

EVERYBODY PITCHES IN TO HELP GATHER WHEAT, HAY, OATS

By WILLIAM R. SANBORN

When harvest days approached there seemed to be a getting-together of the whole rural population in the Wayne district. The helpful spirit of co-operation went into action and is remaining in action, so that not a saveable fragment of hay or a bushel of grain be lost.

The country merchant, the lumberman, the youngster from the bank, the clerk in the country store, and last but not least, the elevator man and his assistants, not absolutely needed to run the works, scattered out among the farmers where most needed.

Farmers in the same threshing rings got together to outline their harvest plans in the radius of their community centers, and the question of trading work took the preference over trading dollars.

Everybody at Work.

Numerous elevator men have placed young women in their offices to answer phone calls, while they foraged abroad to help a neighbor or to attend to their own fields, while the sun was shining. There have been too few days of sunshine to lose a single available hour in the hay or wheat, at least up to last Friday, when the skies have been more propitious over Eastern Indiana.

So far as wheat is concerned, the great bulk of it is in shock and the remainder will be within next two days. Boston township is pretty well cleaned up, and the same is true as to most of the districts in the south. There is considerable late wheat between Richmond and Winchester, but the last of it will be cut by Thursday or Friday, weather permitting. Winchester is late on account of almost daily showers until now.

In the meantime some have been saving their hay as they could, letting their wheat to ripen to the limit. With both hay and wheat cared for, quickly follows the oats harvest. Oats are very heavy around Lynn, and Randolph county is looking for the best oats harvest in years.

While that cannot be said of wheat in this entire radius, from 10 to 25 per cent more wheat is being harvested than was anticipated in early June. The pastures have had plenty of rain and there is grass to spare. Taken as a whole, the situation is much better than the cold, backward spring presaged.

Corn has had a splendid growth in the last two weeks, and the backward fields are exceptional, though found here and there. Plenty of corn is "laid by" and more will be within the week.

Farm Labor Situation

What has been said indicates farm labor status at this time. Oxford, College Corner and many Preble county points reported an easing in the farm labor situation early in June, the tobacco planters being hardest hit of the farm population at transplanting time, recently completed. Still there was comparatively little complaint from planters, but the acreage was reduced here and there from this cause.

Cambridge, Hagerstown, Greensfork, Fountain City, Lynn, Modoc and Hollansburg reported early that "farmers are all set, have enough hands to get by." Many farmers had to work extra hours and were helped out by those whose work was farther advanced, and practically all the acreage planned was planted and is now being cared for.

The Farm and the Farmer

BY WILLIAM R. SANBORN

Albert Higgins, living on the Caleb Jackson place near Centerville, has 110 acres in corn, "waist high or better," which seems to have escaped all corn pests. It indicates a small fortune when harvested next fall.

The July crop report shows considerable improvement over the June showing. The estimate is for 2,406,000,000 bushels of the bread grains, wheat, rye, barley and oats, only 37,000,000 less than were harvested in 1919.

Spring wheat, cotton and oats promise larger crops than were harvested last year, but the soft winter wheat states have a crop nearly 50 per cent below 1919. Estimating from acreage and condition the prospective corn crop is to be pretty close to 3,000,000,000, unless nipped by early frosts, or hurt by an August drought.

Sold Belt Hogs at $16.10.

Frank Hodgins got the top on hogs at Glen Miller on Saturday, $16.10, and a check for $1,432.90 for 44 Hampshire Belts, weighing 208 pounds each. There are now very few of this breed in Wayne county. But 75 calves were received at the yards on Saturday, against 128 a week ago, "farmers being too busy to bother with calves."

Raised Both Corn and Hogs.

Clem Endsley, who market 81 head of hogs at the Glen last Friday said: "I have fed out 200 hogs this year, raising both corn and hogs on the place, and my hogs made me plenty of money." Mr. Endsley will move to the Miss Belle Scott farm in the Walnut Level district, this fall, and says he will try and raise 500 hogs next year. The Scott farm contains 300 acres.

Sowed Timothy With Wheat.

Cliff Alvey says that of his 65 acres of wheat, half of it had been sown in timothy and looks like a promising lot of hay. The balance has been harvested, the late sown, and turned out "just fair." Mr. Alvey is living on the John J. Druley farm in Boston township.

