped ice cream were served. Also candy hearts in dainty baskets. The guests were entertained with music. Mr. and Mrs. Exum Copeland and daughter are sick. Mrs. A. A. Fritz is sick. Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Hall and Mrs. C. M. Tector attended the funeral Monday of Mrs. Hall's sister-in-law, Mrs. Ervin Parker at Marion. Mrs. Parker was 35 years of age and is survived by her husband and two little sons, Arthur, age eight, and Robert, age three. The Ladies' Progressive club met Wednesday afternoon of this week, at the home of Mrs. Anthony Hoover, on East Main street. The Woman's History club met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ada Thurston and sister, Mrs. Laura Gebhart, on South Washington street.

PHILMATH, Ind.—Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Clevenger and daughter are now able to be about after a serious illness. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lee and family are well again after a severe attack of the "flu." Morris Plough has come to Earl Doddridge's to work.

Word has been received here of the arrival of a ten pound son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Grant, of Liberty. Mrs. Grant was Miss Gladys Plessinger, of this place. Her friends

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

5,000 INTERESTED IN CASE. WARSAW, Ind., Feb. 19.—More than 5,000 persons in Kosciusko, Wabash, Whiteley, Noble and Huntington counties are interested in the outcome of a drainage controversy now on trial before Special Judge S. N. Stevens, in the Kosciusko circuit court. The controversy is over the dredging of the Tippecanoe river.

</div