The Farm and The Farmer

BY WILLIAM R. SANBORN

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a continuation of Thursday's article.

CHARLES D. JOHNSON, cashier of the Union County National Bank, at Liberty, Ind.—We know of no plans to reduce farm crop acreage in this county, nor do we know of any recent transfer of farms. The sale of farms seems to have come to at least a temporary halt, but prices are well maintained, and there seems to be a tendency to hold acreage firm.

As to new buildings, our folks feel that both labor and material is too expensive and scarce to do much in the new building line just now, and moreover, the weather has been unfavorable for months. It is a little early to figure on what improvements may be made during the spring and summer. We think there are a large number of hogs still in farmers' hands in our section. As to business conditions, our merchants seem as busy as ever, according to the season, and all are prosperous. The Farmers' institute, now in session, is drawing large crowds, the farmers having some spare time at this season.

C. A. SHERA, cashier of the Oxford National—We have heard no talk of a reduction of acreage, we are glad to say. We believe that our farmers will farm to the limit as usual, and have faith in the future demand to warrant doing so. We should hate to see a cut in acreage in cultivation, for any reason whatsoever. It would mean a cut in prosperity. Yes, there are still farms changing hands over this way, at high prices. Our farmers are making money in the main, and retail business still keeps its pace.

J. GILBERT WELSH, cashier of the Farmer's State and Savings bank, Oxford, Ohio—Farms are still being exchanged at good figures and there is no tendency to lower the price of farm acreage, in fact, prices are being fully maintained, so far as we can learn.

We have heard no talk of reducing acreage, except as limited by lack of labor, possibly, in some particular instances, as may develop later. We need some new buildings but on account of high cost of both labor and material we know of no plans for work in that line right now, although some may develop later in the season.

Outlook at Lewisburg, Ohio.

WALDO C. MOORE, cashier of the bank at Lewisburg, Ohio—Our tobacco growers have the bulk of the last two crops of tobacco on hand, although a little of each has been sold at say from 12 cents to 21 cents per pound. The market now seems steady, with little pressure on the part of buyers. This means that we may expect many to reduce their tobacco acreage next season and others to cut tobacco out altogether.

As to general farm crops there has been no talk of reducing the acreage for any reasons whatsoever, at least not among our depositors. So far as we know there is no new buildings planned for Lewisburg just now, but a number of farmers will make improvements and repairs during the coming summer, as now planned.

There is plenty of work around here and labor is scarce, and wages high. Retailers report business satisfactory, although much more money would be in circulation here if the tobacco crops could be moved at what growers claim to be fair prices.

Outlook at Hollansburg.

MR. CHARLES E. FULKERSON, of the bank at Hollansburg, Ohio—Hollensburg is to have a new community store, to be owned by an incorporation composed of both town and county depositors in our bank. The capital stock is $20,000 and Mr. H. R. Harley has been elected president. He is a farmer.

It is not thought that the new concern will put up a building, at least not for the present, but will buy out a going concern here in town. As to farm crops we hear complaints as to labor costs and shortage and a few of our farmers may reduce their acreage to just what they can handle with their own families on that account. Recent weather has caused a lull in retail business, which had been exceptionally good for a long time. We know of no farms which have recently changed hands; demand seemingly temporarily checked. Business is good with our bank and the last year was one of continuous growth with us.

HEARSE IS WINNER IN RACE WITH DEATH BEFORE ENGINE

ALEXANDRIA, Ind., Feb. 20.—E. E. Davis and Harry H. Adams, prominent local men, rode in a hearse and won in a thrilling race with death there.

Mr. Davis, who is an undertaker, was driving the car and started across the Big Four railroad tracks when he noticed a passenger train approaching. He thought that he did not have time to get across the tracks and turned the car on the tracks and ran ahead of the passenger train. The engineer stopped the train after a race of more than 200 yards, with the machine just ahead of the pilot.

Mr. Adams, who is president of the Commercial Bank and Trust Company and president of the Alexandria Business Men's Association, was a passenger in the car. He and Davis were going to funeral west of the city.

Yellow Mustard For Rheumatism

A good hot mustard plaster or poultice is pretty sure to overcome most rheumatic pains and even sciatica and gout, but it's a messy affair and generally blisters.

