Dilatory Income Tax Payers

Income tax payers who failed to consult with the federal officer until the last day for the payment of their taxes can only blame their own sloth for the inconvenience to which they were put.

Months ago the government urged persons amenable to the income tax law to consult officials at once in order that the last minute rush might be obviated.

Too many ignored both the request of the government and the hundreds of newspaper articles proclaiming the necessity of payment before March 15 and explaining some of the intricacies of the law.

The officer who was assigned to Richmond literally was almost worked to death. He was compelled to work long hours, real overtime work that went far into the night, mainly because hundreds of our citizens failed to consult him weeks ago.

Better service could have been given if the tax payers had co-operated with the officer, and they would have been spared long hours of weary waiting in his office if they had felt the inclination to make their reports early in the season.

A little co-operation the next time will obviate much of the delay experienced in this quarter and will make the work easier for the government's representative.

An Example in Investment

The Dayton Journal comments as follows on the method France has employed to curb extravagant spending:

"A useful hint to Americans is contained in a dispatch to the New York Evening Post concerning the inflation of French currency. It points to the increase in circulation of French bank notes during the war from four to nearly thirty-four billion francs, a great amount of which was stored by the peasantry, owing to doubt as to the result of the war. Since confidence has been restored, these people have brought out their hoards and have been buying freely. This action makes inflation actual rather than potential, as it put the hoards in circulation. It increases the demand for goods, sends prices up and in other ways serves to dislocate exchange. In order to retire this surplus, the French government and corporations are issuing bonds that will convert it from 'sending money' into fixed capital saved from income. The French people are buying the bonds as investments.

"By spending surplus money on luxuries and by relaxing the economy formerly practiced, the present level of high prices is not only sustained but encouraged. Instead of doing this the plan is to have the people invest in securities which have a good prospect of being redeemed at maturity in dollars worth 100 cents.

"It will be of interest to observe how the French plan to combat high prices and extravagance and to encourage economy will work out."

Answers to Questions

T. J.—When was Earlham college opened?—It was planned as early as 1837, but was not opened until 1847, and was maintained as a school of advanced grade until 1859, when it was organized as Earlham college.

Pupil—Where was George Bernard Shaw born?—In Dublin, July 26, 1859.

B. B.—What is circumstantial evidence?—Evidence establishing facts which in common experience tend to prove another fact indirectly.

F. J.—What were some of the nicknames of Napoleon?—"The Little Corporal"; "Nap"; "Boney" a contraction; "The Nightmare of Europe."

H. S.—Does the sapphire stone have any special significance?—Marvelous properties were attributed to stones by the ancients. The sapphire was supposed to free from enchantment and to denote repentance.

Reader—What was the Wooden Horse of Troy?—After the death of Hector, the Greeks besieging Troy built a gigantic wooden horse, pretending that it was an offering to the gods to insure a safe return to Greece. The horse was filled with Grecian warriors, the Trojans dragged it into the city, and at night the Greeks came out of the horse, opened the city gates to their companions and sacked the town.

Dinner Stories

"Here you!" cried the fur-coated gentleman to the porter at the subway station. "Don't you think that truck is rather dangerous in that position?"

"Oh?" said the newly promoted porter. "Thinking it rather dangerous, do you? Very good of you to pay attention to such things. I suppose you are going to tell me where to put it? Well, just cast your eye around. What about the ticket office. Wouldn't that look better on the line? And the signal box? Shall we shift it in to the main street? And how about the station-master's house—shall we move it on to the up platform? Any opinion you'd like to express shall receive attention."

The fur-coated gentleman turned away and left the station.

"Ah!" said the promoted porter to the ticket clerk. "Did you see how I tied that interfering old jossor up? Good, wasn't it?"

"Well, I dunno about that," said the clerk. "That happens to be our traffic superintendent."

Arthur was having some friends to tea, and his mother had sent him up to wash himself.

