The Home Garden

If the war garden was a war-time necessity, the peace garden is a prime necessity of the readjustment period.

War conditions demanded that food be raised where it had not been produced before, with labor not employed in agricultural pursuits, and in places where its transportation to the markets did not add to the burdens of the railroads.

This temporary expedient has become, in the face of present conditions, the only guarantee against world hunger and starvation. Today, as never before, home gardens, assiduously cultivated, planted with foodstuffs for summer consumption and winter canning, are the means whereby we may offset a tremendous shrinkage in the supply of food.

The wheat crop is at least 15 per cent under normal in the United States. Adverse weather conditions between the time when the April statistics were gathered and the harvest may greatly reduce these figures. A poor corn and potato crop may contribute to the diminution of the foodstuffs that are used on the American table.

Farmers are not cultivating the acreage in 1920 which they put under the plow two years ago. They cannot obtain farm labor and are hampered in their efforts to grow crops. It seems as if the country were confronted with one of the most pronounced food shortages in its history.

It isn't going to be a question of price, but of ability to obtain supplies at any cost.

How essential then that the home garden idea be applied to the vacant lots of the city, that no ground be left untillied and uncultivated! No matter how much money we may have this winter, it will avail us nothing if food products do not exist.

The real issue before us is the raising of vegetables and foodstuffs. Farsighted heads of families will not pass by unnoticed the challenge of a sufficient food supply for winter. He will cultivate his backyard, or lacking one, will try to obtain a vacant lot. Now is the time to act. Regrets this fall and winter will not put food on the table nor excuse our laziness.

Try The Bitro-Phosphate Health System—$300 Guarantee

NEW YORK. If you are feeling run-down, weak, nervous, tired-in-the-morning, and generally ailing, these are the symptoms that should warn you to take care of your health.

Four persons in every ten are needing more phosphorus in their bodies. When you see thin and fretful people; or those who are anaemic, pale, frail, off dependent or lacking in energy, you may look for the need of certain elements that make for a strong constitution.

Some people, after relying upon preparations composed chiefly of salts, quinine, drastic drugs, iron, calomel, cod-liver oil, etc., wonder why they find no benefit. That is easily explained by the fact that such persons need the phosphoric element, which is a most potent essential to health, and contained in BITRO-PHOSPHATE, the famous health preparation. Now obtainable everywhere.

The right thing for you to do is make a trial of BITRO-PHOSPHATE beginning at once. It is not a patent medicine; the formula is described by many physicians for the ailments and weaknesses mentioned above.

With every box of BITRO-PHOSPHATE are a few simple health rules and a $300 guarantee. Buy a box of BITRO-PHOSPHATE. It is sold and recommended by D. and S. Drug Co., and all good druggists everywhere. —Advertisement

GERMAN BUDGET OUTLINED BY TREASURY HEAD

(By Associated Press)
MADRID, April 22.—Infantas Carlos of 40,000,000 marks to which may be added the railway and postal deficit of 12,900,000,000 marks are provided for the fiscal year of 1920, which was laid before the budget committee of the national assembly by Dr. Wirth, minister of the treasury, yesterday. The ordinary budget showed revenues amounting to 25,000,000,000, but expenditures totalled 27,950,000,000, so there is a deficit of 2,950,000,000.

In explaining his figures, Dr. Wirth said 1920 is really a transitional period and therefore the estimates submitted were only approximate.

MY TIRED FEET ACHED FOR "TIZ"

Let Your Sore, Swollen, Aching Feet Spread Out In A Bath of "Tiz"

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "Tiz" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "Tiz" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "Tiz." It's grand—it's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all gain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like "Tiz." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous excretions which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.

Get a box of "Tiz" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire. —Advertisement

THE MAN WHO CAME TO TOWN

No one expected him to come. So there was no one at the station to meet him. It was a usual arrival. The crowd hastily stepped from the train, each traveler going his separate way.

To one leaving a train all folks are strangers, so that this particular stranger excited neither notice nor interest.

So down the street he went—and was soon lost in the thing which he came to town to do.

First, however, one word about his men. His dress was simple, though neat. He wore no hat. His wonderful hair fell like the silk from ripe corn—naturally. While his bodily covering consisted only of a great flowing robe of something homespun. Sandals were on his feet. Yet so firmly did he move in his bearing that the passerby gave him but casual note.

And, besides, dusk was creeping in. But there were sick in the town, sorely discouraged ones, those that were desperately despondent, those worn in body, through toil and worry. And the town was full of problems. A mist of unrest and revolt filled the air with a sort of stagnation.

The man who came to town knew all this in advance. That's why he came!

And so he lost no time. He immediately got to work. He laid out his plans. People in all walks welcomed him—especially the poor. He went about doing good, sparing no pains. Little children loved him. Strong men asked him to their homes. The workers wanted him at their simple boards. Men's minds and hearts took upon great change. And a new life, both in effort and hope, came.

about. And the next day was one of gladness.

For the Prince of Peace had come to that town! And it is possible for him to come to any town. But he always comes unannounced.

Dinner Stories

"They were rehearsing for the opera when the conductor was nearly frightened out of his boots by a terrific blast from the trombone player in the corner.

"What are you doing?" roared the conductor.

"I am sorry, sir," came the reply. "It was a fly on my music."

"But," he added with just a touch of professional pride, "I played him."

A little girl was asked, upon her return home, how she liked the singing of the congregation in the church.

"I liked it very much indeed," she said, "although all the people said it was bad."

"All the people said it was bad?"

"What do you mean, my dear?"

"Oh, it was so bad that I heard the people praying: 'Lord, have mercy upon our miserable singers.'"

"If," said the teacher, "you rhyme the facts of history, it will help you remember them. For instance: 'In fourteen hundred ninety-two, Columbus sailed the ocean blue.' That will help you to remember the date of the discovery of America."

Next day the teacher said: "John—"
