Where Our Money Went

If you want to read a chapter in high finance and of reckness expenditure of public funds, provided by the Liberty bonds which we bought, read the report of the joint committee on printing which investigated the operation of the committee on public information of which George Creel was head.

Creel will be remembered as the official censor of press matter during the war, and some of his effusions, especially that of an alleged fight between American naval units and German submarines, still cause newspaper men to smile and grin.

The joint committee in its report to congress reveals some interesting facts.

For instance, $135,000 a year was expended by Creel for the publication of the National School Service, the object of which the committee says was to "convert the teachers of the country to the idea of the league of nations and to urge them to teach that doctrine to their school children."

The committee compelled the administration to cease publishing 111 of 226 periodicals at an annual saving of $1,200,000; cut down allowances for field printing plants $898,000, and has curtailed the activity of the government printing plant to such an extent that $908,184 was saved on print paper alone this year.

Money was "wasted recklessly" on scores of publications in army and navy camps during the war, says the report. Officers of the Great Lakes Training Station not only issued an eight-page daily but also put out a pictorial magazine which rivalled any publication in the million copy class.

When the committee compelled the Official Bulletin to discontinue, it was put out as a private enterprise, the new owners obtaining the name, good will, prestige, value as a going concern, mailing lists and subscription accounts without paying the government a cent for the transfer.

"There seems to have been a deliberate effort to loot this $600,000 a year publication," says the committee's report.

The disclosures of this committee serve to illustrate the high handed manner in which the public money was extravagantly and foolishly spent.

No wonder that the national debt has not been reduced. It is easy to see why the government must put out treasury certificates quarterly and redeem them with the income tax payments. A tolerant American public is growing weary of the shameless expenditure of money for which it is being taxed heavily. It wants economy in high places.

Answers to Questions

W. B.—Who invented the rotary turbine? C. A. Parsons, of England, in 1881.
Subscriber.—Describe a pagoda. A hindoo place of worship, containing an idol. It consists of three portions: an apartment submounted by a dome, resting on columns, and accessible to all; a chamber into which only Brahmins are allowed to enter; and, lastly, a cell containing the statue of the deity, closed by massive gates. The most remarkable pagodas are those of Benares, Bism, Peru, and that of the Juggernaut, in Orissa.
E. C. R.—Do different nations use different colors of mourning? In the United States and Europe the usual color is black; in China, it is white; in Turkey, blue or violet; in Egypt, yellow; in Ethiopia, gray.
C. M. L.—What does the abbreviation H. M. S. stand for? His (or Her) Majesty's service, ship, or steamer.
H. H.—In what year did the Boxer uprising take place? In 1900.

American Legion

Posts of the American Legion in Indiana, including Harry Ray post of Richmond, began a campaign for new members Monday night. Arrangements were made at the regular meetings of the Marion county posts for the promotion of the membership drive, which, it is hoped, will obtain 30,000 new members in Indiana by May 28, a month before the Vincennes convention on June 28. The Posey county and Richmond posts are the only ones that have already started an active campaign to obtain their quota of members.

Resolutions favoring extension of hospital facilities for former service men disabled mentally or physically were passed Saturday by a committee representing welfare agencies for disabled soldiers of Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio meeting in Indianapolis.
Dr. T. Victor Keene of Indianapolis, chairman of the hospital committee, read the resolutions, which had been adopted at a meeting in Cincinnati, and they were promptly approved.
Dr. Kenneth Duhman of Cincinnati, chairman of the educational committee, and Eugene Foster of Indianapolis, chairman of the general committee, spoke on the work of caring for disabled soldiers.

Amos Butler, secretary of the Indiana state board of charities, said soldiers were being given preference in state institutions.

A Sure Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.
By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Adv.

MANY TELL HOW VOLA-TONIC BRINGS STRENGTH AFTER FLU

RICHMOND MAN IS ABLE TO GO BACK TO WORK

System Weakened by Severe Attack of Grip—Vola-Tonic Brought Back His Strength.

