Which Bridge should a woman choose?

The Weak or the Strong One

If you see before you a strong and safe bridge leading to your goal, would you ignore it and choose some insecure and tottering structure?

If you were offered sure aid in time of trouble would you hesitate to accept it?

The answer is simple—you would choose what all evidence showed to be the safe way—and you would risk nothing in useless experiments.

Why then do some women risk one of their most precious possessions—their health—in trying medicines of unknown value, when everybody knows that the most successful remedy for woman's ills is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Here is more proof:

Reading, Pa.—"I had organic inflammation, pains in the side and back which were so sharp that they put me to bed. I wanted to just brush or comb a little "Brownstone" through your gray, streaked, or bleached hair and see it change like magic to black, soft, shiny, rich, dark, solid black—the shade desired—the exact color to set off your complexion.

Gainesville, Tex.—"For three years I suffered untold agony each month with pains in my side. I found only temporary relief in doctor's medicine or anything else. I married my husband and I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I mentioned it to a neighbor and she told me she had taken with good results, and I decided to try it. I was given in bed for six months, and my doctor said I would have to be operated on, but we decided to try the Vegetable Compound, and I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I still take the medicine and am able now to do my housework. My friends say, 'My! What a look you have! What do you do?' Who is your doctor?" and there is only one answer, "Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines."—Mrs. W. M. STEPHENS, 202 Harvey St., Gainesville, Texas.
