Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless, is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified coconut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Advertisement.

100 Boys Study Ways of Electricity in Garfield

Under the direction of W. B. Miller, teacher of cement, and electrical construction work at Garfield school, a group of nearly 100 boys included in four classes are taking up with great zeal, practical electricity work.

They gladly accept repair "jobs" from residents, the only provision being that no definite time of delivery can be promised. This has not proved a drawback, however, as a large amount of work has been turned out in short order.

Electrical repair work is considered a splendid basis for inventive and constructive work.

Peace Patriotism Is Plea of Hays

(By Associated Press)

ROANOKE, Va., March 17.—Declaring that the Republican party stands first for "the honest, efficient, and economical business administration of the country's affairs," Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican National committee, in an address before the State Republican convention here today, pleaded for "patriotism in peace as well as war," and asserted that the country has "slipped along under this democratic administration, without any adequate thought of the problems that would confront us until the shock of peace was here, just as we did before we entered the war."

Outlining the principal things for which his party stands, Mr. Hays said: "I suggest that above all things the Republican party stands first for honest, efficient, and economical business administration of the country's affairs. It was formerly said that, 'Honesty is the best policy' as a matter of business. Honesty is the best policy as a matter of morals. In like manner there is but one kind of successful politics, of faithful, efficient, honest, and economical administration. The only successful politics in the situation today is to find out what is best for the country and do it first. We want more men in politics for what they can give and not what they can get."

OLD-TIME FUNERALS SLOW; MODERN ONES ARE SPEED EVENTS

The speed of present-day funerals would have precipitated a riot 25 years ago.

Custom in those days decreed that funeral corteges should not move through the streets of Richmond faster than a slow walk, and the pace was not allowed to increase even when the burial was in one of the nearby towns.

Today the body is interred, prayers and tears poured forth, and the funeral disbanded, in the same length of time it formerly took the old-time corteges to pass down Main street.

Old time custom also decreed that the funeral corteges must make an appearance on Main street, and other conveyances or people dared not cut through a funeral, no matter how slowly it moved or of what length.

New Is Ill Omen.

Later this habit developed into an ill omen for any breaking it and consequently the busy traffic at Eighth and Main streets will today be held up to let a funeral pass. Also it is a sign of death to the immediate family, to count the number of coaches or machines in the cortege.

Richmond funeral directors motorized their equipment about five years ago. This change from the old to the new took place in Richmond later than in other towns.

Richmond funeral equipment was an impressive sight, all the coaches glistening in black and the drivers with high silk hats, black suits and white gloves, and the perfectly matched horses.

Horse Funeral Rare Sight.

When motorization took place, however, Richmondites forgot the impressiveness of the old time equipage and took up motor funerals. Five years ago it became a mark of distinction to have a motor funeral. The military funeral for Warren Elliott two weeks ago, was the first time in five years that a horse drawn hearse was used.
