

The Farm and The Farmer

By William R. Sanborn

If you are farmer and don't think cloverseed is plenty cheap at $38 per bushel, "ask the man." He will explain. He had just weighed out a bushel for a farmer when we inquired to learn if, in all his eventful life, he had ever sold cloverseed for so much money?

"No, this is the top price, but on the other hand I have never before paid so much for a load of clover hay. Clover seed is cheap at $38, comparatively speaking. You can sow six acres with a bushel of seed and can cut a load of hay worth $38 or more from every acre, if your land is right. Consider, then, when a farmer would haul a ton of clover 10 miles to town and sell it for $8, and at the same time think he was doing well if he got a bushel of good cleaned seed for $8. Cloverseed is cheap, all right," said he, so we hasten to spread the glad tidings. Maybe you hadn't viewed it from just that angle.

In two of the following interviews there is a hint that some Wayne county farmers may not be inclined to strip to the buff and to then wade in to hard work up to their chins next summer. There has been more than a hint of this from all parts of the country, indeed, as Washington has advised.

May Ship Out Corn.

"We are not shipping in any corn, in fact we shall very likely have some to ship out a little later," said C. E. Sterzenbach, of the Elkenberry elevators at Camden. "We are shipping in some good western seed oats, however. We are paying $1.45 for corn and are getting from $1.10 to $1.15 for cleaned oats just now. We are selling quite a little seed, prime clover going at $39.

"Very little of our wheat looks promising and we are likely to see a lot of sown this spring. As to farmers going down their tillage, that will be done to a certain extent, we think, mostly however, for lack of help, though some may be inclined to take it easier this year, regardless. The country round here seems to be free from all hog infections.

To Cut Down Plantings.

"Many farmers can't feed so many hogs nor cultivate so many acres this year," said John W. Bennett of Boston township. "And I know some who are not going to try to. Too many of the boys and farm hands have gone to town and there are farmers who are going to take it a little easier, which they feel they are entitled to. They can't care for big corn crops to feed big lots of hogs and can get along, regardless, as they figure.

"If enough farmers should limit production, principally to their own needs, we should see a change in the cities, which all would feel. I shall not raise as many hogs myself this year, have 15 brood sows for spring farrowing but raised no fall pigs. There were some losses of fall and early spring pigs, probably not a great many, however; nor do I know of any sickness in the hog pens of late."

As against this view on hog production we quote Ralph Burleson, of Abington township, who said: "We are inclined to feed as many hogs as we generally do, and expect to buy pigs as usual. We wintered but a few sows and depend on buying feeders in season, rather than to breed in large numbers. We buy according to market and supplies of hogs and will probably make no exception this year."

Inclined to Reduce Crops.

"As to whether farmers will reduce their cultivated acreages this year, I don't see how many of them can do otherwise," said A. H. Pyle, living on the Middleboro pike. "Then, too, some farmers are beginning to think that prices are running one-sided, and too much pressure to reduce them has hit the farmer's output, but not the things he must buy, either to farm or feed."

When men quit producing something always happens to prices, although I suppose most men will try to feed the usual number of hogs and take a chance, if they can raise corn to do so, while others will go slow and take it easier, awaiting the outcome. I feed but few hogs myself, but concentrate on a herd of registered Jerseys and do not feed any cattle for market, milk and cream being more in my line."

Hogs Should Go Higher.

"Everything considered, hogs should not stay up, but go higher, they are out of line with the cost of production," is the way Lewis H. Beeson, who lives on the Liberty pike, puts it. "I have 23 brood sows to come right along now and shall raise two litters this year. Didn't lose any fall pigs, having none to lose, as my habit has been to raise but one crop of pigs per year, but will make a change this time and raise two."

While there has been some winter killing of fall and winter pigs, guess

Yellow Mustard For Rheumatism

A good hot mustard plaster or poultice is pretty sure to overcome most rheumatic pains and even sciatica and gout, but it's a messy affair and generally blisters.

Heat is absolutely necessary if you want permanent relief. Begy's Mustardine made of yellow mustard with other pain relieving ingredients added, is just as hot, is cheaper, cleaner and more effective than the old fashioned poultice or plaster, and cannot blister.

Besides rheumatic pains and swellings, Begy's Mustardine is speedily effective for lumbago, backache, neuritis, pleurisy, bronchitis, sore throat, chest colds, aches and pains, because heat eases pain—30 and 60 cents, at drug-gists or by mail, S. C. Wells & Co., LeRoy, N. Y.—Advertisement.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers you, Drink Lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach up with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus causing bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Advertisement.