IS GAINING EVERY DAY

Among the many people right here in Richmond who have been helped by Vola-Tonic, "Builder Of Strength," is James Haner, 240 South Seventh street, a cement worker.
Mr. Haner recently suffered a severe attack of grip and was so weak when he got over it that he couldn't work but he says Vola-Tonic has built him up and made him feel fine.
"I couldn't do anything when I got over the grip," Mr. Haner said. "For a period of about ten days I was so weak that all I did was lie around the house."
"I read about Vola-Tonic in the newspapers and finally decided to go down to Quigley's drug store at Eighth and Main streets and ask the druggists there about Vola-Tonic and see if they would recommend it."
"Well, the druggists at Quigley's store recommended Vola-Tonic to me and I got a bottle and started taking it. I am now on my second bottle of Vola-Tonic and it has proved to be all that is claimed."
"I have become stronger every day since I started taking Vola-Tonic and I am back at my work again now and find that it grows easier and easier for me as the days pass. Vola-Tonic put my stomach and bowels in good condition and has brought me a fine appetite."
"I heartily recommend Vola-Tonic because of what it has done for me."

Powers of the "Builder Of Strength" Praised by Thousands of People Over Wide Territory.

EXPERT AT QUIGLEY'S

The unusual powers of Vola-Tonic for strengthening and building up men and women who are weak and run down from influenza, pneumonia, grip, colds and the like have been told by people in all parts of this section. Thousands of men and women over a wide territory praise Vola-Tonic for the benefits it has brought them.

The Vola-Tonic expert, who has been at Quigley's drug store at 806 Main street, meeting the local public and explaining Vola-Tonic, will remain here until Saturday afternoon.

Many Richmond people have called to see the expert. Chief among these were men and women who were weakened and run down from influenza and other forms of weakening sickness.

Explaining how Vola-Tonic builds up new strength and brings back better health, the expert said:

"Vola-Tonic stimulates the appetite. Then it helps the digestive organs take nutrition from food to nourish and strengthen the organs and tissues of the body. Vola-Tonic also soothes the nerves and permits sound, energizing sleep every night. New strength and better health come as a result."

Where To Get Vola-Tonic

The expert is at Quigley's drug store at 806 Main St. and will be there until Saturday afternoon. He will explain Vola-Tonic to you. You also can get Vola-Tonic at any other Quigley drug store and at one leading drug store in cities and towns all over this section.—Advertisement.

VOLA-TONIC IS BRINGING BACK HER STRENGTH

Was Hardly Able to Get Around House When She Got Over the Influenza.

HELP CAME QUICKLY

When Mrs. Raymond Baker, 423 Betts street, Cincinnati, O., got over influenza last winter she was so weak and nervous that she could hardly get about the house and she had been that way ever since until recently.

Mrs. Baker started taking Vola-Tonic, "Builder Of Strength," and in just a short time she said she could notice her strength coming back.

"I was in a serious condition when I got over influenza," Mrs. Baker said. "It left me in a badly weakened, nervous, run-down condition. I was so weak I could hardly get about the house and suffered often with terrible headaches."

"When I read so much in the newspapers about Vola-Tonic and saw it so highly recommended I decided to try a bottle."

"I have only taken one bottle of Vola-Tonic now but it has helped me so much that I have every reason to believe it will restore my health completely."

"I can notice that Vola-Tonic is gradually bringing back my natural strength. I am not troubled nearly so much with headaches now."

"I am glad to recommend Vola-Tonic to everybody and am sure it will bring benefits if taken according to directions."

By George Matthew Adams

KEEP GIVING AWAY.

We give for everything that we get, whether we intend to or not. But when we intend to give, we get so much more.

The drone bee gives its life that its bee race may be perpetuated on and on. Its entire thought is toward its own kind—not its own self. The entire life of the bee, whether drone, worker, or queen, is to preserve its community.