Heat is absolutely necessary if you want permanent relief. Begy's Mustarine made of yellow mustard with other pain relieving ingredients added, is just as hot, is cheaper, cleaner and more effective than the old fashioned poultice or plaster, and cannot blister.

Besides rheumatic pains and swellings, Begy's Mustarine is speedily effective for lumber, backache, neuritis, pleurisy, bronchitis, sore throat, chest colds, and all aches and pains, because heat eases pain—30 and 60 cents, at drugists or by mail, S. C. Wells & Co., LeRoy, N. Y.—Advertisement.

The role of Captain Amos Barton, keeper of the lighthouse, and father of Flotsam, is played by John Smiley, a veteran actor of stage and screen whose character roles are famous. Cyril Chadwick has the juvenile role of Reggie Hughes, a typical society scatterbrain, and Edward Ellis plays the part of Joey Clarke.

"Out Yonder" is one of the boldest and most daring of all Miss Thomas' pictures, being built around a novel theme, with a plot that moves quickly from one thrilling situation to another. It will be the feature attraction at the Washington Theatre today and tomorrow.

RICHMOND.

"The Open Door" at the Richmond theater today, starts with a fight and ends with a grip on your heart-strings.

If you like mental excitement and emotional punch in your film fodder, this picture ought to fill the bill.

"The Open Door" is, one of the greatest mystery dramas ever filmed. It is the story of a man who assumed the responsibilities for a crime committed by another, and voluntarily went to Sing Sing and served a fifteen year sentence in order that his daughter might have the good things of life. He entered into an agreement with the man who was guilty that upon his release he should be paid $25,000, and should reclaim his daughter, who, during his incarceration was educated and cared for as the daughter of another.

The action starts with his release from Sing Sing, and proceeds through a maze of plot and counterplot that involves a mysterious murder, blackmail, and the final self-sacrifice of the ex-convict when he realizes that to reveal his identity to his daughter would blast her hopes of happiness.

MURRETTE.
"The Shark," a stirring photoplay of the sea, produced by William Fox, and featuring George Walsh, opens its engagement today at the Murrette Theatre.

This tense sea story tells of the vicissitudes through which a young girl passes in search of adventure. She is captured by a human devil and is saved from a horrible fate by a man who would destroy her, but whose manhood is awakened by her helplessness. He becomes her protector and fights for her safety and her life. He wins first admiration, then her love.

FEELS LIKE HERSELF AGAIN;
MRS. MINER, N. 8TH STREET,
STRONGLY INDORSES PEPGEN

Many men and women gain no strength. The least exertion tires them. Dull aches, pains like rheumatism, depression, or "blues" come easily. Ambition and energy are always at low ebb. What is the cause? The cause may vary—but if the Kidneys and Bladder are not doing their work perfectly—you can make a bet—that's where the trouble lies. This lady suffered 12 years. Mrs. E. Klipp, 644 W. Twelfth street, Oak Park, Ill., writes: "Your Balmworts Kidney Tablets certainly have done wonders for me. I have been ailing for 12 years, with Kidney and Bladder weakness, but feel like a NEW WOMAN NOW." All drug-gists sell them.—Advertisement.

These people who have lost hope should follow the example of Mrs. Miner, who lives at 402½ North 8th street, Richmond. Mrs. Miner thought her case was past helping but still she is a believer in the old "Try, try again" adage. After numerous unsuccessful efforts to regain her health she decided to try Pepgen. That she was rewarded at last is best told in her own words.

Mrs. Miner says "I suffered with stomach trouble and the attendant ills such as indigestion, heartburn, headaches and bloated feelings for so long that I thought my case was past helping. I tried so many medicines without obtaining satisfactory relief that I was discouraged.

"When I started to take Pepgen I didn't have much faith in it, but it was so highly recommended that I decided to try it. In a few days after I started taking Pepgen I felt better and as I continued to take it I continued to get better. After taking it for one week I could almost feel myself getting stronger day by day. My stomach troubles have left me and I feel perfectly splendid."

Headaches, backaches, dizziness, constipation and many other symptoms are but the forerunners of breakdowns.

Get Pepgen today at Thistleton's drug stores or any other first class drug store.—Advertisement.
