Mrs. Ruick and Trio Charm Audience at Music Club's Recital Tuesday Morning

Mrs. Bertha Miller Ruick, pianist, of Indianapolis, former Richmond woman, charmed a large audience with her accompaniments and three musical monologues in the Murray Theater Tuesday morning, as did her associates, Mrs. G. B. Jackson, violinist, Miss Yuba Wilhite, cellist, and Thomas Nealis, baritone.

Through the Music Department of the Woman's Club, and the kindness of Frank Holland, of the Murray Theatre who furnished his play house, the recital was given free.

Each number was accompanied for short solo work she was announced for short musical sketches by Mrs. Fred Bartel, the Prophylactic Pup, "The Silly Little Clock," and "Smile."

The trio appeared in the melodious Overture from the "Pearl Fishers" by Bizet, and several short numbers including Svendsen's "Romance," Schubert's "Momen Musical," Schumann's "Why" and the Chaminade "Serenade." Their performance was unaffected, technically clear and graceful. Each number received hearty applause.

Mr. Nealis appeared to the advantage of his full baritone voice in the "Vision Fugitive" aria from Herodinde by Massenet; "I Am Thy Harp" and "Invictus," by Bruno Huhn. In the latter he displayed well his tone volume.

Camp Fire Girls Will Present 2 Indian Dramas at H. S. on April 30

Two Indian dramas in dance interpolated with Indian motion songs form the basis of a charming program the Tutokekyia Camp Fire Girls, of the oldest camps in the city, are planning to give in the High School auditorium on April 30. Miss Katherine Reese, guardian of the camp and Miss Elizabeth Kolp, instructor in dancing, are coaching the rehearsals.

Mrs. Fred Bartel and Miss Kolp will personally assist with the program on the night of presentation. Mrs. Bartel will sing several of Cadman's Indian songs.

The Hon. Maurice Maeterlinck has recently consented to become an honorary vice-president of the Camp Fire Girls and their little sisters, the Blue Birds. He has sent them the following letter as a birthday message: "January 21, 1920.

Camp Fire Girls:

Nothing is more beautiful than your law framed as with blue mountains by these two sovereign presences, a Sea Beauty and Be Happy. On no account abandon them. They are the most necessary because they are the least understood. Defend them with more energy than the others because they are the most unjustly criticized.

May they remain the living symbol of your young and knightly army.

(Signed) Maeterlinck."

George Baker Shows Delightful Paintings

By EMMA L. FETTA.

One of the most delightful events of the art season in Richmond is the exhibit of paintings by George Baker, of this city, and etchings by Earl H. Reed, of Chicago, now hanging in the public art gallery in the high school building.

It is more than a pleasure to find two artists actuated by motives as poetic as the these, exhibiting their vastly different works together in the reach of all the people of the community.

Mr. Baker is proving his talent as never before in the display he has opened. That he is no mediocre painter, but one of the most significantly advancing young artists of the country is not an overly bold statement. His technique, harmony, feeling and exquisite coloring are almost impeccable.

"This exhibit of Baker's paintings is vastly superior to the whole exhibit of state artists at the Heron institute, which I visited last week," said a prominent artist Monday morning as he stood before Mr. Baker's canvases. "This from a painter of skill himself, was worth while."

Clear Creek Picture Praised.

"Winter on Clear Creek," the canvases marked No. 1, stands out as the most masterly and satisfactory picture in the exhibit. A large number of persons have expressed their desire that this might become a part of the permanent exhibit. The technical treatment of this picture is admirable, the whole drawing being finely forceful. The colors are good. Coming from the background and swinging past the viewer is a perfectly executed stream. Many an artist has tried in vain to produce the splendid water foreground which Mr. Baker has obtained in this canvass. It will be indeed fortunate if Richmond obtains this as a part of her public collection.

The charming "Autumn Tones" has been sold to an unknown party, while Frank J. Girardin purchased "Clear Creek Hillside," a particularly fine composition. Mr. Girardin also took "Falling Leaves," "Winter Evening" and "Gray Day," each excellent works. Harry Johnson of Centerville, bought the delightful "Passing Winter."

"Hoar Frost" Good Picture

Fine atmosphere and good colors are outstanding in "Hoar Frost." True, the coloring might be softened a little and the technique of the stream, centering the picture, could undergo slight change, but on the whole the canvas is attracting worthy attention. Mr. Baker made his sketch at the time of the not long past hoar frost in this community.

One of the most remarkable pictures in the entire exhibit is "Unsettling," which solved the problem of bringing shadows toward the front of a picture. In the back ground stand several trees back of which the pink of early morning is appearing lighting the meadows and bringing into long shadows the trees. These shadows are comely, yet not awkward—in fact Mr. Baker is never awkward—and they bring a glorious effect. This and the surprising successful green which he has procured in "Summer" are two of the most daringly perfect attempts on display.

