

SOUTHERN COUNTIES SPLIT UP SCHOOL DEFICIENCY FIND

J. S. Hubbard, deputy state superintendent of public instruction, has completed the 1920 apportionment of the state deficiency school fund of $25,464.22 to 147 school corporations.

The apportionment, which has been vexing school officials for several months because of the tangle in the 1919 school deficiency fund act, was computed on the basis of the interpretation of the law by Ele Stansbury, attorney-general.

If the 1919 act had been followed literally, virtually none of the school corporations aided would have been permitted to participate in the fund in order to keep their schools open the full six months as required by law.

Wide range in sums.

The largest amount apportioned to a single corporation from the fund was $6,917.59 to Tobin township, Perry county, which asked for $8,190.98. The smallest amount given to any corporation was $8.38 to Washington township, Dearborn county, which requested $188.69. The smallest amount asked for was $17.82 for Grass township, but the cutting off of 13 days of school cancelled this amount completely.

Every one of the 147 school corporations asking state aid in maintaining schools are included in 25 counties of southern Indiana. None are near Wayne. An examination of the records of past distributions from the funds reveals the fact that for many years the deficient school corporations have been in the southern part of the state.

Washington, Perry, Spencer and Orange counties have drawn large sums from the state in recent years.

Dr. Charles' Nephew Knocks Out Robber, as He Puts Up His Hands After Warning

Merwin Votaw, Muskegon Heights, Michigan, nephew of Dr. James Charles, of this city, was the principal of an attempted hold-up Saturday night.

The Muskegon newspaper in describing the hold-up says that Votaw, employed as an interurban motorman, was on his way home from work about 12 p. m. when a gun was pressed in his ribs and two men demanded he "throw up" his hands and "come-across." Votaw threw up his hand, and one first caught one of the robbers under the chin and the other caught the hand that held the gun. A general fight followed and at the conclusion Votaw was in possession of the gun and the robbers were marched to the police station.

Upon arriving at the station, the police captain noticed blood pouring from Votaw's left hand. It developed that the center finger was partially severed, as a result of the revolver being discharged during the fight.

A reason for Votaw's prowess can be gained from the fact that he was a member of the first division and took part in every battle that unit was entered in.

POLAND NEEDS AID FROM AMERICA NOW

NEW YORK, March 30.—Fifty thousand tons of grain monthly, raw materials and lenient credit, represent Poland's immediate needs from the United States in order to attain a dominant position within two years among European exporting nations, according to a statement made recently by S. J. Arct, commercial representative here of the Polish food ministry. Mr. Arct is in charge of purchasing and forwarding grain and other needed materials to Poland, for which he says his country will be "financially able to pay as soon as the wheels of industry are set in motion."

"Within two years Poland will have rehabilitated her industries, replenished her own depleted stocks and expanded her agricultural production to place her among the largest exporting nations in Europe," Mr. Arct declared.

This surplus, which the near future offers, will provide Poland with the means for obtaining large credit balances enabling her to trade on terms of equality with other nations.

Meanwhile her people must be fed so that they may give their best strength and energy to the stern tasks confronting them."

Ukraine Very Rich.

Mr. Arct asserted that food is also needed for countries to the east now occupied by Poland. Citing the Ukraine as an agricultural district "potentially the richest in the world," he declared this region could, if properly cultivated, yield enough grain, sugar and meat to cover the entire shortage in Poland and in all the Eastern districts.
