

CITY'S STOCKS OF STAPLES UNIMPAIRED BY R. R. SITUATION

Richmond has supplies of most necessities of life to last her for an indefinite time, in case of a complete tie-up of transportation because of the railroad strike. This cheering news was learned in a canvass of the city Wednesday. Imports have decreased three-fourths during the past 10 days.

All of the public utilities report a sufficient supply of coal to meet demands. Richmond coal dealers, while they have not a large supply of coal in the yards, report that as long as Cincinnati remains open, no fear need be entertained because of a shortage of coal.

James P. Dillon, superintendent of the City Light plant, reports that the plant has more coal supply than it has had for several months. Dillon says that seven cars are in the Richmond yards in addition to the large supply at the power plant. He says that as long as Cincinnati or Louisville shops remain on the job, the light plant will function.

Richmond manufacturers who do not use power furnished by the city, almost unanimously said that their coal supply is sufficient to run at full capacity until next fall.

Sugar is Out, But— Wholesale grocery officials report that if they had a supply of sugar, nothing would worry them. The supply of potatoes is running short but these can be replenished at Cincinnati markets. A sufficient supply of staple products to meet a normal demand is available.

Richmond butchers are furnished with fresh meat by local packing houses. These concerns can purchase livestock in nearby country sufficient to supply Richmond for an indefinite time. They can also supply smoked meats. Also Cincinnati packing houses can well take care of the entire Richmond consumption.

Construction work has been slowed because of the Chicago strike, but not enough to cause operations. Considerable freight filters this way from Chicago, despite the strike.

The only serious shortage in Richmond is of freight cars. This is an old ailment and not caused by the strike. Manufacturers are shipping half their normal output, but officials are hopeful of lifting of the embargoes at eastern points. Freight traffic on the G. R. and I. was resumed Wednesday.

No Meeting Held As far as could be ascertained late Wednesday, no meeting of Richmond Penny yard and coin club, held at the Y. M. C. A. had returned to Indianapolis, promising to send other organizers if the Richmond employees desired. However, a census of opinion of Richmond yard employees revealed that the meeting would be thwarted in its endeavor here. The men would volunteer no further information.

GIRL REPLACES SKILLED MAN IN FACTORY

Women are coming up gradually in the industrial world. They are slowly climbing out of the unskilled class and into the higher circle where only skilled men have held sway. They are becoming expert factory hands and more and more are holding down jobs for which formerly only men were thought to be fitted. This cheerful young miss is an efficient lithograph pressman in Portland, Oregon. With her flat-heeled shoes, overalls and rolled up shirt sleeves she is all ready for a hard day's work. She runs a multicolor label press in a Portland factory and although she is only twenty-four years old she handles her big machine as expertly as did the man whose place she took. There may be another reason for her beaming smile, for she receives "equal pay for equal work."

True Love Laughs Again At Frowning Obstacles

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, April 14.—Edmond E. Hadley, of Grinnell, Ia., has arrived here from the near east, with his bride, formerly Miss Marguerite Faye, a Belgian refugee whom he met at Chamonix, France. The story of their romance might be taken as proof that love laughs as heartily at international blockades as at locksmiths. After the relief units to which Mr. Hadley was attached in France were demobilized, he was sent to southern Russia, where Denikine and his army opposed the soviet forces. When the Bolsheviks broke the Denikine line and drove that leader back into Kuban, Mr. Hadley found he was cut off and that egress was almost impossible. Soon after he had made his discovery he received word that Miss Faye was in Tiflis, where she had gone to meet him, and he determined to cross the mountains to that city.
