

The Diary of an Engaged Girl

By Phyllis Phillips

June 24.—Well, I did make an idiot of myself today, sure enough. It rained all morning and mother and child went out to make some calls, leaving me alone. Even Aunt Cecilia was away, with Jeffery, of course. They are busy selecting all sorts of necessities just at present. So I curled up happily in a large arm-chair in dad's study, knowing that I would be left in peace there, and with a volume of Ellen Key's to astonish me.

I read for some time and I think that some of her thoughts are above my head at times, for all of a sudden I closed the book and fell to dreaming. The harder I dreamed, the harder it rained, and between the two I got quite melancholy and sad. Added to this I commenced to think of my many short-comings, which is always fatal. In the end I was deep in the luxury of a good, wholesome, crying fit, when I looked up to find Cecil standing over me and petrified to find his airy cousin indulging in feminine tears.

He didn't say much, just sat down beside me and waited for the flow to stop. I choked down a few quickly, and suddenly burst out laughing, which did not deceive him any.

"And what is my little cousin weeping about?" he inquired in his low, sympathetic voice.

"Oh, nothing in particular, everything in general," I answered in my most flippant tones.

"Very few women, even young ones, cry for nothing," he assured me. "Come, fess up to me, Cecil, and let's see if two heads cannot help to drive the cobwebs away."

To my surprise, I did. And I found that I could talk easier to Cecil than I could to anyone else.

"I understand, Lindsey, I understand perfectly just what you are going through, but never mind, it will all be straightened out in the end. Be sure of that."

How he ever made head or tail of my imaginary problems, my queer thoughts and varied philosophies, is more than I can understand, but he evidently did.

"We've all been through what you are going through now, old girl," he told me, with a twisted smile of reminiscence. "And we've all come out heads up."

Then he told me that the chief reason for leaving England was a girl. A beautiful girl with a twisted mind, as he put it. Someone that he loved very much, and still cared for, but who was not a true mate for him. He had discovered this in time, fortunately, and pulled out in time.

"And if I hadn't," he said with a shake of his head, "I'd have been tied for life to someone with a periscope of his head, and the understanding of a stone wall. There you are."

"She was the sort of a girl who made you burn for love of her one moment and hate her the next. I should have had to renounce every ideal, every ambition, and settle to a monotonous life where ping teas and dress suits and every evening were the largest features on the horizon! Can you imagine what would have happened in the end, Lindsey? I could, hence my trip to America. I realized in time that nothing would ever have changed Doris—not even my love—for she was as set as the heavy puddings that she loved so well. And I was not born to live life by a time-piece nor to be regulated by the family dinner table. I can tell you. It's too bad, for Doris is lovely—and that's all. She would have driven me mad with her pettiness."

(To be continued.)

Heart Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married woman. I was married very young and have been married 32 years. My husband has always treated me mean and now he is worse than ever. He always thought more of other women than he did of me, and he has told me stories about them when I would find out what he was doing.

Now there is a woman in a small town and he has been going to see her several times a month. I have tried in every way to stop him, but nothing I can say or do seems to do any good. I have talked kindly to him about the way he does and he has fussed at him. He has told me time and again that he cared nothing for me. When he goes to see her he treats me meaner and calls me everything he can think of that is cruel.

He always denies seeing her, but I can prove that he does and has been with her a number of times.

We have four grown children. Do you think it would be a disgrace to the children for me to sue for a divorce?

What's in a Name
(Copyright)

LUCINDA

Lucinda is a seventeenth product. It is the romantic version of Lucy, a name borne by many noble ladies of that period whom poetry preferred to address as Lucinda, under the impression that the latter was more pleasing and popular than the simple Lucy.

Lucinda, of course, signifies light. Her origin is with the Latin word lux, meaning light, which gave rise to the favorite old Roman name Lucius, one born at daylight, or one of fair complexion, as some translations would have it.

The first feminine form which paved the way for the rise of Lucinda, was Lucia. This name belonged to a virgin martyr of Syracuse, whose name of light, being indicated by early painters by a lamb or by an eye, led to the legend that her beautiful eyes had been put out. Santa Lucia was the patroness of Neapolitan fishermen and

SUFFERING OF YOUNG WOMEN

This Letter Tells How it May be Overcome—all Mothers Interested.

Fort Dodge, Ia.—"From the time my daughter was 13 years old until she was 16 she suffered from a bad case of DOLLY BLUE. Sometimes I had to call in the doctor. She had headaches, backache, and such pains and cramps that she would have to stay in bed two or three days. She became terribly run down in health and at last a friend who had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound told her about it and she has used sixteen bottles, and we always have it in the house. She feels fine now and she has no trouble at all each month. We always praise it and advise any friends who suffer to use your wonderful medicine."—Mrs. MINNIE MANDELKO, 1005 S. 18th St. & 10th Avenue, Fort Dodge, Iowa.

