FOR MEMORIAL OCCASION
Few livestock or speculative markets will be received by the Palladium Monday, as the day is generally observed as a legal holiday following Memorial day, Sunday.

GRAIN PRICES

CHICAGO, May 29.—Cash corn may be five or ten cents lower next week, but July corn at $1.60 to $1.65 looks low enough as an average for next week. Would buy corn and oats on breaks. Trade now believes that Tuesday and Wednesday receipts will not be over large. The Argentine news while denied makes the grain trade nervous. They fear some kind of wheat news will finally come out. Argentine wheat surplus left on May 22 was set at 66 million; it is now below 50 million. A dip is due Tuesday or Wednesday but bulls now have more confidence.

LIVES IN SECOND-HAND AUTO TRUCK, BEATS RENT PROFITEERS

Exterior and interior views of J. Edward Burr's auto truck home.

J. Edward Burr, a shoemaker of San Jose, Cal., discovered it. "I'll not pay it," said Burr when the landlord raised his rent. And he has not done so. Instead Burr purchased a second-hand auto truck and built a house of his own on it. And today Burr and his wife, with their cat, dog and parrot have a one-room traveling apartment fitted up with a cozy corner, disappearing kitchen sink, wardrobe, dishpan, practically all today's arrivals were direct. New Rulings on Parcel Post Received at Postoffice

Postmaster Beck received two notices from Washington Friday regarding shipments of parcel post. These instructions are:

"Parcels of books, seeds and plants weighing more than eight ounces, and parcels of other fourth class matter weighing more than four ounces, must be mailed at a postoffice, branch postoffice, named, numbered or lettered station, or delivered to a rural or other carrier duly authorized to receive such matter. Smaller parcels may be deposited in mail boxes."

"A parcel too large to be placed in the addressee's box shall be carried out on the route on the first trip after its receipt at the postoffice, but shall not be left outside of the box. Where the patron does not live within hailing distance of the route and is not at the box to receive the parcel from the carrier, a notice on the form for that purpose shall be left in the box, requesting that the patron meet the carrier on the next trip unless the parcel is called for at the postoffice in the meantime."

Several Branches of Army Open For 1-Year Terms

According to Sergeant Thompson, local army recruiter, enlistments and re-enlistments for one year periods without regard to prior service, authorized for arms, staff corps and departments to the extent of the monthly quota specified in each case, as follows:

Infantry, (white) 2444; cavalry (white) 709, coast artillery corps, 836, medical department, 441; air service, 305; ordnance department, 125; tanks corps, 70; construction division, 111. Never before have the infantry and cavalry branches been open for one year enlistments. The above quotas are for the entire army, and the number specified is to be allowed for each month. It is the policy of the war department to limit one year enlistments in each branch of the service to one-third of the authorized strength of that branch.

The Farm and the Farmer

BY WILLIAM R. SANBORN

Henry Kinsinger, living just west of Jacksonville, has 96 fall pigs, 195 spring pigs, and 28 brood sows, all on grass now. He says that he was lucky enough to pick up a lot of middlings at a lower price some time ago and still has 27 tons on hand. His fall pigs average 175 pounds are on feed now and will soon be ready for the market. "Having had bad luck with my wheat it has all been plowed up," said he.

Mr. Kinsinger believes in growing his own potatoes. Says he raised 150 bushels last year and will plant a little more ground to late potatoes this season. His method is to use a planter with fertilizer attachment and last year he used 600 pounds of fertilizer on the one-acre plot. There are five boys in the Kinsinger family, and they are still sweetening their coffee with sugar bought in June of last year, at 11 cents per pound, as do the several daughters, of course. The father says that his nervous system has been shot to pieces by years of hard work and that he now simply superintends the farm operations.

Seventy Acres in Corn

"We were a little late with our wheat sowing last fall, being delayed by rains. This probably was fortunate, as we shall have 40 acres to harvest, and it is developing better than we expected," said Isaac Wilson, of Boston township, Friday night. Asked as to his corn planting, Mr. Wilson stated that he was putting in 70 acres and hoped to have it finished by Saturday evening. He says that he had rather poor luck with his spring pigs, but has better than 100 on the place.

Some Fine Holsteins
Edward Paul, of Cambridge City, has a model dairy barn and 40 head of fine Holsteins on his 355-acre place, south of town. His farm manager, Clem Ballard, says he hopes to finish planting 100 acres of corn by June 1, and that the wheat on the place does not look very promising. The dairy is managed by John Rupp, who owns a half interest in the plant, and the product goes to Indianapolis daily. There is a lot of fine bluegrass and clover on the Paul farm and the property is well improved.

Always Plants Some Popcorn
Clarence L. Davis, living on the Hopewell place, across the Henry county line, always puts in a few acres of popcorn. He says he raises about three tons of it every year, and that it nets him $100 per acre and up, with a sure demand at all seasons. As to the shucking, he said: "Two of us worked like dogs all day, and shucked only 25 bushels, for shucking popcorn is some job."

Mr. Davis said he cleaned out all his market hogs five years ago. Says he then quit "corn and hogs," but always keeps some cattle on the place, largely for the benefit of the soil. He has a 1,000-foot gas well near the house, which was drilled about 10 years ago, and thus his light and fuel problems have long been solved. Many of his neighbors are equally fortunate. In his view, "If a farmer doesn't live and live comfortably it is his own fault." Mr. Davis seems to practice what he preaches in this respect and finds rural life worth living.

Stockholm, Christiania, Berlin and London, in the order named, have the lowest death rates among the European cities.

Jay-Randolph Veterinary Men To Meet at Modoc

A joint meeting of the live stock men and veterinarians composing the Jay-Randolph County Veterinary Medical association will be held in the school house at Modoc, Tuesday afternoon, June 2.

The principal speaker will be Dr. Gibson of the bureau of animal husbandry, who will talk on the eradication of tuberculosis. Dr. Fred Pursley of that place, has completed arrangements for this meeting. Mrs. Pursley will be hostess to the ladies organization, which is an auxiliary of the Jay-Randolph Veterinary Medical association.

Build New Elevator.
The Farmers Grain company, of Carleton City, has started work on the elevator to be built there. The building will cost about $23,500 and will be made of solid concrete. When completed the elevator will be one of the best county elevators in this section of the country.

The Randolph County Poultry Breeders' association will meet Monday evening, to elect officers for the ensuing year. This meeting is for the purpose also of making arrangements for the fall fair and winter show of poultry and rabbits.

RUSH COUNTY MEN AGREE TO HOLD WOOL FOR RISE

Rush county wool growers met at the Rushville court house Thursday to receive bids on the county wool pool, and found the situation as they expected since hearing from similar meetings over the state. Although there were wool buyers present, none was ready to submit a cash bid. They reported a depressed market and that the mills were not buying at present. As no bids were submitted the meeting turned its attention to deciding upon what would be the best to do under the circumstances and after discussing the situation the growers voted unanimously to hold their wool until there is a more favorable market condition.

NO GRAIN CAR PRIORITY

The interstate commerce commission does not intend to meet the coal and grain car shortage situation by priority orders for the present at least, but will attempt to handle the situation through groups of terminal committees, the Indiana public service commission was informed in a letter Friday from Clyde B. Aitchison, chairman of the interstate commerce commission.
