Suffrage in the Balance

Suffragists anxious for the early ratification of the nineteenth amendment are becoming slightly agitated lest the positive assurances of Mrs. Catt and other leaders are not to be fulfilled, says the Indianapolis Star. Two states of the necessary 36 are yet lacking. Washington can doubtless be depended on for a favorable vote, and Delaware has been counted on as reasonably certain, but as the day of voting approaches doubts arise. Strong opposition to ratification has developed and there are fears that the latter state may line up with states farther south. Much indignation is manifested by antis over the action of the West Virginia legislature in having supported the amendment contrary to a large popular vote against it and feeling seems to run high on both sides and has extended into Delaware.

It is admitted by suffragists that in case Delaware fails them, their only hope is getting a special session called in Vermont or Connecticut, or perhaps both. The governor of Vermont has so far flatly refused to call a session, that it is hardly likely that he can be persuaded to change his mind. Even with the necessary one vote, the women admit that they would be without the leeway of a single state should the decision of the supreme court in the Ohio referendum case go against them.

It is a close shave that the amendment confronts at present, with the chances of success and failure at the last moment about equal. Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the National Woman's party, who led the offensive picketing movement in Washington last year, has moved on Delaware and is indulging in loud talk that will do her cause more harm than good. While it is true that the suffrage cause is practically won, there is a possibility that the women may yet suffer an unexpected delay in the enjoyment of their triumph.

ATTACK ON U. S. CONSULATE
WORK OF BOLSHEVIKI
(By Associated Press)
GENEVA, March 18.—Police authorities declare the investigations they have made relative to the bombing of the American consulate at Zurich confirm their theory that the attack was a Bolshevik attempt at revenge for the deportation of soviet sympathizers from the United States. Regret for the incident has already been expressed to Washington by the Swiss government.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

HOW MANY EYES HAVE YOU?

Some people have only two eyes—others have a thousand.

Happiness is just relative, but success is determinative. We think happiness, but we select success, and then enlarge it all the time according to our will.

Every day we all miss very wonderful sights and experiences. We don't look their way. We close a lot of our eyes. Every once in a while someone comes along who explains the most common sort of things to us—and at once they loom quite wonderful.

Some people look up into the sky and only see what they have been told are stars. Others see a billion worlds—many much larger than the one on which we live, and with forests attached to them so wonderful that men have given their entire lives to their study.

The common dandelions are among the most gorgeous of flowers, but the majority of folks think of them as weeds to be gotten rid of as soon as possible.

Those who have studied the tiny snowflakes, and have seen with their own eyes the miraculous formations into which they fall to the earth, are well repaid.

It's the number of things which we see that makes a difference.

Our two eyes are only our master eyes. They father the scores of other eyes which make us all that we are. We may even close our two eyes and still see any number of things. For seeing is also remembering.

How many eyes have you? And do you use more than the two which but window all the others?

Answers to Questions

M. D.—What is the difference between radical and fundamental? That is radical which is thoroughgoing, which reaches to the root of the matter; fundamental is that which is essential or which is at bottom what it is declared to be.

Subscriber—Explain the term "bonded goods"—Goods stored in bonded warehouses or bonded cars, on which bonds instead of cash have been given for import duties or internal revenue.

K. J. T.—Did Solon's figure in any other great battle besides the one in the last war? The Merovingian Franks, under Clovis, defeated the Romans under Syagrius. Gaul was lost to the Romans, and the Frankish power was established.

A. M.—What does the ways and means committee of the house of representatives do?—It is charged with devising the methods by which money for the current expenses of the government is to be supplied.

C. X. L.—Where is the government's "conscience fund"?—Technically, the treasury department at Washington does not have a distinct "conscience fund." Conscience money is turned into the general fund. More than $450,000 has been turned into this fund by persons whose conscience have not permitted them to keep money which they believed belonged to the government. Conscience contributions range from a few cents to thousands of dollars. The fund was established in 1811 in President Madison's administration when the first contribution of $5 was received. As high as $35,865 has been received in one year. A letter containing "conscience money," sent

Thin, Nervous People Need Bitro-Phosphate

Weak, thin people—men or women—are nearly always nervous wrecks; thus conclusively proving that thinness, weakness, debility and neurasthenia are almost invariably due to nerve starvation. Feed your nerves and all these symptoms due to nerve starvation will disappear.