Girls who are troubled as Miss Mandelko was, should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Those who need special advice may write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (Confidential), Lynn, Mass. These letters will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. No gripping results from these pleasant little tablets. They cause the liver and bowels to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a soothing, healing, vegetable compound mixed with olive oil.

If you have a bad taste, bad breath, feel dull, tired, are constipated or bilious, you'll find quick and sure results from Dr. Edwards' Little Olive Tablets at bedtime. 10c and 25c a box.

WATCH TONER He's The Winner

Ladies' Pumps

Ladies' Brown Kid one eyelet the pump, leather Louis heel, plain tip, with flexible sole; specially priced $7.50

Ladies' Patent two eyelet the pumps, with leather Louis heel, long vamp, soft, pliable Patent Colt., $7.00

Bowen & Fivel
610 Main Street

her name was soon adopted by the Norman. The daughter of the Earl of Merica, was baptised Lucia in the time of Edward the Confessor. France received her as Lucie through the House of Blois. One Lucie, a sister of Stephen, was among those lost in the White Ship. In England, Lucy was the favorite form, until the effectation of the Seventeenth century produced Lucinda. Lucy Anne, another popular English version, had its counterpart in Italy in Luciana and in France in Lucienne.

The amethyst is Lucy's talismanic gem. It will safeguard her from danger and contagion and has a sobering effect upon a frivolous or high-strung temperament. Saturday is Lucinda's lucky day and 4 her lucky number.

Mrs. Solomon Says—

Being The Confessions of The Seven-Hundredth Wife.
By Helen Rowland

(Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

An ideal husband, who hath found one?

For his price is far above Liberty bonds!

The heart of his wife delighteth in him, and shall have no lack of envy amongst women.

He ariseth at the first smote of the alarm clock and putteth the coffee on the fire.

He bringeth his wife's breakfast to her bedside and serveth it with his own hands.

He taketh in the cream and the ice and the mail and the newspaper and feedeth the cat and the Perkins.

He findeth his own things, and dresseth without swearing.

He doth NOT open his wife's letters! There is no curiosity in him.

He departeth for the office with soft footsteps, lest he disturb his wife's beauty slumber.

He laboreth all day in the office.

I AM GLAD TO ENDORSE PE-RU-NA

Glad to Try Anything

"Three years ago my system was in a terribly run down condition and I was broken out all over my body. I began to be worried about my condition and was glad to try anything which would relieve me. Peru-na was recommended to me as a fine blood remedy and tonic, and I soon found that it was worthy of praise. A few bottles changed my condition materially and in a short time I was all over my trouble. I owe my restoration to health and strength to Peru-na. I am glad to endorse it."

Sold Everywhere

Was in a Terribly Run Down Condition

Miss Ricka Leopold, 288 Layco St., Menasha, Wis., says: "I led a very busy life and my system was in a terribly run down condition and I was broken out all over my body. I began to be worried about my condition and was glad to try anything which would relieve me. Peru-na was recommended to me as a fine blood remedy and tonic, and I soon found that it was worthy of praise. A few bottles changed my condition materially and in a short time I was all over my trouble. I owe my restoration to health and strength to Peru-na. I am glad to endorse it."

Liquid and Tablet Form

Palais Royal

Richmond's Daylight Store

Separate Skirts

show a preference for Plaids. They differ considerably as to color combinations, but are unanimously in favor of Wool Velour Checks and Plaids.

Pocketed and belted in clever ways, they are unusually smart and attractive. Prices range from—

$10.00 to $34.75

Tailored Models of Serge and Poplin in large variety—

$5.98 to $13.75

Palais Royal

RICHMOND'S DAYLIGHT STORE

Short Coats for Spring

$25.00

Fashion decrees some beautiful models in women's and misses' coats for spring.

Our showing is large and is comprised of a great variety of types of the prevailing modes.

Earlham

The committee on finance and officials met in the president's office Wednesday afternoon to arrange faculty salaries for the coming year.

Guy Z. Nicholson, a certified accountant and graduate of the University of Missouri, will be assistant professor of economics for the coming year. President Edwards announced Wednesday.

He will present the principles of accounting and advancing accounting together with commercial law, monies and banking, so that students wishing to major in business may do so with the same facilities offered in other lines of work.

"The work to be offered by Prof. Nicholson, will open a field at Earlham which has previously been inadequately covered by a course in the principles of economy," said President Edwards.

Earlham rules of athletics were discussed at a faculty meeting in the library building Tuesday afternoon. Dr. J. Herschel Coffin, secretary of the college, was instructed to rewrite the rules, and report at a meeting to be called as soon as his work is completed.

Word from Mrs. David M. Edwards, Wednesday morning, reported that her father, Edwin F. Way, of near Michigan City, is improving from a serious illness.

LIBERALS WILL MEET JULY 10.

CHICAGO, April 28.—The national convention of the committee of Forty-eight, to form a new political party, will be held in Chicago, July 10 to 13. It was announced by M. C. Harrison, divisional director of the organization.

