

HARDING ALWAYS RESIDENT OF OHIO; BORN IN LOG CABIN

(By Associated Press)
Warren Gamaliel Harding has always been a resident of Ohio, which state he has represented as United States Senator since 1914. In private business life he is publisher of the Marion, Ohio, Star.

He was born on a farm, near the village of Blooming Grove, Morrow county, Ohio, November 2, 1855, the eldest of eight children. His father, George T. Harding, was a country doctor whose forebears came from Scotland.

Before going to Ohio, the Hardings were residents of Pennsylvania, where some of them were massacred by Indians. Others fought in the revolutionary war. The mother of Warren, Mrs. Phoebe Dickinson, was descended from an old-time Holland Dutch family, the Van Kirtks.

Showing Talent for Journalism
In his youth Warren Harding lived the life of a farmer boy, attending the village school until 14 years of age, when he entered Ohio Central college of Iberia, from which he was graduated. As editor of the college paper he first displayed a talent for journalism.

He was obliged to stop school now and then and earn the money with which to pursue his college course. At one time he cut corn, at another painted barns and at still another drove a team and helped to grade the roadbed of a new railway. At 17 he taught a district school and played a horn in the village brass band.

At odd times he worked in the village printing office, in time becoming an expert typesetter and later a linotype operator. He is a practical pressman and a job printer, and as a "make up man" is said to have few equals. The luck piece he has carried as a Senator is the old printer's rule he used when he was sticking type.

In 1884 Dr. Harding moved his family to Marion. A short time afterward the father purchased for Warren Harding the Star, then a small paper.

Has Never Had a Strike
On the paper Warren Harding performed every function from devil to managing editor. In all the years the senator has owned it there has never been a strike or a threatened one.

Senator Harding is closely identified with many other large business enterprises in Marion and other parts of the state. He is director of a bank and several large manufacturing plants and is a trustee of the Trinity Baptist church.

Mr. Harding has twice represented the 13th Senatorial district of Ohio in the state legislature and served one term as lieutenant governor. At the 1914 election Harding was elected United States senator by a majority of more than 100,000, running 73,000 ahead of the next highest on the ticket. In the senate he is a member of the committee on foreign relations. Senator Harding married Miss Florence Kling in 1891.

RESULT PUTS

and imperative. The Senate bosses had an idea that they would put Senator Lenroot, of Wisconsin on the ticket with Senator Harding, and complete the job in a most workmanlike fashion, but the delegates were anxious for Coolidge, and they good-naturedly threw this sop to them.

Stripped of a mass of detail, and exclusive of a vast amount of maneuver, that is the simple annals of this convention.

The Senate autocracy won, established itself more firmly than ever, and is now in complete mastery of the Republican party. The Wood group of politicians are outside. The Hart group are working for the senate. Harding is the senate's candidate, on a senate platform and of, by and for the senate. Penrose is very sick, but his power prevails. The boss is not an oligarch, but an oligarchy, and its seat is the senate wing of the capital at Washington, D. C.

Democrats Now Bob Up
The next interest is in the Democratic convention. There have been significant developments. The election of Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state, as a delegate from the District of Columbia to the San Francisco convention means he will be in San Francisco as the spokesman and representative of the Wilson administration.

The inside from Washington is that, not long ago, Mr. Wilson reluctantly put aside all hopes of a nomination for himself. Colby is likely to be the administration's candidate for presidential chairman and to do the defending in his speech.

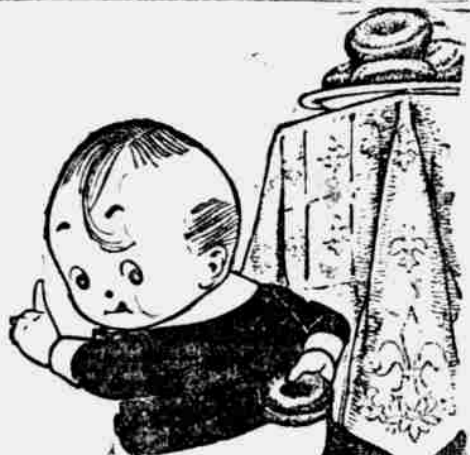

To Adopt Virginia Platform
The Wilson plan is to adopt substantially the Virginia Democratic platform as its pronouncement on the peace treaty and Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, is slated for chairman of the resolutions committee.

The Wilson administration will seek to impress its will on the convention both as to platform and candidate. The opposition to the Wilson program will in some measure be led by William Jennings Bryan, who plans a fight on the platform on three items: First, a dry plank; second, opposition to the Wilson plan of adopting the original peace treaty and as demanded by the president; third, on profiteering.

After these are out of the way Mr. Bryan will look over the list of candidates. In addition, there will be a considerable opposition to the president from other sources.

Cox Very Likely Candidate
The nomination of Harding by the Republicans makes the nomination of a radical or liberal by the Democrats almost inevitable. Harding's nomination will give great impetus to J. M. Cox, now governor of Ohio, as the man who can carry Ohio against Harding.

Also, it will help McAdoo. However, the Democratic condition is similar to the Republican, with the White House seeking control as the senate sought it in Chicago. The White House will have its troubles, but holds the strongest position.