And so it is with the human, the noblest form of life—the more that he gives, the greater does he become.

Keep giving away!

Sometimes we give too much, both for our own good and the good of the one to whom we give. But it is not so much in the fact that quantity of act has been performed as in the fact that a fine effort has been set forth to play its way.

Nature is very lavish. Wells says, in one of his interesting essays, that "Nature slays!" But that is only so that the finest may remain to carry on its tradition of beauty.

The sun gives its light and heat and receives back the gorgeous colors of the flower for pay. The very clouds gather in substance and brush their bodies into gentle rain, while the whole carpet of the earth rises in ripened harvests to call it blessed.

And we all profit from these manifestations. We see the hand of the Infinite pointing our eyes to a motto: "Keep Giving Away!"

We can keep so much. The rest must be given away—or else we shrink into littleness, obscurity and oblivion.

Dinner Stories

"And so you learned French thoroughly while over there, son?" said the proud father of the returned soldier.

"Sure! I got so I could say 'Hello' and 'Good-night' and order ham and eggs, and I could ask a fellow to lend me money and tell a girl I loved her better'n anything, and that's all a fellow needs in any language."

One day little Ella was very naughty, so her mother told her she was going to send her back where she came from. Ella replied: "You can't. You washed me and you combed me and I'm used now, and they won't take me back."

"What are your impressions of No Man's Land?"

"I didn't get into the war," answered the morose citizen. "My only view of No Man's Land is home while spring housecleaning is going on."

Two little girls were playing in the street when an automobile was seen approaching. Loretta, the elder, said to her sister, "Look out, Sophia, or the automobile will run over you and you will never be alive again as long as you live."

GOING-GOOD.

It is told of a Kansas farmer that he had filled his cellar so full of private stock that his family could not get in when the recent tornado struck. John D. Rockefeller says that when a boy, his greatest ambition was to be a piano player. But how could he have played all the pianos in the country at once?

SUITABLE EPITAPHS.

For a theatrical press agent: "Here lies a press agent."

"Man Shot. The Knife at His Side," headlines in an evening paper. Whom do they suspect of poisoning him?

The voice with the breath wins. It looks as though nobody made any money out of the theatrical business this past season except those who were mixed up in it in some way.

A burglar stole all the tickets out of a Kansas City theater for a certain performance. With the usual carelessness of burglars he failed to even pay the tax on them.

What's in a Name

(Copyright)

NANCY
The quaintly demure name of Nancy which has come into great vogue in modern times signifies "grace." There was a period in her evolution when Nancy fell into disuse, or was bestowed as a homely, uninspired cognomen, particularly indigenous to rural communities. But Nancy's day has come; she is fashionable and exceedingly pleasant to pronounce.

Nancy's origin lies in the Hebrew Chaanach, signifying "grace" or "grace" and her earliest forbear was Hannah, mother of Samuel. But Hannah is a harsh name because of its aspirate initial, so the process of evolution carried the original word through the successive steps of Anna, Anne and finally arrived at Nan.

It seems curious that Nan was the forerunner of Nancy, instead of being a contraction of the latter name; indeed, it is one of the few instances occurring in etymological records, Nannie, which is Nancy's diminutive, is indigenous to Scotland, though much used in England. Nancy is Annot in the former country.

France has many equivalents for Nancy and Nan, among them being Nanette, Nanon, Ninette, Niche and Nilon. Nancy becomes Nanna and Ninetta under Italian influence. There is even a Dutch form of Nancy—Naatie, and Nann and Nannett are popular in Switzerland.

Amber is Nancy's talismanic gem. It is a magical stone which protects its wearer from danger and disease. Monday is her lucky day and 7 her lucky number.

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell you have darkened your hair, as it does so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.—Advertisement.

TO RELIEVE CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce Parmit (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 24 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmit is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form, or distressing rumbling, hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial.