After the small boy had been upstairs for some time and splashing had sounded from the bathroom, the good lady came to the foot of the stairs.

"Haven't you finished yet?" she called.

With a wild whoop Arthur slid down the banisters and presented himself for inspection.

"Why you forgot your ears!" cried mother.

"Well," the son explained carefully, "you only told me to wash my face, and I wasn't sure if my ears belonged to my face or my neck."

Memories of Old Days

In This Paper Ten Years Ago Today

The work done by the three component parts who were arranging the May musical festival showed that a permanent symphony organization was in the grasp of the city.

St. Patrick, the patron saint of Ireland, was remembered in a fitting way by Richmond citizens, the green decorative scheme being carried out even to lunch menus and dishes.

Announcement was made that the forty-sixth annual convention of the Wayne County Sunday School association was to be held in the Methodist church at Greensfork, March 29 and 30.

PAGING MR. IBANEZ.

A call for Mr. Ibanez. Mr. Vicente Blasco Ibanez, author of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," who has recently said that American husbands are afraid of their wives and are slaves to them, and that they should use the old cave-man methods, the same as are used in Europe.

We want to take Mr. Ibanez out to a certain, modest bungalow and introduce him to a certain modest lady. In we assure him, the most modest manner.

Personally, we believe Mr. Ibanez is more than half right, theoretically speaking, but we are anxious to see just what will happen when he repeats his ideas to the lady aforementioned. Just among ourselves, and not to be repeated outside, we believe

Nuxated Iron Helps Make Red Blood

The Kind That Puts Roses Into the Cheeks of Women and Force, Strength and Courage Into the Veins of Men

Watch the People You Meet On the Street—You Can Tell Those Who Have Plenty of Iron in Their Blood—Strong, Healthy, Vigorous Folks

Cut this Out

Sworn Statement of the Composition of the FORMULA of Nuxated Iron

It is conservatively estimated that this remarkable formula is now being used by over three million people annually. Among those who have used and strongly endorse it are many physicians who have been connected with the best hospitals and medical societies, former United States Senator and Vice-Presidential nominee, Charles A. Towne, of Minnesota; Ignace Jan Paderewski, Ex-Premier of Poland and master pianist; Judge Anderson of the United States Court of Claims at Washington; Wm. L. Chambers, Commissioner of the United States Board of Medicine and Conciliation at Washington, and former Health Commissioner Wm. R. Kerr, of Chicago.

Newspapers everywhere are invited to copy this statement for the benefit of their readers. It is suggested that physicians make a record of it and keep it in their offices so that they may intelligently answer questions of patients concerning it. Everybody is advised to cut it out and keep it. A copy of the actual sworn statement will be sent to anyone who desires such. It is as follows: Iron Peptonate, Sodium Glycophosphates, U. S. P. (Monanto), P. 2; Nux Vomica U. S. P., Cascarine Bitter, Magnesium Carbonate Po., Ginger U. S. P., Oil Capsia Cinnamon Presc. U. S. P., Calcium Carbide Precip. U. S. P. Each dose of two tablets of Nuxated Iron contains one and one-half grains of organic iron in the form of iron peptonate, a special specific standard, which in our opinion possesses superior qualities to any other known form of iron. By using other makes of Iron Peptonate we could have put the same quantity of actual iron in the tablets at less than one-fourth the cost to us, and by using metallic iron we could have accomplished the same thing at less than one-twelfth the cost; but by so doing we must have most certainly impaired their therapeutic efficacy. Glycophosphates used in Nuxated Iron is one of the most expensive tonic ingredients known. It is especially recommended to build up the nerve force and thereby increase brain power, as glycophosphates are said to contain phosphorus in that particular state so similar to that in which it is found in the nerve and brain cells of man. As will be seen from the above, two important ingredients of Nuxated Iron (Iron Peptonate and Glycophosphates) are very expensive products as compared with most other tonics. Under such circumstances the temptation to adulteration and substitution by unscrupulous persons, is very great and the public is hereby warned to be careful and see every bottle is plainly labeled "Nuxated Iron" by the Dae Health Laboratories, Paris, London and Detroit, U. S. A., as this is the only genuine article. If you have taken other forms of iron without success, this does not prove Nuxated Iron will not help you. Manufactured Note—Nuxated Iron is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older formulas from products, it is easily assimilated and does not irritate the stomach. Nuxated Iron is not recommended for use in cases of acute illness, but only as a tonic, strength and blood builder. (In case of illness consult your physician.) If in doubt as to whether it is the best, ask your doctor, as we do not wish to sell you Nuxated Iron if you do not need it. We will return your money, if it is sold by all druggists.

