Toll Rates are Explained By Telephone Officials

The following on telephone toll rates has been submitted by officials of the Richmond Home Telephone company:

Although the present telephone toll rates have been in effect for over a year and explanations have been made through the press and by circulars, another brief description of the several classes of service offered will be given for the benefit of the public.

The classes of service offered are "Station to Station," "Person to Person," "Messenger and Appointment," and "Evening and Night."

When a person makes a toll call for any one answering the telephone, and the conversation is held, the "station to station" rate applies. Calls of this kind should be made by number whenever possible. They can, however, be placed by giving the name the telephone is listed under at the called point and requesting "Station to Station" service or by requesting conversation with any one answering the telephone.

When a person makes a toll call for a particular person and the conversation is held, the "person to person" rate applies. As this service requires a greater amount of operating effort and use of toll circuits, the rate is about one-fourth greater than the "station to station" rate. For this class of calls the day rate applies whether the call is made during the day or night.

A "Collect" call takes the "Person to Person" rate.

"Messenger and Appointment" Rate—When the calling party specifies a definite time at which he will talk and the conversation is held, the "Appointment" rate applies. The "Appointment" rate is approximately one-half greater than the "Station to Station" rate. The day rate applies whether conversation is held during the day or night. For "Messenger" calls the rate is the same as the "Appointment" rate, plus the actual messenger expense.

Reduced rates for night service for "station to station" calls are in effect after 8:30 p. m.

From 8:30 p. m. to midnight, the rate is about one-half of the day rate. From 12 midnight to 4:30 a. m. the rate is about one-fourth of the day rate.

These reduced rates apply only to "Station to Station" service.

When a "person to person" call is made and the particular person desired is not in or will not talk, or when an exact telephone address of the person desired has not been given, and he cannot be reached at a telephone within one hour, a "report charge" applies. This charge also applies if the calling party is absent when the connection is ready within one hour, or if he refuses to talk. This charge is to cover compensation for the operating work performed and use of toll circuits, and is approximately one-fourth of the "station to station" rate.

Please make certain, in placing a call, that the operator understands what class of service you desire.

through metal posts and plates. With its "gentle" touch it will strip the feathers from a chicken, leaving the bird otherwise intact, and tie a metal post into knots while carrying it a mile or more.

Houses Burst Open—The whirling motion of a tornado sets up a vacuum or "air hole" within itself and it is one theory that the destruction is wrought when this core passes over an object.

The core nullifies the air pressure around the object, such as a house, and the air pressure within the house causes it to burst open just as deep sea fishes explode when brought to the surface of the water because of reduced outside pressure of the air.

The Different Storms.

The "weather man" differentiates between general varieties of storms which the layman is apt to classify under the general heads of tornadoes, cyclones, or hurricanes. To the scientist, cyclones are either tropical or extratropical. The tropical cyclone is a storm which originates in the tropics and is a vast atmospheric whirl, rotating counter clockwise in the northern hemisphere and clockwise in the southern hemisphere. The winds spiral from the outside toward the center and attain a destructive velocity.

A tropical cyclone or typhoon, as it is sometimes called, always is attended by torrential downpours of rain and may be from 300 to 600 miles in diameter. The winds often attain a velocity of more than 100 miles an hour in their whirl. The last destructive tropical cyclone to visit the United States was that which wrecked Galveston, Texas, on Sept. 8, 1900, causing 6,000 persons to perish and a property loss of $30,000,000.

From 1877 to 1887 an average of 146 tornadoes have occurred annually in the United States.

The thunder storm is the exact opposite of a tornado. The familiar storm rolls over and over, its axis horizontal to the earth, and its vacuum without ability to harm.

ROBERTA

Roberta, the charming boyish name signifying "bright fame," is one of the many examples of feminine names coined directly from the masculine cognomen, Robert. Though Robert can be clearly traced, there is no record of the evolution of the feminine and it can only be deduced that some parent, disappointed at the birth of a daughter, bestowed the family name upon the girl-child and added the final "a" as a concession to the sex of the infant.

Roberta has a charmingly poetical heritage. Her counterpart appears in the most famous passages of England's early history. The origin of the name was in "red," which accounts for the translation of "bright." Curiously enough, Roberta was popular in Italy after being rejected by England, before its vogue in that latter country became so great.

One of the wild Dukes of Normandy brought it back to England and numerous earls and nobles seized upon it, establishing its vogue permanently.

The dearly beloved Robin Hood, whose deeds are recorded in English ballads, did much toward making it popular. Robin was the epithet by which Queen Elizabeth addressed the two earls, stepson and step-father, who sunned themselves in her favor. Robert of Bruce was the national hero of Scotland and Robin Lawless was a favorite Irish character.

Roberta is essentially American, though the contraction, Bertie, which is the endearment for several other names as well as Roberta, has the real Yankee sound. Roberta's talismanic stone is the sapphire, which is said to guard her from danger and disease. Tuesday is her lucky day and 7 her lucky number.

and somewhat unexpected. It means "flourishing" and comes from an old Latin gens who called themselves Verginius. Their name was derived in turn from vireo, meaning to flourish, and was connected to the word "ver," translated as spring. Virginia was the name of the far-famed Orsini family.

The more popular and prevalent belief regarding the origin of Virginia has always been that she came from the Latin virgo, meaning "a virgin." Indeed, the first instance of her use in England was in the time of Queen Elizabeth when Sir Walter Raleigh, named his American colony Virginia in honor of the Virgin Queen.

It was under a similar belief that Bernadine de St. Pierre called the heroine of his tropical Arcadian romance, Virginia. The widespread popularity of this story in England, France and Germany brought Virginia into enormous vogue throughout Europe. France still adores her Virginia, and her popularity in England is assured forever out of sentimental memory of the famous queen.

The first American colony established the name in this country. Likewise the first white child born in on American soil, and named Virginia Dare did much to spread its vogue. The South has always abounded in Virginias, which, unfortunately has been contracted to unmusical "Virgies" and "Jinys."

The emerald is Virginia's talismanic stone. It promises her wisdom, prophetic vision, long youth, and charm. The Hawthorne bud, England's spring flower, is Virginia's flower. Wednesday is her lucky day and 3 her lucky number.

BESSIE

Bessie is of course one of the derivatives of Elizabeth, but so frequently is it given in baptism without any reference to its more proper antecedent that it has come to be regarded as a separate and distinct name.

Through its association with Elizabeth, it has its source in the old Hebrew name Elisheba and probably came to be evolved from the shortened form of Elizabeth to Beth, whence Bess shortly followed. The first Bess on record is said to have been Elizabeth Woodville, whose mother, Jacquetta of Luxemburg, imported it from Flanders. Shakespeare's Edward IV called her Bess and her daughter, Elizabeth of York was called "Lady Bessie" in the verses which told of the political courtship of Henry of Richmond. "Pretty Bessie" is the granddaughter of Simon de Montford in the old English ballad. "Good Queen Bess" is so well known to need comment but through her, Bess had incredible popularity in the English court, at least one out of every three young women bearing the name of the queen. How Bessie, the endearing form of Bess, came to be spelt Bessie is not satisfactorily explained, unless it is the Scotch preference which gained vogue in England. Bessie is a favorite Scotch name, but Betsy its equivalent, soon became popular in England and remains so. Germany calls Bessie, Lieschen. She is Babette in France and Betta in Italian. Russia has a form taken from the German, Lieschen.

The flame-hearted ruby is Bessie's talismanic gem. It promises her courage, invincibility, and long life. Sunday is her lucky day and 1 her lucky number. The lily, signifying purity, is her flower.
