

MEXICAN POLICY IS DENOUNCED BY LANE, CHAMBERLAIN

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Franklin K. Lane, former secretary of the interior, and George Agnew Chamberlain, former consul general in Mexico, testified Monday before the senate committee investigating Mexican affairs.

Mr. Lane declared that American oil rights in Mexico were as well founded in justice and deserved as much protection as if they had been established in Pennsylvania or California, while Mr. Chamberlain declared that the attitude of the United States toward Mexico, "has been one of accumulating shame for seven years."

Mexican commercial and official life was "sustained with graft from the lowest tally clerk to the highest cabinet officer," Mr. Chamberlain said and only a policy of economic control of the country by the United States would re-establish stability.

Refers to Resignation.
Referring to his resignation, Chamberlain asserted that "a self-respecting man could not continue to take the money of the United States for such purposeless services, after he knew the things I was forced to learn." The President, he said, "cut the ground out from under the feet of every diplomatic and commercial agent the United States had in Mexico" by repeated statements that force would never be used in the country.

"The greatest danger now," he added, "is that the United States will be led to treat in some fashion with a new head of affairs in Mexico before we are really decided to deal with the evils. The first step in proper policy is that embarked upon by the Senate, in refusing to confirm the nomination of another ambassador to that country."

Urges Action.
"We ought to follow that up. Mexico—because it hasn't been able to borrow a cent—is in a sound financial situation internationally. It is the most wealthy country in natural resources I have ever visited, which makes the treaty of its last 100 years under self-determination more glaring. We should offer a loan sufficient to put its finances in shape, bound up with a treaty which would give us direct supervision of its economic affairs. The second step should be to withdraw the present recognition unless that was accepted. Still falling acceptance, the third step should be embargo; the fourth, commercial blockades; the fifth, a naval demonstration; lastly, a military occupancy."

"Events are moving fast there now but the essential difficulties will remain under any Mexican administration likely to come into power."

Mr. Chamberlain said President Wilson's "assertion that bigger interests favored intervention" was particularly shameful.

"It was the American small farmer and business man who suffered all ways," he added. "The big corporation paid the graft. They could pay the graft; the others had to flee."