Reed Has Lovely Work

Mr. Reed's beautifully executed studies tell their own story of poetic comprehension. He is especially happy in combination of restless wave and sky and dreamy dunes. His skill is past dispute.

His chief sympathy seems to lie with wind blown stretches, although one of his finest achievements is a calm pool and other an excellent head. Frank Edmunds, optometrist, another collector of art, purchased one of the finest smaller pictures in the gallery. These early purchases all by persons of artistic sense of value, speak well for future selling of pictures on display.

One hundred seventy-six persons called at the gallery Sunday from 3 to 5 p. m. Each Wednesday, Friday and Sunday afternoon until April 9, when the exhibit closes, the galleries will be open to the public. They will also be open on Wednesday evening.

Elwood Morris, who has been appointed director of sales, will be present to receive persons interested in purchasing pictures.

Directors of the art association will meet Wednesday at 4 p. m. to select a picture for the permanent exhibit.

STATE VOLUNTEERS TO MEET IN CITY

Three hundred delegates from denominational colleges and universities of the state, together with at least 200 Earlham college students, will attend the sessions of the State Volunteer Union at Earlham April 16, 17 and 18, for the postponed conference, according to an announcement made Tuesday by State President Milton Hadley of Earlham.

John R. Mott, head of the national Y. M. C. A., and Samuel Zwerner, former missionary to Cairo, known as one of the foremost Christian workers among Mohammedans, will be among the principal speakers. It is thought, owing to the influenza situation at Earlham in January the conference was postponed indefinitely. The April dates have been announced following a meeting of the state executive committee.

The convention will open at Lindley Hall at Earlham, where a majority of the sessions will be held. Saturday evening, April 17, a banquet for all delegates will be held, probably at the Y. M. C. A.

One of the churches of the city will be used for the following session, when James Lewis, of the Methodist Board of Foreign Missions, will give a stereoscopic lecture on "Foreign Work."

Leaders Are Named.

Among the conference leaders are Sylvester Jones, associate director of the Friends' Forward Movement, and former missionary to Cuba; Robert Wilde, general secretary of the national Student Volunteer Union; J. L. J. Murray, educational secretary of the national union; E. J. Page, of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, and former missionary to Philippines, and Mrs. Edith M. Hazlett, traveling secretary of the Student Volunteer Union.

Mr. Hadley announced Tuesday that S. Guy Inman, who was to have lectured at the January conference on "Intervention in Mexico," has been recalled to Central America.

Considerable difficulty is confronting the committee on lodging for delegates. Any person willing to house a delegate is urged to communicate with Raymond Jenkins or Paul Whitely, of Earlham.

Heavy fighting between regular troops and insurgents occurred Monday north of Spandau. Strong bands equipped with machine guns which had plundered the village of Boetzow, encountered a company of regulars near Henningsdorf, and the latter were obliged to retire temporarily owing to their inferiority in numbers.

Arrival of reinforcements, however, was the signal for a systematic attack, with artillery preparation, and violent house to house fighting ensued. The insurgents were finally compelled to retreat, leaving 14 dead and many wounded on the scene of the fighting. They were pursued by regulars.

GRANDSON DEMANDS WILL NULLIFICATION

EATON, O., March 23.—In a common pleas court action, Lloyd St. John seeks to have set aside the will of his late grandmother, Rebecca St. John, who for a number of years lived at Johnsville, Ohio.

The grandson names Ezra St. John individually, and as executor of the will, defendant to the action. The executor, who resides in Middletown, Ind., is a son of the testatrix.

The will in question was probated in Preble county, April 15, 1919, following the testatrix's death, March 2, 1919. The instrument was executed at Johnsville, Ohio, Dec. 9, 1914, and the signature of the testatrix was witnessed by S. B. and C. C. Foos, of Eaton.

Risinger Is Home.

Attorney John Risinger is home from Rochester, Minn., where he went a few days ago to consult specialists at Mayo hospital concerning his health. A course of home treatment was prescribed for him.

Plumbers Out Again.

Roddie J. Plummer, local manager of the Jantha Gas company, is able to walk out in town here, after undergoing an operation some time ago in a hospital in Dayton. He has not yet resumed his work with the Jantha company.

Attorney W. B. Marsh, of Richmond, Ind., formerly of Eaton, was in the city a short time today enroute to Dayton, where he is receiving treatment from a specialist.

Court Dates Are Set.

Judge A. C. Risinger an attorneys conferred Monday, relative to trial dates for several cases pending in common pleas court. It was expected the conference would result in trial of some cases this week.

Barnhiser Has Fever.

Waldo Barnhiser, son of Deputy County Clerk S. J. Barnhiser, confined to the home of his parents here as a result of an attack of scarlet fever. The home has been placed under quarantine. Young Barnhiser had been employed in Cincinnati, where he was taken ill, and came here to the home of his parents.