MARKETING OF TRUCK CROPS.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Shipments of truck crops and fruits thus far this season have been well in excess of 300,000 cars, and have reached almost exactly the same total as for the corresponding period last year, it was announced by the department of agriculture. Owing to the good demand, the department said, prices on almost everything except onions have been high this season.

Potato prices are slowly working downward, but still are twice as high as a year ago. Tomato shipments are heavier than last year at this time. Peaches are still coming mostly from Georgia and prices are slightly greater than they were at this season last year.

Farm Federation

Officers of the Indiana Federation of Farmers' associations had another busy program during the last week in which were crowded activities of interest to the farmers of the state. John G. Brown, president of the organization, represented the federation at Washington in its complaint against the poor car service being rendered in the state, and called attention to the fact that with the harvest at hand the grain elevators would soon be filled to capacity and unable to handle the surplus unless relief in the car shortage was given immediate attention. Mr. Brown made the trip to Washington with members of the Public Service commission to take the matter up with the Inter-State Commerce commission.

Word has been received at headquarters of the federation that a county agent had been appointed in Perry county in the Ninth district, and that a movement is being started soon in that county to perfect an association to become affiliated with the state body.

Tuesday, Sept. 7, has been set aside as Indiana Federation of Farmers' associations' day at the state fair, which opens in Indianapolis on Sept. 6.

A number of the county associations of the state took advantage of the option secured on a large consignment of anthracite coal in Pennsylvania by the federation. This coal was offered in car load lots at approximately $15 per ton delivered to Indiana points.

Lewis Taylor has announced that arrangements have been made by which farmers can obtain more exact weight for calves at the Union stockyards in Indianapolis. Under the old system the scales on which the calves were weighed were graduated only for units of 10 pounds to break the scales, while under the new system the scales will be graduated for units of five pounds.

Keep Down Crab Grass

E. E. RICE, Garden Supervisor.

The pestiferous crab grass is already raising its head in spots on many lawns. Keep it close with the lawn mower, and prevent it from seeding.

Your rose bushes will bloom better if the dead flowers are cut off besides, presenting a neater appearance.

The smoke pipe of your furnace will last much longer if it is taken down now, cleaned out and stored in a dry place. One summer's disuse is harder on it than several winter's use, unless it is cared for.

Now is a good time to buy or make a reel for holding the lawn hose. Rubber hose is expensive nowadays and it will pay to take care of it. Coil it up in the shade at least and drain the water out.

Now is the time to cut back the long, new canes of the black raspberries, to induce them to send out numerous side shoots for next year's fruiting.

WEVIL THREATENS WHEAT.

GREENSBURG, Ind., July 12.—Wheat midge, frequently called "red weevil," is threatening the wheat crop of this county, according to Joseph Ireland, county agricultural agent. However, he says the crop will not be seriously affected. Mr. Ireland says the insect attacks the young wheat grain, sucks the juice from it and causes it to shrivel, although damage ceases when the kernel ripens. It has been found in many places of the state during the past few weeks and threatens to become as dangerous to the wheat crop as the Hessian fly, says Mr. Ireland. Wheat cutting is about three-fourths done in this county and thrashing is expected to start in about ten days.

How to Avoid Pesky Hessian Fly Next Year

The Hessian fly, one of the oldest and at times one of the most destructive enemies of the wheat crop in the United States, is again on the increase. Specialists of the United States department of agriculture make the following suggestions for combating the pest:

Practice crop rotation. Do not sow wheat on stubble if it is possible to avoid doing so.

Plow under all infected stubble and ruined wheat, where practicable, soon after harvest.

Destroy all volunteer wheat by harrowing, disking, plowing, or some other method.

Flow all land to be sown to wheat as early and deeply as existing conditions will permit, and prepare a thoroughly pulverized and compacted seed bed.

Conserve moisture against a period of drought at seeding time. Use good seed.

Fertilize.

Sow wheat during the fly-free period.