MAJ. SCHROEDER SOUND.

MINEOLA, N. Y., April 28.—Maj. R. W. Schroeder, holder of the world's altitude record, suffered no ill effects from his thrilling flight at Dayton, Ohio, according to a report made by Maj. Dayton, Ohio.

H. L. Bauer, head of the medical research department of the United States army at Mitchell field. Maj. Schroeder stated that he expects to try for an altitude record from Mitchell field before he departs for Dayton, Ohio.

MAZOLA can be used often and at less cost than any other food in your kitchen—for cooking, for shortening, for salads.

Corn Products Refining Company
P. O. Box 161 New York City

MAZOLA

now 39¢ PINT CANS
Larger sizes cheaper per lb.

Another Royal Suggestion

MUFFINS and POPOVERS

From the NEW ROYAL COOK BOOK

BREAKFAST is too often eaten as a duty rather than a joy. The success of the day may depend upon the spirit of breakfast. The Royal Educational Department presents some breakfast dishes that will send the children to school with a hip hip hurrah and his majesty man to his daily duties with the "up and doing" feeling which knows no discouragement.

Muffins

2 cups flour
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
1 cup milk
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup milk
Sift together flour, baking powder, sugar and salt; add milk, well-beaten eggs and melted shortening; mix well. Grease muffin tins and put two tablespoons of batter in to each. Bake in hot oven 20 to 25 minutes.

Eggless Muffins

2 cups flour
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
1 cup milk
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup milk
Mix and sift dry ingredients, add milk and melted shortening.

ing and beat until smooth. Bake in greased muffin tins in hot oven 20 to 25 minutes.

Corn Muffins

1/2 cup corn meal
1/2 cup flour
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup milk
Sift together corn meal, flour, baking powder, salt and sugar; add milk, melted shortening and well-beaten eggs; mix well. Grease muffin tins and drop two tablespoons of mixture into each. Bake about 35 minutes in hot oven.

Popovers

2 cups flour
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup milk
Sift together flour and salt. Make a well in flour, break eggs into well, add milk and stir until smooth. Pour into hot greased gem pans and bake 25 to 35 minutes in a very hot oven. If taken out of oven too soon they will fall.

SENT FREE

New Royal Cook Book containing scores of delightful, economical recipes, many of them the most famous in use today. Address: ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 115 Fulton Street, New York City

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

"Bake with Royal and be Sure"

"Every time Pap got money he got drunk; and every time he got drunk he raised Cain; and every time he raised Cain he got jailed." Then, one day Huck escaped—

SEE IT

Sun., Mon., Tues. & Wed. at the

WASHINGTON

"The End of the Road"

A Seven-Reel Feature Film

HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM

FREE

To Men and Boys, Tuesday and Wednesday Nights, April 27th and 28th

To Women and Girls, Thursday Night, April 29th
Doors Open 7:30

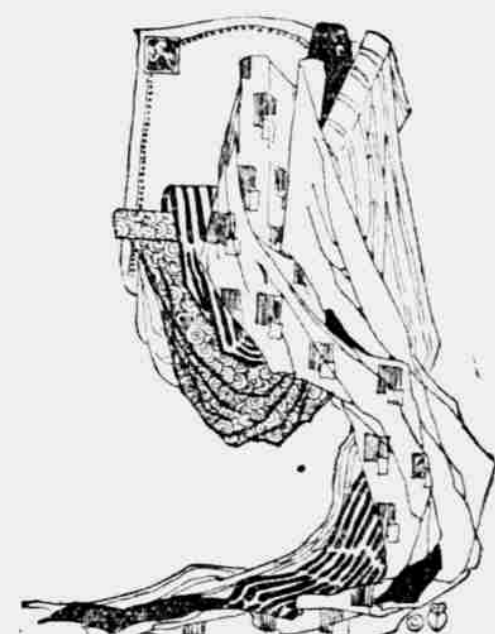

PARENTS ARE ESPECIALLY URGED TO SEE THIS FILM

It will Soon Be Time for Summer Sewing

You will Be Glad Later if You Choose Your Fabrics NOW!

It's silk in the afternoon and silk at the links—in fact, one can venture very few places without seeing countless modes employing silks in some form or other. Featured here are:

MESSALINES
TAFFETAS
SATINS
and many others.

When you stop to consider that it takes but five or six yards to make a really handsome frock you won't want to resist the temptation to choose some of each.

VOILES
ORGANDIES
SWISSES
BATISTES
GINGHAMS

Certainly it is impossible not to be brimming over with enthusiasm and inspiration after even a casual glance at these lovely fabric displays. Interest is not allowed to lag for a minute. In one display you will get an idea for a striking sports skirt; another will show a particularly clever way to make a porch frock and so on. You really shouldn't miss seeing any of these radiant colorings and exceptional beauty of designs.

Those Who Make it Their Business to Choose Early Will Enjoy the Most Advantageous Selection

Ackerman