Eminent specialists state that one of the best things for the nerves is an organic phosphate known among druggists as Bitro-Phosphate, a five-grain tablet of which should be taken with each meal. Being a genuine nerve builder and not a stimulant or habit-forming drug, Bitro-Phosphate can be safely taken by the weakest and most delicate sufferer, and the results following its use are often simply astonishing.

By strengthening the nerves, weak, tired people regain energy and vigor; thinness and angularity give way to plumpness and curves; sleep returns to the sleepless; confidence and cheerfulness replace debility and gloom; dull eyes become bright, and pale, sunken cheeks regain the pink glow of health. It is sold by Conkey Drug Co. and all good druggists.

CAUTION—Bitro-Phosphate, the use of which is inexpensive, also wonderfully promotes the assimilation of food, so much so, that many people report marked gains of weight in a few weeks. Those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh, should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.—Advertisement.

Dinner Stories

Senator Borah was discussing one of the German counter-propositions. "The spirit of the thing," he said, reminds me of old man Green.

"Old man Green's house was overrun with rats, and he hired a rat-catcher for $2 to clean the rodents out."

"The ratcatcher worked like a Trojan. He killed a whole packing case of rats. Then he said to the old man: 'There you are, Mr. Green. My job is done. You'll have no more trouble with rats, and you needn't bother about these here dead ones, neither. I'll cart 'em away myself.'"

"How much do I owe you friend?" said old man Green.

"Two simoleons, like what you agreed on, boss."

"Then the old man pointed to the huge packing case and said in a protesting voice:

"Don't I get nothing for all them rats?"

A preacher conducting a mission announced that he would speak the next night on "Lies." The audience was requested to read up in advance the seventeenth chapter of St. Mark.

Next evening, before opening, with piercing glance he inquired how many people had read the chapter suggested.

A score or so held up their hands. At which he thundered:

"You're the very persons I want to talk to—there isn't any seventeenth chapter of St. Mark."

FOR PRESIDENT

SENATOR HARDING

Ohio, the Mother of Presidents, presents another distinguished son for the consideration of Republican voters in the person of Senator Warren G. Harding. His life has been one of strenuous toil and endeavor since the day he was apprenticed a printer. Early manhood found him a valiant editor and, like the beloved McKinley, a vigorous defender of the political principles of Abraham Lincoln. Editor Harding's virile Republicanism gained him fame beyond the confines of the Buckeye state as far back as 1896, since which time he has belonged not more to the Republican party of Ohio than to the Republican party of America.

Senator Harding is now serving his first term in the United States Senate, having been elected in 1914 by the re-united Republican and Progressive parties, his majority being more than one hundred thousand.

Harding As a Business Man

One of the leading business men of the nation says this of Senator Harding:

"Warren G. Harding is essentially a business man. He has business instinct. Beginning with nothing, and building up a big business of his own, and then taking extensive interests in all of the other big enterprises of the city in which he lives, has put him in close touch with the problems of production, transportation and distribution of both manufactured articles and foodstuffs; and it has brought him in close touch with the problems of capital and labor.

"Now, as never before, this country needs a president who has had practical business experience and who can bring us back to safe and sane thinking and safe and sane living."

Is a Man of McKinley Type

In many respects Mr. Harding resembles that other favorite son of Ohio—William McKinley. Both were of Scottish descent. In presence, in manner of speech, in ability to judge of men, in careful, painstaking mastery of detail and tact in bringing together opposing factions on some common ground, there is a remarkable similarity. Mr. Harding is first of all a patriot. He believes in America; in its form of government; is proud of her past and hopeful for her future; and he believes that our highest obligation is to our own, and that the problems which vitally concern us are domestic and not foreign.

Opposes Compulsory Military Service

In a speech at Columbus, Ohio, February 23rd, Senator Harding said: "We might well pledge ourselves never again to be so unmindful of our national defense. We ought to have an ample navy, as our first line of defense. We ought to more than keep abreast—we ought to lead the world in the development of aviation and be stronger in the air than we are on the sea. We ought to have a stronger army than we have ever known in peace heretofore, and we ought to have all the young manhood of the republic know the benefits of discipline and physical betterment that come of military training, but it ought to be VOLUNTARY, not compulsory; supported by the government in camp, in the national guard, in schools and colleges. It ought to be made so popular and so helpful that young America would seek it as a privilege rather than accept it as a duty of compulsory requirement."
