Every Little Bit Helps

The time is not far distant when the thrifty head of the family and his children will be busy in the home garden preparing the soil for the seeds that later will mature into vegetables for summer consumption and winter storage.

The spirit of spring is asserting itself mightily. A few days of sunlight will warm the soil and wake the earth from its hibernal slumber. Spears of green presently will be peeping out of earth's crust and before many days its surface will be carpeted with new vegetation.

Signs of spring are everywhere. Every grocery store has its display of seeds. They remind us that the home garden awaits its annual tilling. They remind us emphatically that the world is still crying for food, that thousands perished this winter in Europe, and that the yield of countless fields will be required to satisfy the hunger of millions.

If the war taught us the value of home gardens, the reconstruction period, with its high prices here and its starvation abroad, imperatively drives home the lesson of cultivating them anew. The home garden is not a whim, a silly notion, a figment of the fancy, the outcrop of a theorist's foolish fallacy, but a practical and sensible way to produce foodstuffs to offset want. The war gardens saved the nation thousands of dollars. The gardens of the reconstruction period will be equally as valuable and equally as potent in diminishing the demand for food. The world is crying for bread to eat. If the home gardens keep thousands out of the market, the surplus will tend to lower prices and create the surplus which will feed the thousands who have been unable to grow crops.

Richmond held an enviable position a few years ago for its record as a city of home gardens. Few, if any city in the United States, could boast so many gardens in comparison with its population and the number of its school children.

This record can be approached this year, if the thrifty family head cultivates his back yard and a vacant lot. Every idle spot in Richmond should be made to produce. If the world needs accelerated production, Richmond may do its share in no small way by putting in gardens by the hundreds. War gardens, responding to intelligent cultivation, carefully cared for during the summer months, will be a commendable response to the demand for production.

A Way to Dainty Teeth To Safer, Whiter, Filmless Teeth

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

See How Teeth Glisten When the Film is Gone

The results of Pepsodent show clearly in white, glistening teeth. You can see them everywhere, for a million folks now employ it. You can see them on your own teeth when you remove the film. And that's the purpose of this ten-day test.

Film on Teeth Is What Wrecks Them

Dental science has found that most tooth troubles are due to a slimy film. You can feel it with your tongue.

That film clings to the teeth. It gets between the teeth, enters crevices and stays. The tooth brush doesn't end it. The ordinary dentifrice cannot dissolve it. So its damage is unceasing.

That film is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Also of many other troubles, local and internal.

That is why brushed teeth discolor and decay. Why tartar forms and pyorrhea starts. You may remove the debris, but the real cause of tooth troubles—the clinging film—is largely left to do its damage.

Now dental science has found a way to combat that film, after years of searching. We ask you to accept a ten-day test and see the results for yourself.

A TIP TO EMPLOYERS.

A large number of businesses fail, not because of the lack of brains or capital of the employer, but because he puts too high a value upon his capital and too low a value upon his employees.

It's the employees that make every business successful. Of course they must have guidance and leadership, but not foolish dominance. From the office boy up, every employe is a possible employer.

Leave your employes alone as much as possible. Trust them. Give them reigns. If they make blunders, do not discharge them, but teach them. Every time a blunder is made by anyone, it acts as a lesson in betterment.

Enlist the intelligence of those whom you employ in the service of your business. It means a great deal to them, because it is as much proportionately to them as to you.

Many a merchant prince is running errands today.

Teach every one of your helpers to cooperate. It is the law of business success. Every business is an individual machine and each worker a vital and necessary part. And no machine should ever be driven—it should be handled, and that with care and consideration.

Listen to the suggestions of those who work in your organization. Adapt them—and remember to give full credit.

We all work for a certain kind of fine compensation—and that mostly packed into the word "appreciation." It is not for money alone—or even foremost—that we strive, but for the simple thing of adequate service to the height of our ability.

Your employes are each one of you!

Dinner Stories

"So you've got an accident to report, have you?" said the head clerk to the foreman of the works.

"Yes, sir," said the foreman; then he paused a while, gnawing his pen reflectively, before handing over his report.

The latter read as follows:

"Date: March 31. Nature of accident: Toe badly crushed. How caused: Accidental blow from a fellow worker's hammer. Remarks—"

"Right," said the clerk. "But why no 'Remarks'?"

"Well, sir," replied the foreman, slowly, "seein' as 'ow you know what Bill is, and seein' as 'ow you know that it was his toe what was hurt, I—will, I didn't like to put 'em down."

Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Tells Safe, Simple Way to Treat and Relieve at Home.

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels, you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare at your own home at little cost.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmitin (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and add a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless home treatment.—Advertisement.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids.

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.—Advertisement.
