The following is an account of the marriage of Miss Thelma Watkins of Newcastle. Miss Watkins has many friends here, having often visited in Richmond.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was solemnized Tuesday morning, when Miss Thelma Watkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Watkins of this city, and Mr. John L. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Anderson of Muncie, were united in marriage. The service was read by Rev. W. W. Wiant of the First Methodist church and was witnessed by the immediate families and a few close friends. The bride wore a white gown with ferns and Ophelia roses, and it was before this that the young couple took their marriage vows. During the ceremony Mrs. Frank Kem took the place of the bride. Mrs. Kem is a sister of the bride.

The bride, who is a striking brunette, was never so attractive as in her gown of grey crepe meteor with silver lace trimmings and wearing a bridal bouquet of Ophelia roses and orange blossoms. Immediately following the ceremony, the guests were invited into the dining room, where a breakfast was served. Ophelia roses formed the centerpiece for the table and the color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the menu.

Shortly after this the newly married couple left for an extended wedding trip, the bride traveling in a chic tailored gown of navy blue tulle, with accessories to match. They will make their home in Chicago, where the bridegroom is employed as a construction inspector. Besides the immediate families, the guests who witnessed the ceremony were Mrs. Frank Kem, Mrs. C. M. Gerald Weyl and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hudson.

Mrs. Anderson is one of Newcastle's most attractive and popular young women and has the best wishes of her many friends. Mr. Anderson is also well known in this city, having visited here on numerous occasions.

Home Garden Will Not Cost You Much More

Food prices are high, but food grown in home gardens costs comparatively little more than before prices began to ascend. This additional reason for home gardening in 1920 is put forward by specialists of the United States department of agriculture. They quote a letter from a New York business man. He wrote: "Food costs today are practically double those of 1914, but the cost to plant and care for a home garden has not increased to any considerable extent. The clerk, salesman or professional man who grows his own vegetables and small fruits reduces the family food bill. More important still, he increases the total food supply of the country. He enters the producing class. To a very appreciable extent the home gardener can solve the high cost of living."

How can the man who never gardened learn how to garden? One good way is to write to the United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., or to his state college of agriculture for a bulletin that describes every step in making a back yard or vacant lot help feed his family.

Swain Trio Gives Splendid Recital

Richmond persons who allowed weather or indisposition to keep them from the Edwin Swain recital at the First Methodist church Wednesday night, missed an evening of very good music. Philip Sevasta, harpist, and Miss Florence Brinkman, pianist, appeared with Mr. Swain. The trio will give another concert Thursday night at 8:15 o'clock.

Mr. Swain possesses a melodious and flexible baritone, of which he is perfect master, a gift somewhat rare among vocalists. Every word comes clearly to the audience. His program was varied and well chosen. He pleased best in sonorous aria, "I Martium Am," by Cadman, but the rollicking "Oh, I'm Not Myself at All," by Lover; two negro spirituals, the dramatic "Victoria Mio Caro," by Carissimi, and "Care Solvo," by Handel, were all well received. Every number was perfectly done.

Mr. Sevasta, although hampered a trifle by the weather, gave seven very pleasing short numbers on the harp.

The "Etude Melodique" of Godeffroid, was well liked, as were "Aria Scandavian," by Grieg, and Thomas's "Impromptu."

Miss Brinkman gave five brilliant renditions and her accompaniment of Mr. Swain was done with ease and charm.

The program for Thursday night's concert is as follows:

Scottish ..... Beethoven
By the Sea ..... Schubert-Stoye
Waltz ..... Chopin
Florence Brinkman.

Lungi dal Caro Bene ..... Secchi
A Thought Like Music ..... Brahms
La Partida ..... Alvarez

Edwin Swain
Pastorale Op. 5 ..... Barmontine
Caprice ..... Godeffroid
Selected ..... Philip Sevasta

Aria—Selected ..... Edwin Swain
Nocturne for the left hand ..... Scriabine
Rhapsody No. 7 ..... Liszt
Florence Brinkman

Selected ..... Florence Brinkman
Three Negro Spirituals ..... Burleigh
Hard Trials ..... Guion
Satan's a Liar an' a Conjur Too ..... Rogers
Swing Low Chariot ..... Edwin Swain

Oriental—Dance ..... Bellotta
Russian Melody ..... Cady
Serenade ..... Lorenzi
Selected ..... Philip Sevasta

Sally in Our Alley ..... Carey
Last Night ..... Kjerulf
Ballynure Ballad ..... Country Antrim

Making Merry

At Mealtime, Means Good Appetite, Good Digestion, Good Cheer and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Do You Use Them? If Not, Why?

To sit back after a good meal and know there is not going to be sour risings, gas, drowsiness and discomfort is the logical result of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets immediately after eating. Most people believe they can trace each attack of indigestion to the something they ate and can still "taste." And it surprises them invariably, to note how quickly relief comes after using one or two of these tablets. Whether it is highly seasoned food, rich pastry, the heavy hearty foods or some one particular offender the relief comes just the same. Those who are susceptible to attacks of indigestion or dyspepsia should try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets as they supply the stomach with an alkaline effect just as it does naturally when it is working in a perfectly healthy condition.

A glance around the table will likely indicate one or more who plainly look as if they anticipated the dyspeptic's mournful assemblage of distresses shortly after the meal is finished. Many a bon vivant however, has learned how to leave the table in a happy frame of mind by the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets immediately after eating. And whether it was rich soup, pastry, cheese, or dishes usually rated as "heavy," these tablets contain ingredients that digest food, assist the stomach in the work of digestion and supply the alkaline effect that the stomach requires. Thus before you conjure up the troubles that ordinarily would follow eating some favorite dish try this plan of avoidance.

Or if the trouble is already doing its worst get a 50 cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets of any drugist and note how gently and smoothly your stomach settles down to good behavior.—Advertisement.