BLACK FLAG Kills Fleas on Pets or in Houses

Keep pets free from fleas by blowing Black Flag into fur with powder gun. Destroy fleas in rugs, matting, etc., by sprinkling Black Flag through house. Non-poisonous; makes no dirt; easy to use; kills quickly and surely. Ask for Black Flag in the sealed glass bottle at drug, department, grocery and hardware stores. Three sizes, 15c., 40c., 75c. Black Flag, Baltimore, Md.

lod, as advised by your farm adviser or state experiment station. Adhere to these practices every year whether the fly is abundant or scarce. They will help to keep it scarce.

CERTIFICATES FOR RELATIVES OF SOLDIERS SOON READY

A circular from the war department says death and wound certificates are to be forwarded to the next kin of officers, enlisted men, field clerks or other members of the authorized military establishments who died in service during the world war. These memorials, which are certificates bearing the fac simile of the signature of the president, will be engraved by the state in alphabetical order and mailed to the addresses of persons, who according to the records of the war department, are entitled to them. The wound certificates will be the first to be prepared.

World's Great

Medical Authorities Discover That Without Life-Giving Vitamins There Can Be No Health, Strength and Vitality—How To Tell If Your Body Needs This Vital Substance of Such Amazing Power.

NEW YORK.—(Special)—That lack of those recently discovered substances in our foods, the vitamins, is responsible in great measure for the fact that there is "somebody sick" in most families most of the time, is the opinion of many experts here. The importance of vitamins as a nourishing element absolutely necessary for health, strength and even life itself is being so constantly emphasized by scientists that everyone who is weak, nervous or run-down should read of the astonishing results reported in an interview, printed below, with Former Health Commissioner John J. Rudolph, M.D., late of the New York Post-Graduate Medical School and Hospital and Columbus Hospital of New York, and a graduate of the University of Baltimore. Dr. Rudolph says:

"It is certainly not surprising that the diets we physicians have recommended and the tonics we prescribed have failed to come up to our expectations, since they, one and all, lack a sufficient proportion of vitamins, which we know now to be as essential to life as air itself. When a person fails to get enough vitamins there is a continuous starvation process going on all through the system. As a result you become generally weakened and run-down and frequently develop all sorts of conditions without ever even suspecting the real cause of your trouble. You may be tired, nervous, depressed, worried, unable to digest your food or to sleep well at night—your skin may be mottled and your complexion sallow, pallid or lifeless. No matter what the symptoms may be, however, there is a lack of strength, energy and vitality which must be overcome before you can enjoy perfect health.

"Nature supplies vitamins in various raw foods, but to attempt to eat enough of these raw foods to get the full amount of vitamins which the system requires for health and strength is almost a physical impossibility. Therefore, vitamins are now prepared in a concentrated, easily assimilated tablet form called Vitamon, and numerous tests by men, women and children have plainly proved its extraordinary merit. From my own personal use of Vitamon three times a day with meals, and from carefully watching the patients to whom I have given it, I am convinced that there is no other tonic or preparation whatsoever to which it can be compared. Not until you have taken Vitamon and felt its uplifting effects can you form any idea of the vast difference it may make in your health, strength, mental vigor and physical appearance."

WOULD YOU REGISTER 100 PER CENT PERFECT ON THIS CHART OF HEALTH?

If there existed a device which would register the quantity of vitamins in the human system, the above chart might well illustrate Dr. Rudolph's statement, printed herewith. Science now knows that the body must receive plenty of life-giving vitamins to maintain a fullness of health, strength and energy. Read how to get vitamins in Vitamon.

NOTE: The subject of vitamins discussed above by Dr. Rudolph has taken great strides since the eminent scientist, Dr. Casimir Funk, of London, named the substance in 1911. Osborne and Mendel of Yale Medical, and E. J. McCollum of Johns-Hopkins University perhaps have done most in this country. The London "Lancet," one of the leading and most authoritative medical journals of the world devotes considerable space in nearly every issue to a discussion of vitamins and their influence upon the general health. The concentrated tablet form known as VITAMON affords a simple, easy method for getting vitamins into the system and quickly building up the strength, energy and power, and may be taken with benefit by either men or women, young or old. An agreement has been reached whereby VITAMON is supplied at a price low enough to be within the reach of all, and completely satisfactory results are guaranteed. Money will be promptly refunded. VITAMON may now be obtained in this city from all leading druggists, such as Quigley's, A. J. Luken, Thierstein, Waite, Foster, and Dafford & Spanagel.