LIGHTS. As I write, the greatest physical light in the world is fading. Little by little the shadows lengthen. Soon there will be darkness—comparative, the billions of lights will star the blue sky.

With what inspiration is each sort of light touched!

I have been thinking of this idea of lights for a long time. It struck me nearest when on an evening, before retiring, I sat upon a great porch opposite a large apartment building. There was one lovely light burning in front. Every few minutes someone would pass under it and into their home for the night. Presently the big, beautiful light went out! Soon the lighted house, light by light, became dark.

And then I got to thinking of all the lights that made up life and the world. What would we be, where would we go, without them?

I thought of the old oil lamps and the candle lights, and pictured the scores of wonderful lights of every magnificent design that electricity has made possible. I thought of the great lighthouses with their moving head towers, telling ships to bear their precious cargo well.

I thought of the millions of lights lifting the darkness from the streets of the great cities, and how they were worth more than double their number in policemen.

I thought of the miles and miles of roads being driven over by automobiles—guided by their lights. And of the millions of people who were comfortable and safe and happy and assured—because they were helped to be so, by lights.

But marvelously wonderful as are all the lights of the world, there are those things which hide in the human heart that outshine them all—beautiful thoughts, kind and generous impulses and love—which always lingers long.

For "The light of the whole world dies—when love is done!"

SOVIET REPUBLIC CLAIMED

(By Associated Press) AMSTERDAM, March 17.—A dispatch to the Handelsblad from Berlin Tuesday says a soviet republic has been proclaimed at Hof, Bavaria. Hof is in northeastern Bavaria, and has a population of about 33,000.

POLISH RESERVISTS ARRIVE IN UNITED STATES

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, March 17.—A group of 140 Polish reservists—who fought against the Central powers and later against the Bolsheviks, were waiting at Ellis Island Tuesday for the Polish consul or a representative to furnish them with funds to enable them to return to their homes in different parts of the United States. The men, who arrived on the French steamer Rochambeau, were discharged in France but were informed that they would be paid off upon their arrival here so that they would not spend all of their money in Paris before boarding the ship.

Hood's Mince Meat

Makes Delicious Dishes

Imagine a flaky mince pie, well browned and rich with spicy fragrance, filled with Mince Meat made from choice, sun-ripened fruits, creamy suet and choice bits of tender beef, cider vinegar and a variety of spices. There is no better pie filling. Hood's Mince Meat is concentrated richness—all the water has been removed and the product sealed in wax-paper cartons, coming to you fresh and appetizing.

To each nine ounce package simply add a pint and a half of water and boil 20 minutes. Allow to cool before putting in crust. If you have time put the same amount of water over it and allow to stand over night, then cook 20 minutes in the same water.

Use Hood's Mince Meat in pies, fruit cake and fruit puddings. You'll find it different from other kinds, rich and satisfying.

It is more economical because you are not buying water but concentrated richness. Good the year round. Ask your grocer for Hood's Label Mince Meat.

Fruit Pudding—Break contents of package of Hood's Mince Meat into pint of water, cook 20 minutes and let cool. Add 2 well beaten eggs ¼ cup suet chopped fine, cup of browned bread crumbs rolled; teaspoon vanilla; a little citron. Bake one hour or steam 2 hours. Serve hot with sauce.
